RMEF Project Expands Public Access in Montana

Montana's largest wildlife management area gained an additional 244 acres after the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation worked with private landowners to purchase and convey their property to Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks (FWP).

"This is a prime example of a family that understands both the wildlife and public access values of their property," said Kyle Weaver, RMEF president and CEO. "We thank James and Connie Haddox for asking us to help conserve it."

The property is approximately 10 miles south of Anaconda at the base of the Anaconda-Pintlar Mountains and is now part of the 56,000-acre Mount Haggin Wildlife Management Area (WMA), which is open to public access.

"This acreage is an integral part of a key wildlife migration pathway. It also provides calving grounds in the spring, summer range and security in the fall for elk," said Blake Henning, RMEF chief conservation officer. "Additionally, the transaction improves access to the east side of Grassy Mountain, a popular hunting area."

It features wetlands, riparian and stream habitat, meadows and forestland including aspen and willow stands that provides habitat for moose, black bear and other animals. FWP also plans to restore native westslope cutthroat trout and Arctic grayling to the French Creek Basin, including Oregon Creek which traverses the property.

"It's been a great pleasure to partner with these conservation-minded landowners and RMEF to secure yet another piece of ground for wildlife and fisheries habitat and public recreation," said Vanna Boccadori, FWP wildlife biologist. "FWP is very grateful to them and to all the parties that supported this project."

This transaction follows on the heels of a 2019 RMEF project that added 160 acres to the Mount Haggin WMA. RMEF assisted FWP with habitat and land protection work in the WMA dating back to 1999.

Lewis & Clark Caverns now open daily by reservation

Montana State Parks (stateparks.mt.gov) and Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park announced the caverns will open for daily tours, by reservation. This comes after several weeks of operating only four days per week.

"We are seeing high demand for our tour offerings," said Park Manager Rhea Armstrong. "This increase in capacity allows us a better opportunity to serve the public, while keeping staff and visitors safe."

Reservations are required, as tours are operating on a limited basis. At this time, only Paradise Tours are available. This 1.5-hour, 1-mile walking tour allows access to the largest and most decorated room of the cave system, while still allowing for social distancing in 10-person groups. Nonrefundable payment in full is required at the time of booking. For reservations, call 406-287-3541.

Visitors must wear masks or face coverings on the tour. Those with sensitive skin may want to wear clean gloves, as staff cleans the handrails with a bleach solution. The cave is 48 degrees Fahrenheit, so a light jacket is recommended. No strollers or baby backpacks are allowed.

No clothing or other items that have been in another cave or mine are permitted inside Lewis & Clark Caverns. This measure is in place to help protect resident bat populations from a deadly fungal disease called white-nose syndrome, present in other caves throughout the world.

Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park features one of the most decorative limestone caverns in the Northwest filled with spectacular stalactites, stalagmites, columns, and helictites. The park also features camping, trails to hike or bike, a state-of-the-art visitor center, interpretive displays, a gift shop, food and beverage concessions, amphitheater, and interpretive events presented during the summer months.

For more information about these or other events at Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park, call 406-287-3541, or visit http://stateparks.mt.gov/lewis-and-clark-caverns/

To get to Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park, 25 Lewis & Clark Caverns Road in Whitehall:

From the exit 274 on I-90, we are 13 miles south on Highway 287 and 5 miles west on MT 2. From the Cardwell exit 256 on I-90 we are 7 miles east along MT 2.

4th of July Independence Day Parade

The Beaverhead White Hat Coalition 4th of July Independence Day Parade will be held Saturday, July 4th at 12:30 pm in Dillon. The Coalition postponed and rescheduled their 18th annual Memorial Day Parade due to concerns over the Covid 19 pandemic and are now prepared for the event with social distancing and safe practices in mind.

In this time of polarizing election year politics the White Hat Coalition will dedicate this parade to our law enforcement officers in Dillon and Beaverhead county. As they have taken an oath to serve and protect us. Which we choose to acknowledge is no small thing as members of our community. We honor our neighbors, friends and family in law enforcement and celebrate our community during this important event celebrating our American way of life.

Everyone is invited to come join us in the parade as well as enjoying the procession along the parade route through town. Everyone with vintage autos, horses, floats, organizations, businesses, groups etc. are always welcome with social distancing in mind.

The parade will stage at the high school on Center st, at 12:00 noon and will proceed at 12:30pm west on Center st. then south on Idaho st.,, west on Reeder st to Montana st. and north to the Big Shy Cinema and disperse from there.

Another Non Alcohol event brought to our community by the Beaverhead White Hat Coalition.

For more information call Stan at 660-4429 or stop by the theatre.

Attorney General Fox Urges U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs to Reevaluate Changes to Claims Processing Policy

Attorney General Tim Fox joined a bipartisan coalition of 42 attorneys general urging the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to rescind a newly-implemented policy that will result in further delays and confusion in the claims process.

In a letter submitted to Under Secretary for Benefits Paul Lawrence, the coalition asks the department to postpone and reevaluate changes made to its longstanding claims review policy while the nation faces a public health crisis. In April, the VA announced plans to rescind its decades-old policy of allowing accredited veterans service organizations to review claims decisions prior to finalization. The coalition argues that the change will further delay benefits veterans have already earned.

"The Department of Veterans Affairs has provided no justification for this substantial policy change, and has not allowed input from veterans service organizations or veterans," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "I urge the VA to postpone implementation of such a dramatic change in the midst of a pandemic in order to allow input from these key stakeholders, and to evaluate whether there are alternative solutions that do not completely eliminate a critical step in the review process. Implementing such a significant change while people work remotely with access to fewer resources will only further complicate the VA claims process," Fox added.

For decades, the VA has given accredited veterans service organizations (VSOs) a 48-hour period to review claims decisions prior to the department issuing its final determination. According to the VA, review by VSOs helps identify any errors or issues that may require clarification or additional discussion prior to the claim being promulgated. But in April, the VA announced the VSO review process would be rescinded, meaning that any corrections or clarifications must be made after a final determination on a claim has been issued.

In the letter, the coalition points out that review by VSOs provides the last opportunity to identify and correct errors in claims before they become part of the official record and are used as the basis to deny or diminish benefit awards. Mistakes not caught prior to promulgation can only be rectified through a lengthy and complicated appeals process, meaning veterans must continue to wait to receive the benefits they have earned. In addition, the attorneys general argue that the VA's decision to implement the policy change comes in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, as the VA, VSOs, and veterans are already struggling to follow existing VA policy.
