Governor Bullock Lifts Stay at Home Order, Announces Plan to Begin Phased Reopening of Montana

Governor Steve Bullock today announced Montanans' collective actions to stay home and slow the spread of COVID-19 successfully flattened the curve and will allow the state to lift the stay at home order and begin a gradual and phased reopening starting on Monday.

"There are very few states in the country that can say they have seen the number of positive cases decline over these past weeks. Montana can say that because, together, we have made that decline in cases possible," Governor Bullock said. "While there is reason for optimism, I am going to ask Montanans to continue to go to great lengths to protect one another, to continue looking out for our neighbors who need it the most, and to continue being vigilant in every step we take."

The plan to gradually reopen was produced based on scientific evidence and data, and in consultation with public health experts, health care providers, business leaders, and emergency management professionals.

"Because of Montana's aggressive approach of shutting everything down early in the pandemic, we are in the fortuitous position of having a very low viral burden in the state. With that being said, I feel assured that a cautious, vigilant, and step wise approach to opening up our healthcare, commerce, and education sectors could be attempted. Keep in mind that for every two steps forward we might need to take a step back, but it is in everyone's best interest that we try," Dr. Marc Mentel, president of the Montana Medical Association, said.

"Local public health continues to work closely with Governor Bullock and our state partners to work towards a systematic reopening of Montana that minimizes the risk of viral spread. We appreciate the partnerships we have all across the state, which in no doubt, will continue to serve Montanans," Hillary Hanson, Public Health Officer at the Flathead City-County Health Department, said.

"Montana and its hospitals moved swiftly and thoughtfully to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic and the results of this effort is demonstrated by a lower incidence of the virus in Montana when compared to our neighboring states. Our hospitals responded to this public health emergency and remain prepared to serve our patients and communities and assist in restarting our economy," Rich Rasmussen, President and CEO of the Montana Hospital Association, said.

Montana's plan to reopen and stay open relies on Montanans to adhere to social distancing guidelines whenever possible and continue to limit gatherings. Additionally, visitation at nursing homes will continue to be suspended and older Montanans and those who are immunocompromised should continue to follow the stay at home directive.

The stay at home order will expire on April 26th and some businesses will be able to reopen on April 27th if they can adhere to requirements to limit capacity and maintain physical distancing. Employers are directed to develop policies to keep employees and customers safe including teleworking when possible, enforcing social distancing protocols, and other measures as provided in an appendix of reopening guidelines.

Places of worship can become operational on April 26th. Restaurants, bars, breweries, and distilleries can begin providing some in-establishment services beginning May 4.

Businesses where groups gather without the ability to social distance including movie theaters, gyms, and other events where a large number of people might gather will remain closed.

On May 7, all schools will have the option to return to in-classroom teaching delivery at the discretion of local school boards. Montana's travel quarantine will remain in effect and out of state travelers and residents arriving from another state or country back to Montana for non-work related purposes are required to quarantine for 14 days.

"Our new normal is going to look different. This virus isn't gone from Montana. So as we turn to support our main street businesses and get more families back to work during this time – as we should – we must also be sure to continue looking out for those around us and protecting everyone around us," Governor Bullock said.

Montana has aggressively managed the virus with a series of actions including suspending nursing home visitation, closing schools, closing higher risk businesses such as bars, restaurants, gyms and movie theaters, and enacting a stay at home order. Montanans working together to stay home and social distance bought precious time for hospitals to prepare to treat a potential surge in patients, and for the state to acquire necessary personal protective equipment and bolster testing to identify and mitigate new outbreaks. As a result, Montana has flattened the curve and has the lowest percentage of positive cases per capita when compared to its population and the lowest number of hospitalizations per capita in the nation.

While the plan includes several phases, there is no timeline to move into the next phase of reopening. Governor Bullock and his task force will continue to monitor cases closely and carefully to analyze if Montana is containing the virus.

"Cruisin' In Seclusion"

Alright Dillon and surrounding area, are you ready for "Cruisin' In Seclusion"???? Friday night at 7:00 we thought cruisin' Dillon would be a great way to get out of the house and liven up the streets. The drive is twofold in nature:

1. to drive and wave/honk at our neighbors, friends and family while still maintaining social distancing by Not getting out of our cars and
2. to collect food and items for our Dillon Food Bank and Love INC.

We will be driving from the Chamber of Commerce down Montana street to the stop light, turning right on Helena to the three way stop, turning around in the High School gym parking lot, back out on Helena to the stop light, down Montana Street to the Chamber parking lot. Let's get out and have some fun Dillon and do something for the community.

We think the food drive/Love INC collection adds a neat little twist to the "Cruise". There will be a tub for donations in the BCHS parking lot for the Dillon Food Bank and another for Love INC:

- The food bank is in need of: eggs, produce, pet food, and will accept any boxed/canned staples.
- Love INC is in need of: dish soap, laundry soap, kids toothbrushes/paste, diapers, pull-ups (all sizes), baby wipes, toilet paper, paper towels, and tissues.

Please join us even if you can't bring a donation. Remember to use Social Distancing and be safe. Tell your friends and spread the word.

Attorney General Fox Seeks Nominations for Crime Victim Advocate Award

April 19-25 is National Crime Victims' Rights Week

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox announced today he's seeking nominations for his agency's annual Matthew Dale Outstanding Advocate of the Year Award. Any Montanan working with crime victims is eligible, including law enforcement personnel, domestic violence advocates, shelter staff, probation and parole officers, first responders, SANE nurses, judges, attorneys, and volunteers.

The call for nominations coincides with National Crime Victims' Rights Week (NCVRW), April 19-25, which celebrates the progress made by survivors of crime and highlights the efforts of individuals across the country who work toward making victim services accessible for all. "During this time of quarantine, the concerns about an increase in domestic violence are obvious -- anxiety over job loss and financial uncertainty, isolation from the outside world, and confinement for extended periods of time," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "But law enforcement, advocates, judges, and countless dedicated others are putting their health at risk to assist these victims, because the need to help isn't going away. Now more than ever, we want to recognize and honor these often unsung heroes," Fox added.

Since 1993, the Outstanding Crime Victim Advocate Award has been coordinated by the Attorney General's Office of Victim Services. The award is named in memory of Matt Dale, who directed the Montana Department of Justice's Office of Consumer Protection and Victim Services for 17 years. Through Matt's leadership, Montana instituted policies and programs to protect victims of domestic violence and prevent intimate partner homicides, including those in Indian Country. Over the course of his career, Matt became a national expert on the topic of domestic violence and travelled across the country speaking about Montana's Fatality Review Commission, its Native American Fatality Review Team, and the work done by both groups. The award was named in Matt's honor after his death in 2018.

Nominations are due by July 1; an application is available here. For more information about the nomination process, contact Joan Eliel, Director of the Office of Consumer Protection and Victim Services, at (406) 444-1907 or jeliel@mt.gov.

McDonald's Celebrates Healthcare Workers and First Responders with Free "Thank You Meals"

Frontline heroes can enjoy free meals at participating U.S. McDonald's restaurants

In appreciation for the healthcare workers, police officers, firefighters and paramedics who are committed to our health and safety, McDonald's will offer free Thank You Meals*, between tomorrow, Wednesday, April 22 and Tuesday, May 5, as a token of appreciation for their selfless service.

While the majority of America is staying home, McDonald's has remained open, with our franchisees and hardworking restaurant employees serving hot meals to communities who need quick and affordable options, especially those on the frontlines such as healthcare workers and first responders. The company is grateful for the ongoing dedication and commitment of McDonald's employees who enable McDonald's to stay open to serve our communities during these challenging times.

Each Thank You Meal will be available at no charge via drive thru or carry out at participating McDonald's restaurants nationwide through May 5. The Thank You Meal, available during breakfast, lunch or dinner, will feature a choice of sandwiches, drinks, and a side featuring small World Famous Fries or a Hash Brown, along with a note of appreciation. It will be served in McDonald's iconic Happy Meal box, in the hopes of bringing a smile along with delicious food.

Day or night, these frontline heroes can simply show their work badge to receive one of the below Thank You Meal options:

Breakfast

A choice of an Egg McMuffin®, Chicken McGriddles® or a Bacon, Egg and Cheese Biscuit. All options come with any size soft drink, tea or hot coffee and a Hash Brown.

Lunch and Dinner

A choice of a Double Cheeseburger, 6-Piece Chicken McNuggets® or a Filet-O-Fish® will be offered. All options come with any size soft drink, tea or hot coffee and small fries.

"We are thrilled to provide our neighbors on the front lines of this crisis with a free Thank You Meal to let them know how appreciated they are," said Jeff Gorman, local Dillon area owner/operator. "As a local business owner, we know how important our communities are and we are happy to support them."

During past times of national crisis, McDonald's has helped and served communities in need, from donating funds to disaster relief efforts to providing food for those impacted by natural disasters. McDonald's commitment to feeding the nation's healthcare workers and first responders throughout the current pandemic is a continuation of that dedication. McDonald's local franchises have also been working throughout this crisis to support the thousands of communities their restaurants call home.

"We are happy to be an important part of our local communities, providing food to those in need."

Serving local communities would not be possible without McDonald's dedicated and unwavering restaurant employees, who are also doing their part to help during this time. McDonald's employees are the heart of the business, and their health and safety has been, and will continue to be, the company's top priority. McDonald's has implemented nearly 50 new safety measures to ensure the well-being of its employees, and continuing to explore additional safety steps in accordance with guidance issued by local and national health authorities including the CDC.

Nearly all McDonald's U.S. restaurants remain open and are offering convenient and contactless ways for customers to enjoy McDonald's favorites through drive thru, carry out, McDelivery, and mobile order & pay with our app.

*Thank You Meals offered at participating US McDonald's 4/22/20 through 5/5/20. Valid ID required. Limit one per person per day. Menu options may vary by restaurant. Visit McDonalds.com for more details.

2020-21 Chancellor's Leadership Scholars Announced

The Chancellor's Leadership Scholars Award is a four-year, full-tuition scholarship awarded to exceptional students residing in the state of Montana who will be attending the University of Montana Western in the fall.

Montana Western is proud to announce the five following high school seniors as the 2020-21 award recipients:

Jodi Cameron

Cameron is a cross-country and track athlete coming from just outside of Manhattan, Mont. She was a member of the National Honor Society and enjoys exploring nature in her free time. Planning on becoming a physical therapist, Cameron will be pursuing a degree in Kinesiology at Montana Western.

Justin Tofflemire

Tofflemire has been an active member of multiple clubs throughout his time at Capital High School in Helena, Mont. As president of the Science Club, he helped to create a community science summer camp for kids. In his time away from school, he enjoys the great outdoors through horseback riding and playing with his dogs.

Hayden Kunhardt

Kunhardt is originally from New York and moved to Montana six years ago. After living in Glendive, Mont., Kunhardt is currently in Missoula, Mont., learning how to train mustangs at the Wild 2 Ride Academy. In high school, Kunhardt participated in Key Club and National Honor Society. She is planning on majoring in Fine Arts once at Montana Western this fall.

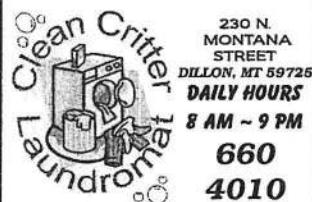

Ruby Stenberg

Stenberg is a hardworking, outdoors loving student who has spent ten years in 4-H while growing up in Manhattan, Mont. She has been heavily involved in extracurricular activities in school including multiple sports, the Student Council and National Honor Society. Stenberg also was a participant in the Red Ants Pants Foundation's Girls Leadership Program, which inspired her to help increase women's leadership skills in rural communities. Stenberg plans on pursuing an elementary education degree at Montana Western and hopes to make a difference as an educator and a coach in a rural Montana community.

Talya Fletes

Fletes is graduating from Circle High School with a passion for showing horses and competitive shooting. During her time in High School, Fletes participated in many clubs such as 4-H, Business Professionals of America (BPA) and National Honor Society. She has competed in national competitions in both BPA and in competitive shooting. Fletes is coming to Montana Western and plans on majoring in Natural Horsemanship and Business Administration.

"We look forward to welcoming these high-achieving students to Montana Western," said Chancellor Beth Weatherby. "They are fascinating, talented individuals who will add so much to our community. Congratulations to all five recipients of this well-deserved award that recognizes leadership and scholarship."
