Elaine Mae King

In the evening of Tuesday, June 9, 2020, an amazing and beautiful woman flew home to Jesus, finally free. She was heroic in her battle with cancer. She fought for more time… more time with her family, to see her grandkids grow up, to be with her friends. She beat the odds repeatedly, always inspiring in her passion for life. She was always kind, always supportive, always a true friend. She will be deeply missed.

Elaine Mae KIng was born in Port Angeles, WA on Feb 5, 1952, to Charley and Jessie Allen. She spent most of her life in her birthplace. She grew up with a love of the ocean. She was a stay-at-home Mom and kept the house spotlessly clean and her family well fed. When her family was grown, she enjoyed volunteering at the PA Senior Center and especially loved the Senior Games. She walked all over town and usually included the waterfront trail in her adventuring.

She is survived by her sister Kathy Watts, her brother Art Allen, her children Christal Muntzer, Jim King, Jr, and Chuck King, her grandchildren James Abbott, Marie Slater, Joshua Muntzer, Emily Muntzer, Jasmine Muntzer, and Samantha Muntzer, her great-grandchildren Felicity Muntzer, Caden Slater, and Adelyn Slater, and Jim King, her husband in years past and always her friend.

She moved to Montana a few years back to be closer to family. She loved living at the Bicentennial and looked forward to each potluck and celebration. In Dillon, she found amazing people and land vastly different from her home but equally beautiful. She looked forward to mornings at the YMCA and many other adventures with Ruth Pilgrim, her very dear friend.

We will not have a service at this time, but remember her when you walk outside in the early mornings, when you feel a light mist of rain and see a rainbow, and especially if you are fortunate enough to smell the salt air and feel the coolness of the wind off the water. Mom requested that memorial contributions be made to Barrett Hospital and Healthcare, Dr Hueftle/Community Hospital of Anaconda, Breast Cancer Research, or your favorite charity.

Attorney General Fox Statement on Calls to 'Defund Police'

Attorney General Fox Statement on Calls to 'Defund Police'

"Recent calls by some misguided individuals to defund law enforcement agencies in the wake of the George Floyd tragedy are not only reckless overreactions to a serious situation, but are an insult to the thousands of good law enforcement officers across our country who put their lives on the line every day to protect public safety. I am dedicated to equal justice for all, and to ensuring that the Montana Law Enforcement Academy and our Police Safety Officer Standards and Training Council continue to uphold rigorous standards that protect the rights, lives, and property of all."

Attorney General Fox Files Third Price-Fixing Lawsuit against Generic Drug Industry

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox and other state attorneys general filed the third lawsuit stemming from the ongoing antitrust investigation into a widespread conspiracy by generic drug manufacturers to artificially inflate and manipulate prices, reduce competition, and unreasonably restrain trade for generic drugs sold across the United States.

This new complaint, filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut, focuses on 80 topical generic drugs that account for billions of dollars of sales in the United States. The complaint names 26 corporate defendants and 10 individual defendants. The lawsuit seeks damages, civil penalties, and actions by the court to restore competition to the generic drug market. The topical drugs at the center of the complaint include creams, gels, lotions, ointments, shampoos, and solutions used to treat a variety of skin conditions, pain, and allergies.

"Today's lawsuit is a continuation of ongoing efforts over the last several years to hold more than 60 total defendants, including pharmaceutical manufacturers and individuals, accountable for their alleged collusive conduct to control pricing on more than 200 generic drugs," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "These investigations have uncovered what has been referred to as possibly the largest domestic corporate cartel case in the history of the United States, and rightfully so. In addition to its overarching impact on the pharmaceutical marketplace, this conspiracy caused vast harm to consumers who turned to generic drugs, trusting they were most affordable option available. These cases touch millions of American consumers, including Montanans, who used generics to treat everything from diabetes, to arthritis, to eczema. These individuals and companies must be held accountable for the harm they have caused," Fox added.

The complaint stems from an ongoing investigation built on evidence from several cooperating witnesses at the core of the conspiracy, a massive document database of over 20 million documents, and a phone records database containing millions of call detail records and contact information for over 600 sales and pricing individuals in the generics industry. Among the records obtained by the States is a two-volume notebook containing the contemporaneous notes of one of the States cooperators that memorialized his discussions during phone calls with competitors and internal company meetings over a period of several years.

Between 2007 and 2014, three generic drug manufacturers, Taro, Perrigo, and Fougera (now Sandoz) sold nearly two-thirds of all generic topical products dispensed in the United States. The multistate investigation has uncovered comprehensive, direct evidence of unlawful agreements to minimize competition and raise prices on dozens of topical products. The complaint alleges longstanding agreements among manufacturers to ensure a fair share"of the market for each competitor, and to prevent price erosion due to competition.

The complaint is the third to be filed in an ongoing, expanding investigation. The first complaint, still pending in the U.S. District Court in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, was filed in 2016 and now includes 18 corporate defendants, two individual defendants, and 15 generic drugs. Two former executives from Heritage Pharmaceuticals, Jeffery Glazer and Jason Malek, have entered into settlement agreements and are cooperating with the attorneys general working group in that case. The second complaint, also pending in the U.S. District Court in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, was filed in 2019 against Teva Pharmaceuticals and 19 of the nation's largest generic drug manufacturers. The complaint names 16 individual senior executive defendants. The States are currently preparing for trial on that complaint.

Fox and the attorneys general of Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Territory of Guam, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Northern Mariana Islands, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Utah, U.S. Virgin Islands, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin filed the complaint.

Grizzly Bear is Roaming Near Big Sandy

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks staff have confirmed a grizzly bear is roaming near Big Sandy in north central Montana. This represents further expansion east of known grizzly bear movement and reinforces the need for communities and the public on the edge of grizzly bear habitat to be bear aware.

This bear was first seen last week near Conrad (where it got into dog food), then outside of Brady. It got into garbage near the Chester-Fort Benton Highway 223, it killed two chickens on a ranch 20 miles west of Big Sandy, it moved south of Rudyard, and then back to five miles northwest of Big Sandy on Sunday, June 7. This bear moved more than 10 miles a day at times, which suggests a young, wandering male.

In recent years, grizzly bears on the eastern side of the Rocky Mountain Front have expanded in numbers and dispersed into areas where they haven't existed for decades.

During its travels so far, the bear has been hazed with cracker shells, vehicles, and by landowners who encountered it. Since this bear has demonstrated food-conditioned behavior, FWP staff has tried to dart and capture the bear, but so far haven't succeeded.

Grizzlies are still a federally protected species, even though populations have biologically recovered in two of their recovery areas, including the Northern Continental Divide Ecosystem. FWP's staff focus their efforts on keeping people and property safe.

Other good information can be found online at fwp.mt.gov on how to live and recreate in bear country. Tips for Homeowners/ Landowners:

To avoid conflicts with bears and wildlife, residents should:

- remove or secure food attractants such as garbage, bird feeders and pet food.
- Homeowners should stay at least 100 yards away from bears and try to haze bears off their property with hard-sided vehicles and loud noises.
- Chickens and other small livestock should be properly secured with electric fencing or inside a closed shed with a door.
- Domestic fruit should be picked up as soon as possible.
- Recreationists are urged to "Be Bear Aware" and follow precautionary steps to prevent conflicts, including carrying bear spray and know how to use it, and travel in groups while making noise.

Please report bear activity as soon as possible. If you encounter a bear in north central Montana, please call Sarmento at 406-450-1097, your local FWP office, or 1-800-TIP-MONT.
