Art in a Yurt

Tendoy Fine Art Gallery is sponsoring an exciting workshop for area residents. Nolan Salix is offering a copper painting workshop on Saturday, September 12th from 10 am to 5 pm and September 13th from 2 to 5 pm. The workshop will be located at Magpie Springs Art and Permaculture Center near Dillon. Participants will be treated to instruction in the Meadowlark Studio, a 24 foot yurt built by Salix. This opportunity will afford students instruction by a well-credentialed and gifted artist as well as the opportunity to experience a unique environment. The cost of the workshop is $120, part of which helps support Tendoy Fine Art where Salix is an Associate Member.

All materials are furnished to create two 5" by 7" copper art pieces using copper patinas, markers, heat, and patinas. Students may bring oil and acrylic paints to add another dimension to their work. Magnets will be available for those who wish to mount their work on a metal surface. During the workshop, students will research and print source images from the internet and learn how to use those images to inform their own artistic vision. Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch on Saturday. Please call 406-660-3007 or 406-660-2304 for more detailed information and registration.

Montana Western Offers a Minor in Farm and Ranch Operations

The University of Montana Western (UMW) has long-standing history as a top-tier college, dating back to 1893 when it was originally founded. UMW has changed and evolved with the times and most recently has added a minor in Farm and Ranch Operations to its impressive list of degree offerings.

"We have been talking about offering some sort of farm and ranch degree for years. About a year and a half ago we ended up putting together a program we feel will be very beneficial to students who either want to return to the family operation or work in agriculture in general," explained Kurt Steadman, associate professor of business at UMW.

Steadman went on to say, offering an agriculture-based degree is really a natural fit for UMW. Beaverhead County, located in the extreme southwest corner of Montana, is noted for its agriculture. In fact, not only is it Montana's biggest county in terms of land size, but it is also the largest producer of beef cattle with a stock of 150,000 head, according to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service.

"We are down here in the heart of agriculture country. Beaverhead County has over 1 million acres of agricultural land," Steadman pointed out.

UMW already offers a very comprehensive business degree where students learn about all facets of the industry, from traditional business approaches to what is new in terms of technology. Being housed in the small town of Dillon, UMW's business degree program has a rural, small business feel. Even so, the fundamental classes students take prepare them to step into the fast-paced world of business, no matter the size or scope.

Students pursuing a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from UMW take core business classes like marketing, accounting, business law and operations. The minor in Farm and Ranch Operations includes all those classes, as well, but students also learn about things like soil and water management, commodity marketing, basic animal science and nutrition, as well as animal reproduction.

"One of our target demographics is the rural Montana student who maybe comes from an ag background or has an interest in agriculture. We believe the curriculum we have put together will be very beneficial to these students," Steadman explained.

UMW offers its students a unique learning approach, known as Experience One. Courses are offered on a block schedule, meaning students take one course at a time for three hours per day for 18 days. They then have a short break before starting the next course. Block scheduling is more conducive for hands-on, experiential learning, allowing students to really become immersed in their degree program.

"What will make this Farm and Ranch Operations minor awesome is that students will take one course at a time. We are working to build partnerships with larger ranches in the area so students can go do field work during those courses," he said.

The Farm and Ranch Operations minor has been well-supported by the community of Dillon, and even though the degree offering just became approved not too long ago, students are showing great interest in the program, as well. The diverse course offerings allows students to graduate with an ag-based business degree that will prove them fitting for jobs ranging from ranch management to ag lending and everything in between.

"We are really excited about this program," Steadman concluded.

UMW will continue to build the Farm and Ranch Operations minor with even more courses slated to roll out for approval in the future. Those interested in Experience One and the new degree offering are encouraged to visit the University of Montana Western's website at www.umwestern.edu.

Bad Breath

Bryce Angell

I wear my Covid mask to cover up my nasal spray. This doggone, dang pandemic is a nuisance, you might say.

But one thing I've discovered while I'm wearin' this here mask.

My friends don't shy away. For sure a monumental task.

We carry on our conversations standin' right up close.

No more a backin' up and lookin' like they're comatose.

It's nice to have a friend or two I don't put half to death, from breathin' in the toxic air of horrible bad breath.

This blasted mask protects me from a two-week quarantine.

But now I'm breathin' fumes worse than the hottest June latrine.

I find myself a gaggin' while I'm breathin' in my air.

It's enough to drive you crazy. Puts a body in despair.

Imagine all the germs I manufacture by myself.

Heck, I accidentally dropped my mask. It crawled off by itself.

So, I made a life's decision. Where it came from heaven knows.

I'd drive on down to Merkle's. No more halitosis woes.

I was standing at the counter with a basket full of pills.

I'd grabbed a jug of Listerine, a cure for bad breath ills.

Well, the busy-body clerk yelled out, "You drinkin' this here stuff?" So, I blew her one long terrible, intoxicatin' puff.

I swear her eyes glazed over. She was dizzy in the head.

I tossed her Twenty, ran like #@%% before she ended dead.

Now my breath is minty. I can breathe behind my shield.

I'm toutin' my discovery. Thank heaven I've been healed!

So, if you're strugglin' with your mask. Please take my words to heart.

A bottle full of garglin' might just be your place to start.

THANK YOU

There are absolutely no words to thank the community of Dillon for the farewell given you our son, Ian.

The ambulance services, including Lima, Grasshopper Valley, Jefferson Valley, and, of course, Beaverhead County, went out of their way to honor our son. The Police Department, Sheriff's Department and Fire Department were also very present during this farewell.

Thank you to everyone who shared their stories of Ian at the gathering for him on Thursday evening at the park.

Thank you to everyone who sent flowers, memorials, money, cards and who brought food. We are in awe and humbled by how many lives Ian has touched.

A special thank you to Julie Briggs for all her help and compassion showed to us during this time.

Thank you to the St. Rose of Lima choir for the beautiful music during the funeral mass, and to Father Souza for his wonderful sermon as it was so appropriate.

Also, a special thank you to my sister, Ronnie Bolick, Valerie Coulter, Judy Tash, and Jennifer McKay. They were all there from the start and the comfort and help they provided to our family can never be repaid.

Southwest Montana Veteran Home Update#64

BY Mike Lawson

Greeting once again to you, the Veterans/Counties/Communities of SW Mt who are the organizers and supporters of the SW MT Veteran's Home.

The Sub-contractors are really feeling the need to keep on task so as to not hold the Sub-contractor following behind them up. They each have deadlines to finish their work on time. The summer is close to being over and the start of turning the first finished buildings over to the state, is but a month or so away. Markovich Construction Site Superintendent Mike Ascherman has his hands full in keeping the different sequences of work done and completed on the time table each sequence is supposed to be done in. This close-to-end work is really visible to the eye and amazing to watch. I, as usual, got good updates from my go-to-guys Mike Ascherman and John Kotka. These guys are on top of things and keep things going smoothly. Liaison Mark Gollinger and I did a walk-through on Friday and our excitement continues to build, to see the progress quickly move forward. Later in this article I will make some comments about the Veteran's part of Stodden Park, that is undergoing some great restoration.

Construction Updates:

Community Center-Interior: The finishing -up work continues. All the soap dispensers, waste paper dispensers and bathroom accessories are complete. The Plumbers continue to work on getting the urinals and sinks installed. This will allow getting the water hooked up to them and the toilets. The rest of the missing doors came on site and were installed with the swingers and hardware. John said the Carpenters are about done in this building. The wallpaper is complete and adds a look of richness to the rooms that it's in. The big story going on is the Floor Installers, installing the flooring. This building, for the most part, is being turned over to them so they're unhindered in getting this flooring laid. When we walked through, on Friday, the floor installation of the large Physical Therapy Room was in progress. (Very labor intensive)

Exterior: Mike Ascherman is having the Siders working on the entry-way portion of this building this week. They now have their back-ordered material and the cement finishers are finished with their cement work in this area. This siding work should be completed within a couple of weeks and will make this building 100% sided.

Cottage #1: -Interior: All, except for about 6, of the resident-room doors are hung with door hardware in place. Door trim-out is happening at the same time. These doors are a beautiful heavy wood door and is another example of what's being built into this Flagship Veteran's Home, we're privileged to have in Southwest Montana. Collin's Painting is complete with their painting. The Sheetrock Tapers are done except for some fire taping in the Mechanical Room. John is expecting the trim package for the Coffered Ceiling/ etc. to arrive this week. This will have the Crown Molding as well as some hand railing and other trim. It's possible the Cabinet Guys from Great Falls will be starting to install Cabinets this week. Entryway had some minor Engineering changes that are now resolved, so that area should be finished up this week or next. The expectation is for the Community Center and This Cottage #1 to be complete by the end of September.

Cottage#2:—Interior: Cottage #2 & #3 are both on equal footing as far as both of them in the Construction Process. The seismograph T-Bar metal ceiling framework is in place with the Sheet-Rockers starting to install sheetrock. The electricians are putting their lighting wire and light holding fixtures in place before this sheetrock process starts. The Plumbers are continuing doing pipework and the Sheetmetal guys are working on trim-out on the ductwork. The FRD (Fiber Glass Reinforced Panels) were installed in the Janitor and Dryer Rooms.

Exterior: The Siders did a little pick-up work but not much going on here.

Cottage #3: —Interior: The Plumbing and Sheetmetal Mechanical rough-in work is ongoing. The seismograph T-Bar metal ceiling framework is getting sheet rocked once the electricians get their wiring and lighting fixture holders in place. The Sprinkler Guys were also doing work on the overhead sprinkler heads.

Exterior: The Siders have most of the trim and wainscoting in place and only have the portions that get the colored siding to do. Again the waiting for this material to be delivered is a factor.

Cottage #4:—Interior: Fire sprinkler rough-in continues. Everything is sheet rocked with the exception of the ceilings that get the seismograph T-Bar Metal Ceiling Framework. These will be installed once #2 & #3 are caught up. Plumbers are continuing on their piping and mechanical work. The insulating of the HVAC and Mechanical components continue as well as the control system components installation.

Exterior: Butte Glass got the their exterior glass installed, The Siders are moving well on the trim and wainscoting.

Cottage #5:—Interior: Some rough-in work with the Sheetmetal guys, Plumbers and Electricians. Until the other Cottages get further in the construction process, for each of them, this Cottage is somewhat on hold.

Exterior: The Siders have started putting the base flashing along the bottom of the exterior walls.

Electrical Vault Building is framed, with the 3M Vapor Barrier (Peel & Stick) Fabric installed and the blue insulation board put in place over that. The roof is completely finished, the Exterior door is hung with the door hardware installed. It is ready to be sided.

The Electricians are working on the site switch-gear. Electricity to the building, starting with the Community Center, isn't too far off.

R&K have finished the cement curbs and are getting ready to built forms for the sidewalks. Zemljak is prepping the sidewalk bases before these forms can be built. John Kotka told me that there will be a 5 ft wide sidewalk that will follow along the inside of the whole distance of the curbs. There will be a 10 ft. wide sidewalk from each building, that will connect to the 5 ft. sidewalk. Once the sidewalks are in and the driveways are graveled/paved (two weeks ?), Becker Landscaping can come on board and start the landscaping. The gates will be locked once this all starts, with entry taking place to the rear of the north property next to this Vet Home site. The drum-beat is getting louder as the finishing puzzle pieces are falling into place.

I'll close for now and again ask the you keep safe and keep others safe by following the masking and safe distancing requests our health officials recommend. I fully believe we'll beat this Covid-19 if we are patient and follow the guidelines. Until next time.
