FWP "Kids to Fish" program allows anglers to borrow gear & tackle for free

A popular Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks program that allows kids and their friends or families to check out free fishing rods and tackle is in full swing again this year.

FWP staff restocked and maintained over 400 fishing rods in nearly 43 different locations across Montana's Hi-Line. The "Kids to Fish" program lets anglers check out fishing rods and reels equipped with basic tackle, such as hooks, bobbers, and sinkers. Typically, eight rods are at each location, and usually a well-stocked tackle box is available to borrow and use.

"Of course, it takes time and effort to replace, maintain, and travel around to all the loaner locations. But it's well worth it if it gets someone out fishing who wouldn't otherwise have the opportunity," said Marc Kloker, FWP's Information and Education Program Manager in Glasgow, who runs the program.

FWP appreciates the businesses and other locations that display a rack of these fishing rods, and they are the reason the program has been so successful.

The sturdy loaner rods come already rigged with bobbers, split-shot sinkers and hooks. Please keep in mind these rods are likely not cleaned or sanitized after each use. However, anglers are expected to sign out the equipment at the site and return it in good working order, if possible. Kloker reminds folks that these rods are to be brought back to the loaner location, even if damaged.

These fishing rods are available to be checked out from the outlets by individuals, families, organizations, youth groups and schools. If anyone is looking to check out a large number of rods (more than 20) for a particular event, please contact either the Glasgow or Havre FWP offices and they will get you set up. If there are any questions about the program or if you are interested in having poles available at other locations in your community, please contact Kloker at 406-228-3704.

Fishing rods and tackle are currently available to check out at these locations. Locations and addresses can also be found on the Region 6 webpage on fwp.mt.gov.

My Osprey Protest Spree

Bryce Angell

I gazed out in amazement as the osprey dove straight down.

He was settin' up his breakfast for some tasty German Brown.

I marveled his precision. He was hell-bent in the dive.

The fish would soon be smorgasbord, not long to be alive.

And then I felt compassion for the unsuspecting fish.

His mother never warned him 'bout the osprey's favorite dish.

The dang old osprey set my mind to thinkin' 'bout his prey.

And I hope you will take heed to all the words I'm gonna say.

So, I wondered should I make a call to the Fish and Game Police. Heck, the rules are right there in the book. Says, "Catch em and release."

Would the osprey even listen? He'd be puffin' out his chest.

For sure his ticket would end up as fodder for his nest.

Well, I organized a protest and so far, it's only me.

I proudly drew a banner. Said, "My Osprey Protest Spree."

I tried to keep it peaceful, but the osprey didn't care.

I watched him catch another fish and fly up in the air.

I ran down to the river's edge and scared the fish away.

That truly showed the osprey who he's dealin' with that day.

I asked my friendly neighbor in the hopes he'd join my cause.

He said, "You've lost your marbles! Your old mind has taken pause!"

He promptly made a phone call. Did he say, "Exterminate?"

He might have said, "Come runnin' with a jacket bein' straight!"

I've chosen ospreys to protest and out to have some fun.

My mind is slightly touched. You better keep me on the run.

So, I've joined the ranks of protesters. Yes, silly to be true.

But, osprey sir, this cowboy's got his sharpened eye on you.

Surplus drawing licenses and permits handled in new way

Hunters interested in purchasing licenses or permits left over from the special license and permit drawing will find a different process this year. The old process was vulnerable to long lag times, confusion, and a perception of inequity for those unable to use the first-come, first-served online option starting at 5 a.m.

New this year, hunters need to sign up for licenses and permits through MyFWP on the FWP website. The resulting Surplus License List will be randomized with hunters at the top of the list contacted via email with instructions to finalize their purchase within a specified time.

Night of Stars Scholarships Awarded to UMW Students

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the 9th Annual Night of Stars- Education Hall of Fame event, held each spring at UMW, was postponed until next year. Event sponsor Stockman Bank, even with the postponement of the event, committed to provide both their annual "Take Stock in Education" scholarship and "Stock your Classroom" award for UMW education students.

Night of Stars
CELEBRATING OUR BRIGHTEST

The $750 "Take Stock in Education" scholarship will be awarded to Todd Nordahl for the 2020-21 academic year. Nordahl is a senior at Montana Western, majoring in Elementary Education with a middle school math option. In Nordahl's family, education is a tradition as both of his parents and his brother and sister all teach in the surrounding areas.

"Thank you, Stockman Bank and Shane Puyear, for allowing me to reduce the cost of school in order to fulfill my dream of becoming a teacher in the state of Montana. This scholarship means a lot to a hometown kid that has had the opportunity to witness many great teachers. This scholarship has provided me with another stepping stone on my way to completing school and becoming a teacher. To me, this means more than just money for school. It means someone cares about the career path that I have chosen and is just as passionate about it. With much gratitude, I once again thank Stockman Bank and Shane Puyear for this scholarship," Nordahl said.

Gary Stevenson, from Lodge Grass, Mont. received the $250 "Stock your Classroom" award. Stevenson graduated this spring with a degree in Business and Computer Applications education. Stevenson's passion lies in helping others, particularly the youth of his home on the Crow Reservation. As a future educator, who would also like to coach at the varsity level, he feels that this is the best platform to inspire and assist young people in reaching their goals.

The "Stock your Classroom" award is a cash award for a new teacher to purchase much-needed items for their classroom. This award was the idea of V.P. Branch Manager Shane Puyear of Dillon's Stockman Bank. Shane and his wife Lacie (Scott) are both alumni of UMW and Lacie is a 5th grade teacher at Parkview Elementary School. Shane has seen firsthand how teachers often need to purchase additional supplies for their classroom and thought this would be a meaningful award for a new teacher.

UMW also provides a "Night of Stars" scholarship that is funded annually by the Night of Stars event. This year's recipient is Justin Silva. Justin is one of the Outstanding Teacher Candidate award recipients who graduated this spring.

The University of Montana Western plans to honor the 2020 inductees at the 2021 Night of Stars ceremony. For more information about the Night of Stars, contact the University of Montana Western Foundation at 406-683-7305 or visit the Foundation website.

RE: Montana's Biggest Weekend

The Jaycees have started planning this year's event. Due to the pandemic we will not have any youth volunteers this year and we are in desperate need for volunteer help. You must be over the age of 18. If you are interested in volunteering this year please contact our Volunteer Chairman Kyle Zimmerman at 406.660.0892 or email him at zimmermankyle14@gmail.com. Attorney General Fox Warns Montanans of Contact Tracing Scams

In order to avoid contact tracing scams, Attorney General Tim Fox asks Montanans to be cautious when answering contact tracing phone calls, texts, or emails. Contact tracing is the process that helps health officials identify people who may have come into contact with a person who tested positive for COVID-19. The infected individual must share some personal information to help health officials determine how many people the infected individual came into contact with recently.

"Contact tracing is an important part of managing the spread of COVID-19" Attorney General Tim Fox said. "Don't give out any financial information, and never pay someone who claims to be a contact tracer. Legitimate contact tracers will never ask for payment," Fox added.

Contact tracing personnel may reach out to you to discuss the results of a test you know you took or because someone you were in contact with tested positive. Legitimate contact tracers will be working under the authority of the local county health department and will generally call or text. They may ask you for your name, address, health information, and the names and phone numbers of people and places you have visited. Scammers will ask for more information.

Here are some tips to avoid contact tracing scams:

Don't pay a contact tracer. Anyone requesting payment for contact tracing is a scammer. If someone claiming to be a contact tracer offers to sell you a test, it's a scam.

Don't give your Social Security number or any other financial information. A legitimate contact tracer will not need your Social Security number, bank account information, or credit card number. Some scammers will offer fake contact tracing jobs to try to get financial information.

Don't share your immigration status. Legitimate contact tracers don't need this information and will not ask for it.

Be cautious about clicking on links or downloading information. Contact tracers generally conduct this work through calls and text messages, not email. Verify the information with the contact tracer.

Fox encourages Montanans to turn to reputable sources for COVID-19 information, like the Montana Department of Health and Human Services. To report contact tracing scams or any other COVID-19 related fraud, contact Fox's Office of Consumer Protection (OCP) online or call 1-800-481-6896 toll-free.
