Clarity for businesses regarding closures

Public Health has been receiving many calls for more guidance on the Governor's Directive for business closures because of the COVID-19 pandemic. We understand the confusion when determining which businesses should close. It is important to understand that the reason we are either recommending, or whether it's a Directive... is to protect our community. This is to reduce the risk of exposure to your friends, your family, the elderly, and the young. Total shut down of cities in this country are happening because communities are not taking this situation seriously. We MUST be diligent and follow the guidelines. If you are worried about your business now, it will be much worse later as stricter and stricter actions are mandated because we let our guard down. There are 12 new positive cases reported in Montana this morning and these are now occurring from community spread which means people contracted the disease from unknown COVID-19 cases in the community. Positive cases continue to grow in counties around Beaverhead County. It is our responsibility to try to prevent or at least slow COVID-19 by limiting people from suspect areas into our county.

If your business cannot do the following actions, then they should shut down until March 27th at which time the situation will be reassessed. However, more than likely, these current measures will continue if we continue to see the steep increase in positive cases.

Actions:

1. If you cannot provide services 6 feet from your client:
 - includes hair, skin, nails, tattoo salons and massage services, however, this is not an exhaustive list
 - cannot provide lodging/meals/transport, etc. with the recommended social distancing
2. If you cannot sanitize your equipment, vehicles, boat between clients.

Everyone should practice the following:

1. Social distancing of 6 feet, even when outside.
2. No groups of 10 people or larger.
3. Elderly and immunocompromised should stay home whenever possible.
4. Increased handwashing with soap and water and use of hand sanitizer if needed.
5. Increased sanitation of hard surfaces with disinfectants. You can make your own solution with 1 tbsp. of bleach to 1 gallon of water. Cut small clean cloths into the solution. Surfaces to pay attention to are:
 - keyboards, mouse, cellphone, remote control, doorknobs, light switches, steering wheels, cane handles, etc.
6. Practice good respiratory hygiene by covering your coughs and sneezes with the inside of your elbow or with a tissue. Dispose of the tissue and wash your hands.
7. If you are sick, stay home, isolate from healthy people.

Montana Secures Extension Of 'REAL ID' Deadline from Federal Government

Late yesterday, President Trump announced that the 10/01/2020 deadline for obtaining a voluntary REAL ID is being postponed due to COVID-19. The new deadline will be announced in the near future.

"For now, Montanans can delay applying for REAL ID driver licenses at their Motor Vehicle Division driver license examiner station if they wish," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "This development, together with our having secured a directive from the governor to allow Montanans with driver licenses that expire in March, April and May to delay renewing those licenses for 90 days, will protect our motoring public and staff from unnecessary contact while we all practice social distancing."

The REAL ID Act, passed by Congress in 2005, enacted the 9/11 Commission's recommendation that the federal government set standards for the issuance of sources of identification, such as driver's licenses. The law established minimum security standards for license issuance and production and prohibited federal agencies from accepting (for certain purposes) driver's licenses and identification cards from states not meeting the REAL ID minimum standards.

In 2017, Montana's legislature passed and the governor signed a bill giving Montanans the option of obtaining a REAL ID compliant driver license.

After the deadline, which has been postponed due to COVID-19, a non-compliant driver license will no longer suffice for purposes of boarding a plane or entering certain buildings and installations (for example: federal agency office buildings, federal courthouses, military bases, nuclear power plants). Anyone not having REAL ID compliant state-issued identification after the deadline will need an alternate form of identification such as a valid U.S. passport.

More information about REAL ID in Montana is available at www.mtrealid.gov.

FLIES

By "Swede" Troedsson

In the latter part of my career with the U.S. Forest Service, I attended six weeks of Continuing Education In Fire Management. Three weeks were spent at the university in Missoula, Montana, and three weeks were spent at the university in Moscow, Idaho.

The fire professor in Missoula was Ron Wakamoto. Our class was attended by about twenty Forest Service employees who were well into their careers. Whenever the class deteriorated into a B.S. session, it was usually about guns, hunting, or fishing.

One day Ron was telling us about a call he got from a friend of his. His friend had purchased a rifle at a gun show. It was a heavy-barreled Sako chambered for a .22-250 Remington, with a large telescopic sight, and a Timney single-stage trigger. When you pushed the trigger forward, a 3 oz. touch would set it off.

Ron's friend stated that the rifle was unbelievably accurate and invited Ron out to the local rifle range the coming Saturday so he could witness the accuracy.

That Saturday they drove out to the rifle range. Ron's friend set up the rifle on the bench rest, and rough sighted it to the 100 yd back stop. They then walked up to the backstop, and Ron's friend tacked up a target. The target center was a solid black circle, with about a dime-sized white center. His friend then unscrewed the lid off a little jar, which contained fresh dog feces, and smeared the white center with the dog feces.

They then returned to the bench rest. His friend chambered a round, pushed the trigger forward, and centered the cross hairs on the target. He kept peeking through the scope. Pretty soon, BZZZZ, a fly landed on the dog feces. His friend squeezed the trigger. BANG, SPLAT! Ron's friend now had a witness that could vouch for the fact that he could kill flies at 100 yards with that rifle!

On behalf of the Dillon Elks Lodge My children and I are offering our services to the elderly and those at risk for shopping. Please call Gerald Penn at 925-9184
