Jerry Braach

On Saturday, March 14, Jerry passed on to be with the Lord after a long fought battle with several health issues. He passed peacefully surrounded by his wife Shirley, and his kids, Amy and Andrew at the Ruby Valley Hospital. His life came full circle as he was born in Sheridan and passed away in Sheridan.

Jerry was born in Sheridan Montana, to Albert "Pat" and Elizabeth Braach. He grew up in Brandon on the family ranch and attended school in Sheridan, graduating high school in 1959. He loved working with his dad, Pat, and started driving the tractor at the age of six. Dad always said that he was so young when he started working, that you could not even see him behind the wheel of the tractor driving down the road. During the winter, Jerry helped his dad feed cows. When they were done, he could not wait for his father to go to town and buy a newspaper so they could read the comics, including Popeye and Dick Tracy. While living on the family ranch in Brandon, he loved all the outdoors had to offer, including fishing in Mill Creek and hunting right out the back door. Jerry would always miss the first period of school on the first day of hunting season and fill his deer tag every time. His teacher always said, "Anyone that can fill their deer tag on the first day of hunting season and make it to school after the first period gets an excused absence."

While attending Sheridan schools, he participated in basketball, football, track, and FFA. After graduating high school, Jerry continued his education in Bozeman, at MSU, and a short time at Western Montana College in Dillon. He quickly returned home, and started working for local ranchers bailing hay, completing home building projects, and concrete work. He initially started construction work for Jacobsen Construction in Sheridan, and learned how to operate a backhoe at this time. Jerry helped dig all the sewer lines for the town of Sheridan. In the early 60's Jerry started his own construction business. It eventually grew into a good size business where he owned all sorts of equipment and worked on many jobs all over the state of Montana, including all subdivisions on the old Gary Cooper Ranch in Cascade. 24 people were employed by Jerry Braach Construction during the peak of business. Included in the business was spraying weeds for Madison County and pouring redi mix concrete. Later on, Jerry and Shirley worked in other businesses, including hauling scrap metal and selling fresh fruit from Utah for 24 years.

Jerry always enjoyed travel with his beloved wife, Shirley, and his kids when they were a young family. Many camping trips were taken to Yellowstone and to one of Dad's favorite places, Devil's Tower. He enjoyed traveling to the Indianapolis 500, Rose Bowl Parade, Minnesota, Moab, Utah, and Arizona. We spent much time hunting in the Ruby Valley and harvested many elk and deer in the country we all love. Jerry truly enjoy teaching his kids how to hunt and fish.

Dad's parents never missed their kids' (Joanne and Jerry) school activities, and Dad never missed a school event that either of his own kids participated in. In one of the very last conversations we had, Dad conveyed great pride in being a devoted father that indeed made it to all of our school events. He loved the sporting events his kids competed in. Jerry also enjoyed the holidays, including Halloween and Christmas. We could always count on Dad taking us trick or treating every year. Dad always encouraged us to work and do things for others as if it were for yourself.

Jerry will be greatly missed, but we know he is free from pain and able to reunite with family and friends that have missed him. He was preceded in death by his parents, Pat and Elizabeth. He is survived by his wife, Shirley Braach; and children, Amy (Bret) Hart, and Andrew Braach. He is also survived by his sister, Joanne (Ralph) Pehl; and their children Jeff, Dennis, and Greg Pehl.

Services will be held at Mountain View Chapel in Twin Bridges, Saturday, March 21, at 2 p.m. A celebration of life will be held after services in the same location.

Cigars

By "Swede" Troedsson

During 1960 I was employed as a Forester for the Northern Pacific Railroad (NP). I, along with two other Foresters who had just graduated from Montana State University (later re-named the University of Montana), were living in Coil's Motel in Seeley Lake, MT. The NP was paying the rent.

One of our assignments was to inspect timber sales on NP lands in the Seeley and Swan Valleys for logger compliance with timber utilization requirements. We also inspected erosion control structures installed in temporary roads following their use.

The main logger in the area was Jack Long. (Jack would later own the Caterpillar dealership in Missoula, known as Long's Machinery).

Jack was a large, powerful man, around 6½ ft tall, and appeared to weigh around 250 lbs. By comparison, I was barely 6 ft tall, and weighed a skinny 140 lbs.

One evening I ate a large T-bone steak dinner in Coil's Restaurant and Bar. After dinner, I walked into the bar to have a beer and socialize.

Jack was in the bar, buying beer all around. I thanked him for the beer, and while I was sipping the beer, cigars were passed around. Not being a smoker, I pushed my cigar away. Jack saw me refuse the cigar, and said "Light up, Swede" I thanked Jack for the offer, but stated I did not smoke. Jack then said, "Aw, come on, Swede, light up." I again stated I did not smoke, and tried to make myself look smaller than I was.

While looking intently at my beer, I suddenly sensed someone standing next to me. I turned around. There stood Jack, with an evil grin on his face. He said "LIGHT IT!"

The survival instinct came over me. I lit that cheap cigar! Then I left the bar and threw up that T-bone dinner.

The governor just announced that he signed the executive order drafted and requested by Attorney General Fox, which extends for 90 days the renewal deadline for driver licenses that expire in March, April, or May.

Southwest Montana Veterans Home Update

By Mike Lawson

Greetings once again, to you the Veterans/Communities/Counties of SW MT., who are the chief organizers and supporters of the SW MT Veterans Home.

I have to use that old cartoon character's phrase, "Boy-oh-Boy-oh-Boy", when I see what's happening in the Community Center Building and Cottage #1. It really makes one realize that these two buildings, especially, will probably be occupied or ready to be, within two months, or so.

SW Mt Vet Home Construction Update:

Community Center: Interior; This is the building that is really the place where big visual changes are taking place, on a daily to weekly basis. Starting with the sheetrock (DryWall) being hung (nailed in place) and the joints being taped and mudded. All the construction steps before this step, are now being covered up with this sheetrock, which will then be painted, to be beautiful to the eye. There will be a special water repelling fiberglass sheetrock, called "Densschild" that will go behind any wall surfaces with tile, mainly in the bathrooms. (Another quality control) The store front doors didn't get in yet but are expected to be here this week and installed. The doors/walls will be painted this week and next. Suspended ceiling will come after painting is completed. Be a week or two before the suspended ceilings are started. The ceiling panels will be sheetrock and acoustical. The flooring, electrical, plumbing, sheetmetal/ductwork, etc., finish work will all be happening at the same time, until finished. Exterior; The outside soffit is close to being done and the siding contractor from Great Falls was expected to be on the job on Monday, to start the outside siding.

Cottage #1: Interior: Lots of carpenters, electricians and sheetmetal craftsmen working inside this building, getting it ready for the sheet rock (dry wall) phase. ARJO is expected to be in this building, this week, installing the man-lift overhead rails in each of the resident rooms. Some soffit and coffered ceiling framing, is ongoing, for the carpenters. Exterior; The Air Barrier 3M stick and seal material is being applied over the outside walls. One thing being done differently, on this building, than on the Community Center Building, is that once this 3M material is applied over a window opening, the window is immediately installed. This should all be done by the end of next week.

Cottage #2; Interior: Some framing of soffits and blocking/backing. Plumbers doing some rough plumbing.

Cottage #3; Interior: Some ongoing activity happening in here.

The fireplace was framed in, as well as soffits and coffered ceiling frame-work. The Laundry Room had a change made to it. It had to be divided, to keep the soiled laundry, separated from the clean laundry. Exterior: The Roofers are laying the underlayment down and should finish that this week, as well as getting a good start on the shingles. The Gable Roof Entry should be framed in this week also.

Cottage #4; Some layout and the beginning of wall framing work has been started here. The roof trusses for the wing portions of #4 are on the ground, until the walls are raised up (tipped up) in place, and then they will be rolled up into place on top of these walls.

Cottage #5; On hold for now, but will be active in another two or three weeks.

Liaison Mark Gollinger said all the Vet Home Operators Bids are in, and each will go through a standardized scoring process, by the state. Once that is completed, a contractor will be awarded the bid.

The Vet Home LOGO Contest is completed. The judging will be by the Foundation and Department of Public Health and Human Services.

2019 Madison River report to NorthWestern Energy finalized

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks has completed its annual report to NorthWestern Energy for the Madison River drainage.

Through its Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) license, NorthWestern Energy is required to provide mitigation funds to protect and enhance Madison River basin fisheries. FWP's report details how these mitigation funds were applied last year. Here are some highlights from that report.

FWP used mitigation funds in 2019 to enhance a 1,000-foot reach of South Meadow Creek. The project was initiated to increase adequate pool habitat, improve spawning gravels at pool tail outs, add sinuosity to the reach to help dissipate stream energy during high flows, reconnect the floodplain, narrow the stream channel and improve cattle operations.

Not only did the project improve habitat for fisheries, but it also aided the landowner along South Meadow Creek in their cattle operation by providing off-stream water that does not freeze. Due to the project's success in eliminating flooding of calving pasture, a neighboring landowner is interested in pursuing similar measures to improve stream habitat.

FWP discontinued stocking rainbow trout into Hebgen Reservoir in 2016 and began managing the reservoir as a wild trout fishery. Monitoring in 2019 showed an increase in the catch of rainbow trout. A year-long creel survey was initiated this month to evaluate angler use and satisfaction of the fishery.

Mitigation funds also helped FWP complete fish population monitoring in 2019 for two sections of the Madison River: the Varney and Pine Butte sections. FWP uses these estimates — which have been conducted since the 1960s — to monitor the health of the river's trout populations.

In the Pine Butte section, which is the 3.5 miles of river upstream of Lyons Bridge, estimated totals of brown and rainbow trout declined from 2018 to 2019, and counts for both species are below their respective 20-year averages. Estimated abundance of small trout have generally increased in this section since 2014.

In the Varney section, which runs from Varney Bridge to just above the Eight Mile Ford Fishing Access Site, estimated totals of brown trout remained relatively stable from 2018 to 2019, but rainbow trout numbers declined. Both species are below their respective 20-year averages. Estimated numbers of small rainbow trout have varied from year to year, while numbers of small brown trout have been increasing since 2014, similar to trends in Pine Butte.

Despite good numbers of juvenile trout in both sections, larger trout have declined. While brown and rainbow trout larger than 19 inches have historically represented a small portion of fish in the Pine Butte and Varney sections, those fish became increasingly rare during recent sampling efforts. It's unclear what is causing the decline.

FWP will be collecting otolith bones of trout throughout the monitoring sections in 2020 to obtain accurate age information. These data will then be used to estimate annual mortality rates for rainbow and brown trout. This information will be compared among sections of the Madison and other rivers to better understand mortality rates and help provide insight on causes. FWP will continue to monitor trends in fish numbers and size structure in the Madison River.
