Tom Lohman

Dillon's "Papa T" passed away peacefully, July 5th, at home, in the presence of his loving family.

Thomas Francis Lohman was born December 11, 1932 in Walkerville, MT to Francis and Maude (Davies) Lohman, and was a 1951 Butte High graduate. From the age of 12, Tom was always looking for an adventure and an opportunity, whether working in a hayfield for Jack Hirschy, atop a fire lookout, on a paper route, doing road construction, taking mining jobs, a floral delivery boy or owning Pizzers Palace in Walkerville.

He joined the Navy on his 21st birthday serving two years in Yokosuka, Japan and two at Whidbey Naval Air Station. After serving his country, Tom received his Bachelor's Degree from Montana Western and his Master's in Mathematics from MSU. He was an educator in Butte and Big Piney, Wyoming where he met and married his lifetime love, Evelyn. They relocated to Glendive, Montana with their three children: Geri, Clint and Kathy. Tom taught math at Dawson Community College for thirteen years. A business in the gaming industry overlapped the last few years of his teaching job. He always enjoyed a challenge.

In 1982, he and daughter Geri chose Dillon to begin another phase of life, by buying the Windsong Bar, on his 50th birthday, which is now known as Papa T's. From jello wrestling to packed Labor Days he cherished the ownership. He was a people person and loved to chat. No-one was a stranger. His enterprises grew as he started a gaming route to serve the small cities of southwest Montana. In 2011, he suffered a stroke, which left him partially handicapped, but he continued to live a full life with family and friends, including his favorite pastime of fellowship with the Dillon bridge players. His smile lit up every room.

Papa was very proud of his kids and grandchildren. Even when handicapped, Tom took many wonderful trips across the USA and Europe, including cruises in the Mediterranean and Caribbean. He also rarely missed a sporting event, family card game or stories at the kitchen table. He was an extraordinarily generous man who left no-one behind, often welcoming in and supporting family members. He never missed a reunion or phone call with his loving sisters, Pam and Bonnie. Dad was blessed by Jake Hendrickson and Deb

Ronald Hubert McParland

April 1, 1944 – June 25 ,2020

Ron was known as an outgoing, friendly and talented man who could do just about anything well. He was an avid bird and game hunter, fisherman, mechanical whiz, and he had an amazing green thumb. He spent his early years working in Agriculture and farming in the San Joaquin Valley of California and later branched out into Retail Hay Sales. A 1966 graduate of Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo in Crop Science, Ron enjoyed the outdoors so much. He was happy planting trees, working in his garden, and selling walnuts that he grew in his orchard.

Chris, his wife of almost 54 years, enjoyed exploring and hunting in the Sierras and the Western States with Ron when they weren't working hard on their family ranch in Clements, CA. Starting with their honeymoon backpacking trip at Bass lake near Yosemite in 1966, Ron and Chris enjoyed countless other horse and mule pack trips together with their kids and friends. Ron loved to cook and was always at home in a 4-star kitchen or behind a campfire stove. In addition to his wife Chris, his two children Brian and Kellie, and his beloved grandchildren, Cade and Hanna McParland, Ron loved his animals. His hunting dogs Hooch, Gus and Lizzie and best mule Albert were some of his closest friends.

In 2017 Ron moved to Alder, Montana to fulfill his dream of retirement in the Big Sky Country that he loved so much. Frequently selling walnuts at Farmer's Markets and Holiday events, Ron fit right in with the kind and relaxed lifestyle that Montana offers. He made new friends there and joined up with old buddies that already lived in Montana. He was having a grand time there doing what he loved.

On the quiet summer Montana evening of June 25, 2020, while fishing at Reservoir Lake, Ron suddenly passed away. We can only imagine that God needed the man with the golden gift of gab; a true man's man, up in Heaven. He will be greatly missed here on Earth, but he was Blessed to live and die doing what he loved. Rest easy Dad and ride on with your good mule through the mountains of Paradise.

Ron is survived in death by his wife Christine McParland of Clements, CA, his son Brian McParland and daughter in law Emily of Sheridan, MT and beloved grandchildren Cade and Hanna, daughter Kellie McParland Shields of Clements, CA, and his brothers Larry McParland, Whitehall, MT, David McParland, San Jose, CA and Rick McParland of PA. He is preceded in death by his parents Hubert and Loretta McParland of Merced, California.

A private family service will be held later, and a joyful celebration of Ron's life will be planned. Please no flowers are needed. A scholarship is being developed in Ron's name and will be announced.

Grizzly bear captured after finding unsecured attractants near West Yellowstone

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks captured a grizzly bear after it got into unsecured attractants at a house and campground near West Yellowstone last week.

The bear reportedly gained access to an unsecured garbage can at a house on Wednesday. Then it made repeated visits to the Rainbow Point Campground, where it got into a cooler, as well as food and garbage in the back of a pickup truck. The bear also toppled a tent and climbed on an occupied vehicle at the campground.

Multiple attempts were made to haze the bear away from the area, but they were unsuccessful. The U.S. Forest Service closed the campground on Friday, and FWP successfully trapped the bear later that evening.

Unsecured attractants, such as food and garbage, can lead to property damage and human safety risks. Relocating and releasing bears that have associated human activity with access to food usually leads to further conflicts as bears often return to the same area where they were captured to look for food. Bears in these situations can't be rehabilitated, so they often must be euthanized.

However, the 5- to 6-year-old male grizzly bear captured at Rainbow Point last week has been transferred permanently to the Grizzly & Wolf Discovery Center in West Yellowstone. This bear will provide educational opportunities and help the center test new bear-resistant products being developed. This is a rare option because space and opportunities for bears are limited at such facilities.

Residents and recreationists in southwest Montana can help keep bears in the wild by following Forest Service food storage orders, which are in effect every year from March 1 to Dec. 1. These orders require all unattended food, garbage and attractants to be stored in at least one of the following ways:

- In hard-sided vehicles
- In certified bear-resistant containers
- Hung at least 10 feet above the ground and 4 feet away from a tree or pole, out of the reach of wildlife
- Placed within a fenced area that meets the Interagency Grizzly Bear Committee regulations for approved bear-resistant products

People who do not comply with these orders can be issued a violation and held civilly liable for any damages that occur from non-compliance. Deliberately feeding wildlife is also illegal in Montana.

Grizzly bears in the lower 48 states are currently listed as threatened under the Endangered Species Act. Management authority for grizzlies rests with the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, working closely in Montana with FWP, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Wildlife Services, the Forest Service and Tribal lands. This collaboration happens through the Interagency Grizzly Bear Committee.

Butte Rescue Mission To Receive 120,000-Pounds Of Food From The Church Of Jesus Christ Of Latter-Day Saints To Support The Storehouse Initiative At Butte Rescue Mission And Area Food Pantries

On Wednesday, July 8th, The Butte Rescue Mission (BRM) will receive and distribute three, 40,000-pound, semi-truck loads of food from The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Bishops' Storehouse to support an increased demand for services provided by BRM and Area Food Pantries.

Acknowledging the need for basic food, clothing and shelter of the people of Southwest Montana, The Butte Rescue Mission (BRM) welcomes the generous donation of three semi-truck loads of food produced by The Church of Jesus Christ of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Each full semi-truck load contains 40,000 pounds, (24.5 pallets containing 1,580 cases) of non-perishable foods. Each truck load is valued at roughly $40,000. The delivery will be made at Butte Produce where the food will be unloaded and divided for distribution.

"We are in the process of expanding our food service capacity at The Butte Rescue Mission. This includes plans for future renovation and expansion of our existing warehouse at BRM to a full service facility. We couldn't be more blessed by the generosity of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints on this project." said Brayton Erickson, Executive Director of BRM. "This donation will go a long way in helping us achieve our goal of being able to serve not only the homeless community but also the food insecure people of Butte in the coming year. Together we are able to impact not only our own little corner of Montana but other cities throughout the region as well."

One full truck load will be set aside for Butte Rescue Mission, the second truck load will be set aside as a reserve to be distributed by BRM to area food pantries to draw from when needed and the third truck will be broken down and distributed to area food pantries who will be asked to pick up the food that same day. Area food pantries include Butte, Dillon, Sheridan, Whitehall, Deer Lodge, Anaconda and the communities they each support.

Press Release
July 6, 2020

Sadie Caltrider
Beaverhead County PIO

Second case of COVID-19 confirmed in Beaverhead County

Beaverhead County Public Health is investigating one newly confirmed case of COVID-19 in the county.

This brings Beaverhead County's total COVID-19 case count to 2.

The case is a male in his 40's who was asymptomatic (no symptoms). He was notified that he was a potential contact to positive cases from his work site located out of the county and followed up with a healthcare provider. He is currently isolating in another county with family. The case was reported to public health with a presumptive positive which was confirmed through the Montana Public Health Lab late Saturday, July 4.

A close contact has been identified and is in quarantine. If you have not been contacted by public health, you are not considered a close contact. A close contact is someone who is within 6 feet for at least 15 minutes with a positive case.

Beaverhead County Public Health Director, Sue Hansen, reminds Beaverhead County residents to be cautious and remain vigilant as cases in Montana continue to dramatically increase. Social distancing, wearing face coverings, washing hands, and remaining home when sick are 4 of the very simple and proven ways we can reduce the transmission of this disease. Just because the county has had very few cases does not mean we are immune to an outbreak of COVID-19. Large gatherings such as weddings and crowed bars where social distancing is not being followed have been linked to recent cases in Montana.

Community-wide testing for COVID-19 will begin this Friday, July 10th at Beaverhead County Public Health located at 41 Barrett Street. Testing will begin at 11am to 1pm. There is a possibility that testing time will be longer if public health receives more testing supplies from the state. Testing is being planned at Dillon History Days on Friday, July 24th for community-wide testing. This testing is for asymptomatic persons only. Those who have symptoms are asked to seek testing at Barrett Hospital and Healthcare by calling their healthcare provider. Those experiencing severe symptoms are asked to seek emergency medical care at the hospital.

5 Things to Think About Within 5 Years of Retirement

1) Estimate the monthly income you will need. It may be less than you need now, as your monthly expenses may decline. You may need to adjust or reallocate your portfolio and take another look at both income-producing and growth investments. You'll also want to factor in the amount you will receive from Social Security as well as Required Minimum Distributions.
2) Determine whether you will stay in your existing home or move. Retiring to another state may mean tax savings. Many retirees decide to downsize to a smaller dwelling to lower their living expenses. Also consider whether you wish to move closer to your immediate family members and grandchildren. Traveling can get more difficult as we age, and there are many advantages to having your family in close proximity.
3) Debt and Taxes. It's possible that you will retire to a lower income tax bracket than what you are currently. If you can stand the one-time tax hit, converting a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA could someday give you a source of tax-free retirement income. However, before making this change, talk with a qualified tax professional to make sure this is the right decision for your unique scenario. Converted amounts are usually taxed as income, and age and income restrictions may apply.
4) Healthcare Costs. Will you be eligible for Medicare? Will Medicare provide enough coverage? Remember that many retirees will eventually need long-term care at some point during retirement, which can quickly drain your savings.
5) Imagine what your ideal retirement looks like. How do you plan to fill your days during retirement? Do you plan on traveling the world, or staying home and building your dream garden? Is there a hobby that you want to explore, but simply never had the time to try it previously? Make sure that your finances can support your retirement goals, whatever those may be.

Let's plan a smooth retirement transition. Call or email me with your questions to design a strategy that works for you.
