MONTANA YOUTH CHALLENGE ACADEMY TO SUSPEND OPERATIONS

The Directory of the Youth Challenge Academy with input from the University of Montana Western and Beaverhead Co. public health officials, has confirmed that they will suspend operations of the Montana Youth Challenge Academy (MYCA) for the time being. The organizations have been working cooperatively to ensure the safety and security of the MYCA cadets and staff, UMW Campus Community and the Community of Dillon.

In a letter to the parents of Class 42, MYCA Director Trent Gibson said, "Today, we have received an official recommendation to suspend operations at MYCA from Beaverhead County Health Department. Given the current circumstances and the ever-changing situational environment, we feel we must comply with this recommendation, and we intend to do so. Therefore, the suspension of MYCA operations will begin Sunday, March 29, 2020 and will continue until Friday, April 17, 2020."

According to Gibson, MYCA staff are contacting Cadet parents and caregivers to make arrangements for their pickup starting tomorrow, Saturday March 28th. "It is devastating to both staff and I. However, we are in dynamic times. The care, welfare, safety and security of Cadets, staff, families, and community remain our top priorities, and therefore, we have decided to suspend operations." Operations will be suspended until such time as state and local health officials deem it appropriate to begin operations.

MTNG Youth Challenge Academy serves youth, 16-18 years of age who are at risk of not graduating high school. During an intensive 5 and 1/2 month residential program followed by a 12 month mentoring program, Youth Challenge provides the tools & experiences to graduate productive, employable, law-abiding, and taxpaying citizens. The program has conducted 40 classes & graduated over 3,000 cadets since its inception in 1999.

Gotta Love that Chew

Bryce Angell

The sign said on the classroom door, "You've been assigned a seat."
I'd driven four long hours. Hadn't taken time to eat.

So, I gazed out through the rows and every chair was occupied.

Then saw my name pinned to a chair. Was dang near horrified.

'Cuz my seat was in the front row. One I didn't want to keep.

Just feet from the instructor. How was I to get some sleep?

And sitting there beside me was a grizzled logger type.

His eyes were red and swollen and he smelled Jack Daniels ripe.

He held a can of coke. I watched him down in one big gulp. Then promptly stuffed his cheek, plumb full of fresh cut Red Man pulp.

The rough old logger tore the lid right off the can of pop.

He spit some drool. His aim was true and didn't miss a drop.

All morning I would see him slobbering chew into the can.

Each time he spit my stomach rolled. There ought to be a ban.

And then our fine instructor spoke right up and saved the day.

He straightly told the logger man, "Please put your chew away!"

So, the logger man obliged him. Spit the whole of darkest brown.

Then put the can up to his mouth and drank it all straight down.

The traumatized instructor tossed his waffles on the floor. My stomach was plumb empty or there'd been more puke for sure.

The class dismissed for lunch but not a single person ate.

Each said they'd lost their appetite. One said, "I'd rather wait."

The logger man excused himself. Did not come back to class.

I've wondered if the ticked off teacher up and chewed his a--.

I understand a man who chews. In class there's no excuse.

But if you're sitting next to me please swallow all your juice.

Over $135,000 Generated by Annual Colt Sale Held Online

It wasn't the way it was planned, but it was a great success- the annual, national Colt Sale of the University of Montana Western, traditionally held every spring in Dillon, Montana. But this year was different. When the Coronavirus crisis hit, one of the nation's leading equine education centers – the Montana Center for Horsemanship in partnership with the University of Montana Western, who coordinate this sale, were faced with a dilemma – 30-plus colts, well-trained and ready for the sale - what to do about the live auction scheduled at the end of March?

The Natural Horsemanship Program, which educates students to work with young horses as part of a broad range of equine and other academic studies, is a joint program of the University and the Montana Center.

But with the health crisis looming, the face-to-face auction event had to be canceled. "It's one of the most important fundraising events of the year," according to University of Montana Western Foundation Director, Roxanne Engellant.

Montana Western and Montana Center for Horsemanship made the decision to take the auction and sale online, via the Internet. Rivers West Auction Service in Arlee, Montana was called on to manage the sale and bidding turned out to be brisk, with serious horse buyers bidding online from all over the nation. Cal Erb, one of the original colt donors says he was pleasantly surprised at the national interest and participation even at this time of crisis. In the end, there were bidders from 27 states, as far east as Pennsylvania and Florida, all the way west to California, Oregon and Washington. There were 231 bidders and many more following live online.

When the Colt Sale ended, in under three hours, more than $135,000 had been raised from this online event. The net proceeds will go towards class costs and scholarships. The Director of Horsemanship for MCH, Eric Hoffmann says, "the auction was a great success because of student dedication and community and national support of the sale. It's a true team effort and a major commitment to education and community collaboration."

10th Annual Hagenbarth Charity Pheasant Hunt and Raffle Results

The Tenth Annual Hagenbarth Charity Hunt was cancelled in support of the community effort to decrease exposure to the COVID-9 virus. The Tenth Annual Charity Hunt and Southern Montana Shrine Club Raffle was held on Saturday March 21, 2019 at Glen. There were 40 prizes drawn which were donated by area businesses and individuals in support of the local Shrine Club and Shriner's Hospital in Spokane. This institution provides medical assistance to children in need at no cost. Even though the Hunting event was cancelled, proceeds raised by the raffle and generous donations netted $5,839. The Family Dollar won the sponsor's raffle, a 3 bird hunt. We thank KDBM, The Dillon Tribune and the Dillonite Daily for donating advertising. We thank all those who signed up for the cancelled hunt, organizers, raffle ticket sellers and purchasers, those donating cash, and the participating area businesses and individuals for making this a successful fund raising event. We are looking forward to next year.
