Leonard Lester Stewart, 81

Surrounded by the love of his family, Leonard Lester Stewart, 81, of Dillon MT, passed away from Alzheimer's disease on July 20th. Leonard's kind heart and love of life never dimmed for a moment. Even now, his unending spirit continues to live on in the hearts of the many persons who had the good fortune to have met and known Leonard.

Leonard was born on August 5, 1939 in Caldwell ID to Lester Downing and Genevieve Young. He met and married Barbara Timm in Nampa ID in 1960, and their great life voyage began together.

They left the farm fields of Idaho and moved to the beautiful Flathead Valley, where they spent over 25 years enjoying water skiing, boating, snow skiing, and the community of Bigfork. Flathead Lake is where Leonard discovered his passion for fishing. As his passion grew, he also discovered the wonder of deep sea fishing in Cabo San Lucas, Mexico. After many trips down the Baja he developed a love of Mexico, it's people and culture. He sold his construction business and he and Barbara moved to Mexico. He bought and restored Chubasco, his well loved fishing boat. Leonard had focus and passion for everything he pursued, and won Cabo's Bisbee fishing tournament twice before coming back to the U.S.

Leonard's heart always burned bright in search of new journeys and new experiences. This adventurous spirit lead him to California, Oregon and Idaho as a commercial fisherman, small business owner, and rancher. But southwest Montana always beckoned to Leonard, the home of his ancestors, and he and Barbara finally settled in Dillon in 1995 where they bought the Klondike.

Leonard is survived by his loving wife, Barbara Stewart of 60 years; daughters Gloria Janus (Bill), Amy Vandenburg (Bart); grandchildren Ashley VanDenburg, Anne Payne (Ian Kwasowski), and Spencer VanDenburg.

Services will be held at Brundage Funeral Home on Friday, July 24th at 10am, followed by final resting in Lima Cemetery. Please join us for a celebration of Leonard's life.

The family wishes to thank the hospice staff, healthcare professionals at Barrett Hospital, Pioneer Rehabilitation, and Veteran's Administration who provided compassionate care for Leonard.

Public meeting on plan to reintroduce bighorns to Little Belts canceled

A public meeting scheduled for July 22 in Stanford regarding a proposal to reintroduce bighorn sheep to the Little Belt Mountains has been canceled due to concerns about potential exposure to COVID-19. The public is still encouraged to submit comment on the environmental assessment, which can be viewed online at fwp.mt.gov/news/publicNotices. Public comment will be accepted through Aug. 3.

Historically, bighorn sheep were common in the mountain range, but were extirpated by the early 20th Century. However, the range still contains extensive high-quality habitat. A small number of bighorns have existed and expanded in the mountains since 2015.

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks' proposal would reintroduce sheep to the Little Belts following the guidelines of the 2010 Montana Bighorn Sheep Conservation Strategy. The intent of the proposed reintroduction is to establish a self-sustaining and genetically diverse herd.

To comment on the draft EA, go online to fwp.mt.gov/news/publicNotices. Written comments can be submitted to FWP, P.O. Box 527, White Sulphur Springs, MT 59645 or emailed to jkolbe@mt.gov.

Attorney General Fox Pushes for Graphic Image Warning Labels on Cigarette Packaging

Attorney General Tim Fox today announced he recently joined a coalition of attorneys general in filing an amicus brief supporting federal regulations requiring "graphic image" warning labels, which consist of color images that depict the dangers of smoking, on cigarette packages.

The coalition filed the brief in R.J. Reynolds v. FDA in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, supporting the authority of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Department of Health and Human Services to issue regulations requiring graphic images to be included with text warnings on cigarette packages. The attorneys general argue that, contrary to the plaintiffs' claims, the regulations do not violate the First Amendment.

"The government has a substantial interest in ensuring that consumers understand the dangers of smoking, particularly since tobacco companies have a long history of deceiving their customers," Attorney General Tim Fox said. "The graphic warning labels are intended to inform consumers of relevant product information, which is consistent with many laws that are enacted for that very purpose. In order to attempt to undo decades of deception by these companies, it is imperative that cigarette packages feature powerful and graphic warning labels," Fox added.

In 1998, 46 states and several territories entered into the Master Settlement Agreement (MSA) with the major tobacco manufacturers. The landmark agreement related to the marketing, sale, and consumption of cigarettes resolved states' claims that major tobacco manufacturers engaged in decades of fraud by denying the addictiveness of cigarettes and misrepresenting the negative health impacts associated with using tobacco products. Although the MSA prohibited tobacco companies from misrepresenting the health consequences of cigarettes, Congress recognized that current warning labels on cigarettes did not sufficiently convey the dangers of smoking.

In 2009, Congress passed legislation specifying the text, size, and placement of new warning labels and directed the FDA to select images to illustrate the warnings. The images would be combined with written warnings like, "WARNING: Smoking causes COPD, a lung disease that can be fatal," and "WARNING: Tobacco smoke can harm your children." The combined warnings would have to cover the top 50 percent of the front and back panels of all cigarette packages, and the top 20 percent of all print cigarette advertisements.

In the amicus brief, the coalition argues that the government has a significant interest in informing the public about the dangers of smoking, and the First Amendment does not prevent the government from requiring that lethal and addictive products carry warning labels that effectively inform people of the risks those products entail. Additionally, the attorneys general point out that because graphic warning labels promote the "free flow of commercial information," they are consistent with the First Amendment.

The attorneys general state the proposed graphic warning labels are needed to counter the effect of deceptive and fraudulent conduct by tobacco companies. The FDA's labels warn users of death and disease resulting from smoking, the effects of secondhand smoke, and the dangers of smoking during pregnancy. In the brief, the attorneys general highlight previous court decisions finding that tobacco companies intentionally misled consumers by minimizing the hazards of smoking and exposure to smoking.

COVID-19 Cases continue to be confirmed in Beaverhead County

Beaverhead County Public Health is investigating 6 new cases since Friday, July 17.

Three new cases on Monday, July 20th are presumptive positives which have been sent to the state lab to be tested. They are considered positive unless the state lab confirms a negative result.

Four of the previously active cases are off isolation July 20. This leaves Beaverhead County with 5 currently active cases.

A case that was diagnosed late in the course of the disease is off isolation. The male in his 20s was on isolation after coming in contact with a positive case. Because of the lateness of the test result, he fell within the criteria to discontinue isolation even though the test result was received on Friday, July 17.

This brings Beaverhead County's total COVID-19 case count to 12 as of July 20, 2020.

Remember that the COVID map on the state website is only updated every morning at 10am and will not have the most current information on it. Positive cases can be called to public health anytime of the day.

The new cases include one female in her 50's who is symptomatic. No source of infection can be determined at this time.

A second case is a male in his 20's who was symptomatic and had an exposure to a positive case.

The third case is a male in his 80's who is symptomatic and a contact to a positive case.

The fourth and fifth case is a woman in her 60's and a man in his 80's. Investigation is pending for their contacts.

As public health becomes busier with contact investigation, it will take longer to identify and investigate contacts. We ask for the public's patience while we work on cases and contacts. A close contact is considered someone who is within 6 feet for at least 15 minutes with a positive case. There may be times that the case does not remember all close contacts so if you feel you were a close contact and have not been called by public health after a couple of days, please call the health department at 683-4771. Please do not seek immediate testing at the hospital. The proper procedure for testing is a request to your health care provider or public health for a test. We do ask that if you have no symptoms or mild symptoms, that you wait until after the weekend to request a test. No courier is available on the weekend to take tests to the state lab. However, if you are experiencing severe illness, please seek care at the hospital immediately.

It is important that you remain quarantined from the community for 14 days from last exposure to the positive case. Please do not wait for a test result as you could be exposing others.

For people who received the community drive-through COVID testing on July 10th, assume your test result is negative. Public health will contact you if your test is positive. Please do not call the health department for results.

Beaverhead County Public Health is asking everyone to please do their part in keeping themselves and others in our community safe. The mask mandate is in effect for counties with 4 or more active cases. These places include but are not limited to: retail stores, grocery stores, food and beverage establishments, public lodging, personal care providers, medical providers, pharmacies, gyms, pools, fitness services, museums and theaters, indoor recreational or entertainment facilities, gas stations, repair and service providers, non-profit organizations, realty services, legal services transportation services, and ride sharing services. Government agencies also fall within the mandate. Businesses and other persons who are responsible for indoor spaces open to the public, or sponsors of organized outdoor activities are responsible for monitoring mask use. There are exceptions under the Directive for mask use and individuals are asked to read the Governor's Executive Orders 2-2020 and 3-2020 found at the following site. <https://covid19.mt.gov/joint-information-center>
