Attorney General Fox Issues Guidelines for Conducting Public Meetings during State of Emergency

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox issued a letter of advice in response to a request for guidance on how government entities should conduct open meetings during the COVID-19 state of emergency.

"The COVID-19 pandemic and social-distancing measures taken to contain its spread have created unique challenges for public participation in their government," Fox said. "It is imperative that state and local agencies adapt to the new circumstances while upholding Montanans' constitutional rights of access and participation. These guidelines are intended to assist public officials as they work to navigate the present challenges that have changed daily life for all of us."

The Attorney General's Office issued the letter of advice in response to a request from Wyatt Glade, Custer County Attorney and president of the Montana County Attorneys Association, as well as Bozeman City Attorney Greg Sullivan. The letter of advice was drafted in consultation with the Montana Newspaper Association.

The guidelines are as follows:

Cancel Non-Essential Meetings. During this national and state COVID-19 emergency, and in light of Executive Directive Implementing Executive Orders 2-2020 and 3-2020 providing measures for the operation of local government issued March 24, 2020, local governments should take all steps possible to indefinitely suspend all non-essential public meetings of any board, agency, or committee of the local government other than the governing body.

Limit Public Meetings to Critical Items Only. If a local government determines that a public meeting must be held, local governments should strive to limit the meeting to only those items necessitating immediate or timely action by the governing body. The local government may consider using a "consent agenda" or other methods for allowing for the quickest and most efficient meeting possible.

Determine Type of Meeting. In accordance with current public health and safety protocols and national or state directives, the local government should determine the best method for holding a public meeting while protecting public health and safety. During the COVID-19 emergency, a public meeting may be held through remote means.

Noticing the Public Meeting. The notice of any public meeting held during the COVID- 19 emergency should also include information on the method by which the meeting will be held, including information about how the public may participate remotely and how documents to be discussed during the meeting can be accessed by the public.

Meetings by Remote Communication. If a meeting will be held in whole or in part through remote attendance and participation, the local government should strive, if possible, to provide a remote communication system that provides the members of the local governing body and the public the ability to see, hear, and reasonably participate in the meeting.

Detailed explanations are in the full letter of advice: https://dojmt.gov/wp-content/uploads/LOA-March272020.pdf

The Dillon Elks Lodge #1554 and the Beaverhead Chamber of commerce are offering their services to any at risk or elderly that are not able or choose not to venture out to do your grocery shopping. We have worked out procedures with safeway. As a piece of mind to you, this is under Elks volunteerism and as such we are covered and bonded with our insurance. We are doing this to help our neighbors in need and would encouraging anyone that needs this service to call Elks Gerald Penn at 925-9184/683-5552 or Beaverhead Chamber of Commerce 683-5511

Free Personal Use Firewood Cutting Beginning April 1

Personal firewood cutting will be free to the general public from April 1 through June 1, 2020, on the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest. No permit will be required during this time.

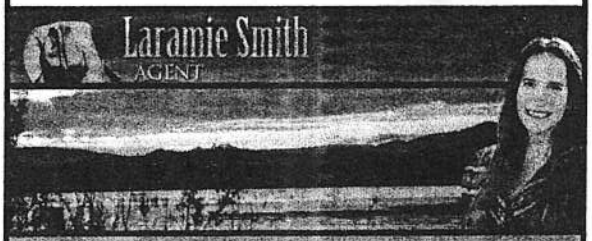

Woodcutters can take up to 12 cords of firewood for personal use. A cord is the amount of tightly piled wood in a stack four feet high by four feet wide by eight feet long.

Personal use firewood cutting allows you to remove downed timber or to cut standing dead trees under most conditions on National Forests and Grasslands, within Montana, Northern Idaho, and portions of North and South Dakota. It's important to check with the local ranger district to see if there are any specific local restrictions or requirements other than those listed below.

In addition, forest officials request that woodcutters also follow these requirements:

- Do not fell green (live) trees for firewood.
- Do not cut standing dead trees or down logs with signs, tags or paint marks on them.
- Firewood gathering is prohibited in all developed recreation areas, campgrounds and wild and scenic river corridors.
- Firewood gathering is prohibited within timber sale units or other areas signed or shown on the firewood gathering area map as being closed to firewood gathering.
- Trees or logs must NOT be felled or skidded across live streams, lakes, or reservoirs. If a tree is accidentally felled into a waterway, leave the entire tree. Firewood gathering is prohibited within 150 feet of any running stream, pond, lake, marshy, or wet area.
- The following activities are prohibited: using over-the-terrain vehicles for skidding, yarding or skidding systems in excess of 100 feet, log trucks for hauling, or vehicles driven off roadways to gather firewood.
- The following are fire regulations for vehicles and chainsaws (during proclaimed fire season):
  - Chainsaw operators must have a serviceable fire extinguisher (liquid chemical 8 oz. or dry chemical 1 lb.) and shovel available at all times.
  - Chainsaws must be equipped with an approved spark arrester screen.

- All vehicles must be equipped with a baffled muffler and serviceable tailpipe.
- Six feet is the maximum length piece that may be removed under the firewood program.
- Firewood obtained is intended for personal use only and may not be resold.
- Pile or lop and scatter slash away from roads, power lines, telephone lines, ditches and stream courses.

Woodcutters should also use caution while driving on Forest Service roads. Many remain snow covered and icy at higher elevations. Roads at lower elevations are wet and muddy and the soft roadbed can easily be damaged by vehicle traffic.

A current firewood gather map Is available online at https://go.usa.gov/xv3wu. For more information and guidelines, check the firewood cutting handout available at https://go.usa.gov/xdhHP.

ZINGERS

By "Swede" Troedsson

Ron Loge, who was my physician for over thirty years, is of a strong Norwegian heritage. I claim a strong Swedish heritage. When the opportunity presents, we use the difference in our heritage to launch a friendly jab at one another.

Some years ago, Ron and I were cross-country skiing in the Grasshopper Valley. (The Grasshopper Valley is located about 20 miles west of Dillon, Montana.) At the start of our trip, I mentioned to Ron that I had acquired a small scoop shovel. I had modified the shovel so that the handle could be removed, which would allow the shovel blade and handle to be conveniently carried in my backpack. The shovel could be used for avalanche rescue, or for digging a snow cave.

Ron said, "Let's take a look at it" I pulled out the blade. It was painted a pale blue, and had the Swedish flag painted on it. I said to Ron, "You've just been flashed by the Swedish flag." He grinned, and reaching into his pack, pulled out a can of King Oscar sardines, which he used to "zing" me back.
