Consider getting them involved with something bigger than themselves - donating their weekly allowance to Dillon Community Food Pantry! April 13th-18th is National FIGHT CHILDHOOD HUNGER WEEK. Keep your little ones active by giving them odd jobs around the house that have varying amounts of money attached for completing the job. Have them keep track of all the work they do for the week and tally it up at week's end. Then, have them place it in an envelope and address it to:

DILLON COMMUNITY FOOD PANTRY

SAVING KEN
 By "Swede" Troedsson

On June 8th, 1977, I received an ambulance request to drive out to the Les Staudenmeyer Ranch to pick a victim of a gunshot wound. (The Staudenmeyer Ranch is about 15 miles north of Dillon, on Highway 41). Keith Reeder and I raced out there in the ambulance.

Two young ranch hands had been "popping gophers" with .22 rifles. When they returned to the bunk house, a rifle accidentally discharged. The bullet hit Ken Featherly in the upper right quadrant, exiting out his back. Ken was losing conscious when we arrived. We loaded Ken onto the cot. Before we left the bunk house, I alerted the hospital, by bunk house telephone, that we were coming in with a gunshot wound. I told them that the only thing that was going to save this patient was surgery, so be prepared!

Keith was in the back with Ken. I had my "foot in the fan" doing 85 mph, lights and siren going. Undersheriff Rick Later led the way in a sheriff's department vehicle. When we got to Dillon, I slowed to down to 25 mph. As we rounded the corner at the high school, Keith shouted "He's going into arrest" and started CPR.

When we arrived at the hospital, physicians James Sisk and Dan Eudaily, and ER crew, were waiting for us. Dr. Sisk started an I.V., and was attempting to stabilize Ken, while CPR continued. We were informed that the surgeon was out of town, and we'd have to take Ken to Butte.

As I was preparing the ambulance for the trip to Butte, I was thinking "We'll never make it to Butte in time." Just as we were getting ready to load Ken into the ambulance, in walks Dr. Iddles, the surgeon, and asked what all the excitement was about.

The doctors prepped for surgery. Keith, I, and Rick Later, all donated a pint of blood. We all had Ken's blood type!

Doctors Sisk, Iddles, and Eudaily, as well as the great hospital team, saved that lad. The bullet had punctured Ken's diaphragm, front and back, where it bells over the liver, and split the top of his liver. He was in a critical state.

Additional blood, as well as additional medical supplies, were rushed to Dillon from surrounding communities by the Highway Patrol. A respirator had to be borrowed from Anaconda. Members of the community were called in to donate additional blood. Over twenty units were administered to Ken.

Keith, Rick, and I received the Emergency Product News Meritorious Service award for rendering aid that help save Ken's life.

FWP changes reporting requirements for spring black bear hunters

With the ongoing need to follow social distancing directives, Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks is changing black bear reporting requirements for this hunting season.

For the spring black bear season, which starts today, April 15, all successful bear hunters are required to report their harvest through the FWP Harvest Reporting Line 1-877-FWP-WILD (1-877-397-9453) within 48 hours of harvest.

Unlike in years past, FWP will not require or conduct a carcass inspection, hide seal or tooth collection.

This change will allow the public and FWP staff to continue to follow the social distancing directives outlined by Gov. Steve Bullock, which can be found online at COVID19.mt.gov.

All of Montana is under directives from Gov. Steve Bullock to maintain social distancing to help prevent the spread of COVID-19. This directive applies to those who are outdoors, but Gov. Bullock also recognized the importance of outdoor recreation to all Montanans, encouraging people to get outside, but exercise some good sense by staying close to home and avoiding crowded areas where social distancing is difficult or impossible.

Nonresident spring bear hunting is suspended until April 24 to comply with Gov. Bullocks quarantine directives for out of state travelers.

Other harvest reporting changes are:

For remaining otter harvest, all successful otter trappers are required to report their harvest through the FWP Harvest Report Line within 24 hours of harvest. FWP will not require or conduct carcass inspections. Trappers need to coordinate with FWP for a CITES tag placement at a later date.

For remaining mountain lion harvest, all successful lion hunters are required to report their harvest through the FWP Harvest Report Line within 12 hours of harvest. FWP will not require or conduct carcass inspection and will not require or place hide seals and will not require or collect teeth. For those lion hunters who received a lion genetic sample kit associated with the lion population estimate occurring between Libby and Plains, please submit the samples as planned.

Any person that recovers a bighorn sheep head must report them to the FWP Harvest Report Line within 48 hours and make arrangements with an FWP employee to get the sheep head pinned at a later date when things improve.

Congress Approves Economic Relief Plan for Individuals and Businesses

Key Updates

Unemployment insurance provisions now include an additional $600 per week payment to each recipient for up to four months, and extend UI benefits to self-employed workers, independent contractors, and those with limited work history. The federal government will provide temporary full funding of the first week of regular unemployment for states with no waiting period and extend UI benefits for an additional 13 weeks through December 31, 2020 after state UI benefits end.

The proposed recovery rebates will use 2019 tax returns (2018 if the taxpayer has not filed in 2019) to determine the advanced rebate amount and reconcile the rebate based on 2020 income. This means that taxpayers who receive a smaller rebate than they are eligible for based on 2020 income will receive the difference after filing a 2020 tax return, but overpayments of rebates due to a higher income in 2020 will not be clawed back.

Employers are eligible for a 50 percent refundable payroll tax credit on wages paid up to $10,000 during the crisis. The credit would be available to employers whose businesses were disrupted due to virus shutdowns and those that had a decrease in gross receipts of 50 percent or more when compared to the same quarter last year. The credit can be claimed for employees who are retained but not currently working due to the crisis for firms with more than 100 employees, and for all employee wages for firms with 100 or fewer employees.

Certain employer payments of student loans on behalf of employees are excluded from taxable income. Employers may contribute up to $5,250 annually toward student loans, and the payments would be excluded from an employee's income.

The CARES Act builds on the two former pieces of legislation by providing more robust support to both individuals and businesses, including changes to tax policy. The bill includes:

Expanded unemployment insurance (UI) for workers, including a $600 per week increase in benefits for up to four months and federal funding of UI benefits provided to those not usually eligible for UI, such as the self-employed, independent contractors, and those with limited work history. The federal government is incentivizing states to repeal any "waiting week" provisions that prevent unemployed workers from getting benefits as soon as they are laid off by fully funding the first week of UI for states that suspend such waiting periods. Additionally, the federal government will fund an additional 13 weeks of unemployment benefits through December 31, 2020 after workers have run out of state unemployment benefits.

$350 billion allocated for the Paycheck Protection Program, which is meant to help small businesses (fewer than 500 employees) impacted by the pandemic and economic downturn to make payroll and cover other expenses from February 15 to June 30. Notably, small businesses may take out loans up to $10 million—limited to a formula tied to payroll costs—and can cover employees making up to $100,000 per year. Loans may be forgiven if a firm uses the loan for payroll, interest payments on mortgages, rent, and utilities and would be reduced proportionally by any reduction in employees retained compared to the prior year and a 25 percent or greater reduction in employee compensation.

Recovery Rebate for individual taxpayers. The bill would provide a $1,200 refundable tax credit for individuals ($2,400 for joint taxpayers). Additionally, taxpayers with children will receive a flat $500 for each child. The rebates would not be counted as taxable income for recipients, as the rebate is a credit against tax liability and is refundable for taxpayers with no tax liability to offset. The rebate phases out at $75,000 for singles, $112,500 for heads of household, and $150,000 for joint taxpayers at 5 percent per dollar of qualified income, or $50 per $1,000 earned. It phases out entirely at $99,000 for single taxpayers with no children and $198,000 for joint taxpayers with no children (see Chart 1). 2019 or 2018 tax returns will be used to calculate the rebate advanced to taxpayers, but taxpayers eligible for a larger rebate based on 2020 income will receive it in the 2020 tax season. Taxpayers with higher incomes in 2020 will see the overpayment associated with their rebate forgiven. For example, a single taxpayer with $100,000 in 2019 income would not receive an advance rebate but would receive the $1,200 credit on their 2020 return if their income for the year fell below the phaseout. On the other hand, a single taxpayer with $35,000 in income receives a $1,200 advance rebate but would not have to pay the rebate back on the 2020 return if they make $100,000 this year. This is structurally similar to the 2008 rebate design. We estimate the rebate will decrease federal revenue by about $301 billion in 2020, according to the Tax Foundation General Equilibrium Model. This credit is one-time, but policymakers may consider additional rebates if the downturn is prolonged.

Bible Truth...About the reason for disasters in the world

Statement of belief: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God..." (2 Timothy 3:16-17), thus all beliefs in conflict with the scripture, God's holy word, are false.

The suffering, pain, disaster, tragedy and death man has lived with for thousands of years are the result of Adams disobedience to God in the Garden of Eden, Genesis 3:17. Adams sinful action brought God's judgment in which He pronounced a curse on man, woman, and on creation. This curse included suffering, trials, and eventual death on the human race from that day forward.

God promised that in the midst of a sinful world, He would bless the nation "...whose God is the Lord," Psalms 33:12a. Considering the drastic changes in our country since its inception, is God the Lord in America?

"In early American church schools, private schools, and public schools, the Bible was used as a textbook as well as a devotional guide. The 17th century founders of American society discerned in Scripture the patterns by which God directed the whole of human destiny. Hence, the methods and aims of education were finally to be governed by the biblical revelation.

...The Bible was a powerful force in education in the 17th and 18th centuries and gradually declined in the 19th and 20th centuries. 'Opening exercises began with the Lord's Prayer, Bible readings, and roll call. Even by the mid-20th century, Pennsylvania public elementary and secondary schools began with the Lord's prayer, Bible reading, roll call, and the pledge of allegiance to the flag.'" [Charles Aebi]

Sadly, many refuse to see the correlation between rejecting God's word and the possibility that the current condition [including the coronavirus] in America and the world is God's chastisement designed to turn mankind to repentance.

It's important to understand that when one believes in Jesus Christ as their Savior and lives by the moral and doctrinal standards of God's word, some things will not happen to them that occur in the lives of unbelievers and the disobedient. Believers don't, however, escape the trials of everyday life. Christians have health problems, financial problems, challenges in the home, and suffer in disasters. Ultimately believers die just as unbelievers do. "The difference" between those that have not believed in Christ as their Savior and those who have is that "the sting of death is removed" for the believer, 1 Corinthians 15:55. [John Piper]
