Big Sky Cinema opening new features

After 5 + months of curbside popcorn sales and exhibiting vintage films Jaws, ET, Back To The Future and Goonies among others. The Big Sky Cinema is opening on the national break, Unhinged, with Russell Crowe. It will open the way for a somewhat normal release schedule during the continual pandemic economic shutdown.

Manager, Stan Smith has been creative throughout the shutdown to keep the doors open with curb sales, showing films he has either appeared in or produced such as Always, Xanadu and Useless along with having live music and entertainment. All, while leading the way in social distancing and safety efforts such as masking up and cleaning to protect his staff and patrons.

It has been a nostalgic and stress filled summer for Smith, who will continue to operate at 50% capacity while having only two showings each night, 7 days a week until the schedule of releases stabilizes. We're looking forward to bringing the best in big screen entertainment during these uncertain times.

Welcoming our Students to the Start of the Fall Semester: The Bulldog Way

The University of Montana Western is excited to welcome the Class of 2024 and all students to the start of the Fall 2020 semester.

The Bulldog Way

We want everyone to come to campus with the mindset that Montana Western, and our surrounding community, is your second home and we are family. We are a pack- and we protect and watch out for each other.

Promote safety the Bulldog Way, which means we each do our part to keep the pack healthy:

1. Wear a face covering at all times when indoors and when you cannot socially distance outside.
2. Remain close to campus and limit trips outside the Dillon area for the duration of the semester. If you are in public, in Dillon or elsewhere, follow local and state protocols to protect our broader Bulldog community.
3. Wash your hands frequently with soap and water and use hand sanitizer.
4. Take your temperature every day before you come to work or class.
5. Maintain physical distancing between others of at least 6 feet.
6. Cover your cough and sneeze.
7. Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.
8. Do not attend class if you are sick and get medical care if necessary. Contact your instructor to let them know you will be missing class due to illness and to make arrangements for accessing course materials/assignments online.

SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE
STATE OF MONTANASTAPLETON APPEALS TO U.S. SUPREME COURT

It's become crystal clear that in order for me to enforce important election deadlines and for Montana's constitution to be respected, we're going to need a senior court to intervene and break the stranglehold the Montana Democratic Party has on Montana's legal system.

Retiring Judge Reynolds' tortured logic of insisting that I retroactively decertify election milestones in order to eliminate political competition for the Democrats is an assault on the intelligence of all Americans.

Today I'm asking the United States Supreme Court to reverse the ridiculous decision of Montana Democratic Party v. Stapleton.

"Slithering, Swimming, & Surviving" and "Living Cave" at the Caverns

-Friday, August 28, and Saturday, August 29, at 8 p.m.-

Montana State Parks (stateparks.mt.gov) and Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park will host the free presentations "Crawling, Slithering, Hopping, and Swimming in Montana: an overview of the state's reptile and amphibian species" on Friday, Aug. 28, and "Living Cave" on Saturday, Aug. 29, both at 8 p.m. at the campground amphitheater.

On Friday, Aug. 28, join Montana Game Warden Matt Wemple as he discusses Montana's unique suite of herptiles (reptiles and amphibians) that call Montana home. Montana provides a habitat for 19 species of snakes, lizards and turtles, as well as 12 species of frogs, toads and salamanders. In addition to these there are a few exotic species which exist as well.

This is the 15th presentation in Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park's annual Friday Summer Speakers Series, which will conclude with a stargazing event in September.

As a state game warden, part of Matt's job is to enforce regulations regarding private possession of native and non-native wildlife, which includes herptiles. A critical game warden skill is being able to identify a wide range of animals in their natural habitat. Knowing the sometimes-subtle difference between native and non-native wildlife is important as well. Matt has been a lifelong herptile enthusiast, from catching them as pets in his boyhood in Louisiana to observing them in the wild and dealing with regulated species as a Montana game warden.

What: "Crawling, Slithering, Hopping, and Swimming in Montana: an overview of the state's reptile and amphibian species" with Game Warden Matt Wemple

When: Friday, Aug. 28 from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Where: Campground Amphitheater

On Saturday, Aug. 29, join Park Ranger Julia Smit to learn about "Living Caves." This ranger talk will dive into all of the critters and other organisms that breathe, eat and thrive underground, often in total darkness!

What: "Living Cave"

When: Saturday, Aug. 29 from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Where: Campground Amphitheater

Recreationists may temporarily see murky water in lower Madison River

Recreationists who use the lower Madison River on Aug. 25 may see a temporary increase in turbidity, or murkiness, between the confluence of Cherry Creek and Black's Ford Fishing Access Site.

On that day, the Montana Department of Transportation (MDT) will remove a beaver dam on Cherry Creek, a tributary to the Madison River. The dam is being removed so that it does not further undermine the Highway 84 bridge, which is just upstream from the dam.

Most of the sediment and debris associated with the dam will also be removed. However, these activities will likely increase the turbidity in the river between Cherry Creek and Black's Ford during excavation and potentially following any rain events shortly thereafter.

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks will work with MDT to minimize disturbance to the riparian area and the Madison River and to restore vegetation, as necessary.
