James Lee Munday

James Lee Munday was born on September 15, 1931 in Sterling, Colorado to Lloyd and Roberta Munday.

He was raised by parents that grew up in the depression and dust bowl years in Colorado. This instilled a hard work ethic in James at a young age. When he was a boy, they moved several times until his family settled in Dillon, Montana to open the Munday Dairy. He would share stories of hand milking the cows twice a day and delivering the milk with the horses and wagon. The Munday family was always close and would work together.

After graduation from Beaverhead County High School in Dillon he became a Marine. He did a tour in the Korean War. He and his family were very proud of his time in the service.

After meeting the love of his life, James married Elaine Peterson in Lima, Montana. James and Elaine were married for 66 years. Together they worked the ranch, raising sheep and cattle. He and Elaine took pride in raising an exceptional hay crop.

James and Elaine were blessed with one daughter, Renea and four grandchildren Shanda (Clint) Broere, Perry (Tara) Detton, Serena (Jonathan) Martinell and Sara (Tadd) Nye. They also have 6 great grandchildren, Kassidy and Shaylee Broere, Cole and Mitchell Detton, Grace Martinell and Peyton Nye.

James helped form the Snowline Grazing Association in 1965 and was President for 14 years.

In 1991, James and Elaine moved from the ranch to make Dillon their home locating close to Renea and family. With this move they were able to spend time traveling to Arizona in the winter and a little more dancing which they both loved.

The Munday family enjoyed getting together to play games, tell jokes, and shoot a game of pool. He would always ask "What's the News?" with discussion time, and coffee.

Grandpa James would always enjoy seeing the grandkids with saying "Oh my goodness" and "Give me a goodbye squeeze."

James was preceded in death by his parents, Lloyd and Roberta Munday and sister Marlys (John) Ricks, Kelly Ricks (nephew) and sister Loydean (John) Piper.

James is survived by his wife Elaine, daughter Renea, and brother Russell (Sonja) Munday.

There will be a private family service with military honors.

Memorial Donations may be made to Barrett Memorial Hospice or the American Legion.

BEAVERS DOMINATE

The Beavers win 41-0 against the Butte Central Maroons Friday night in a quick game that went to a running clock because of the mercy rule.

It was a great night of football in Butte except for the visiting team not allowed fans. One game highlight was the back to back touchdowns in 14 seconds for the Beavs.

The Dreadful Road

Bryce Angell

My father and I set out for a day long trail ride. We loaded up ol' Stretch and Gill and tied em side by side.

Gill had been my trusted horse, a thirteen-year-old bay. It seemed I always knew his thoughts. At least in my own way.

Dad said he knew the road ahead. My gut tensed up with fears. I asked him when he'd been here last. He said, "Oh 'bout thirty years."

The road was narrow, ruts were deep, the trail, some ten feet wide. And to my left, a sudden drop! My fears I couldn't hide.

And then my father piped right up. "I think this ain't the road! Let's turn around, get out of here before we lose this load!"

Have you ever turned a rig like this? If not it's no disgrace. And would the road be wide enough to get us off this place?

'Twas a miracle, I turned us back, my twelve-point turn around. I only used a few cuss words. My father's, more profound.

I took some time and checked in back. How were the horses faring? Old Gill gave me his nasty look, his nostrils truly flaring.

I'm sure he said, "You're lost again! This happens way too often! I'd like to trade you in before I end up in a coffin!"

Well the clever man that I'd become put Gill back in his place. I said the words,"Glue factory." You should have seen his face.

We headed back the way we came, now uphill all the way. White bare knuckles gripped the wheel. What more would come this way?

Then my father spoke again. His timing seemed so odd. "Never turn your back on God. Don't turn your back on God."

'Twas a curious thing my father said, especially at this place. 'Cuz if we slid a bit downhill, we'd meet Him face to face!

It's plain to see our Maker shows some pity on his flock. Cuz we drove up top without a scratch. For sure, he's more than talk.

I kissed the ground and yelled out loud. "I'm glad to be alive!" My father shook his head and said, "How does that kid survive?"

Gill shot another look at me. Said, "Dude I think we're through. And if I get a choice again, next time it won't be you."

Labor Day Week-end

By MJ

Labor Day celebration this year was considerable different then past years. Covid-19 dampened the celebrations with the restrictions and regulations that were levied upon the events by Jaycees, Public Health Board, elected officials and others. Example: Restrictions were put on the parade participants, disallowing them to throw candy for safety reasons. You might say it 'rained on the kid's parade' as they were unable to get more than a few pieces of candy. Restrictions and regulations were imposed on the fair that made many changes on how the contestants would be able to participate.

It was a pleasing parade with many local entities recognized. Mother Nature cooled the temperature down to where a blanket or a winter coat over one's shoulders would have been welcome; however, the horses enjoyed the cool.

Parade: Political participants presented themselves in a confident manner, leaving out the ugly negativity we see in the Democratic and Republican ads every day. Can't the candidates just tell us the truth about their walk in D.C., the truth about their accomplishments that supports the people they were elected to represent, and forget about stabbing the opponent in the back to make themselves look good. All we want is the whole truth. Seems reality is impossible to come by in the pollical world.

Fewer spectators lined the streets this year. There were masks worn by some while social distancing was followed by others at parade, rodeo and other downtown events. People are aware of Covid-19 and it appears they are consciously working at being on the team for prevention.

Fewer people mean less dollars distributed amongst the business. The night crowds appeared to be smaller. The city did not have the Labor Day Bazaar in the depot park this year. There were only a couple requests made by traveling and local distributors to set up stands along Montana Street. This means less people staying in the motels, eating at restaurants, filling motor homes with gas…
Labor Day in Dillon did not support the economy like it has in past years; however, we were fortunate to be able to have had a fair, rodeo and parade.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: I have some news shared by a friend whose husband works for the USPS. Who is tired of the liberal media BS

1. Trump did NOT get rid of the former US Postmaster General ! She retired!
2. Trump did NOT appoint the NEW US Postmaster General! He was VOTED IN by the board of USPS Governors!
3. Processing plants have been shutting down and consolidating for YEARS NOW! And yes, part of that process involves dismantling equipment, which is most often reassigned to ANOTHER processing facility and utilized there! Some machines are dismantled and not reused because like anything else, they wear out and aren't worth rebuilding!
4. Yes, mailboxes in some areas are being removed. Why? Because mail volume in some aares has gone down, whereas in other areas, (like greater Seattle area),the mail volume has recently INCREASED! But this too has been going on for YEARS and as many as 14 to 16,000 mailboxes and 5,000 sorting machines were removed during the Obama administration. Was there outcry then? NO! And like Trump has NOTHING to do with the removal of mailboxes now, Obama had nothing to do with the mailboxes removed then!
5. The media LIES! The USPS processing plant in Everett, WA handled all of the regional mail from the south border of Snohomish County to the US/Canadian border. It closed in 2013 as part of a planned consolidation. True it was not initially to be the first plant to close in WA, but that's how it turned out. The media had a field day with it's closure and announced more than 300 employees would lose their jobs. How many employees ACTUALLY lost their jobs? ZERO!

6. The USPS is not in debt - at least not in the sense that almost all other large US businesses are not also. Does the USPS have loans? yes. Are they in default on those loans? No!

7. Is and has the USPS been losing money for more than a decade now? Yes, But not for the reason most people think, and certainly not for the reasons the media reports! The truth is, the Postal Service is not losing money because of Amazon or any other tech company or technological advance is society. It's losing money because in 2006, Congress passed a law forcing it to prepay its pensions AND HEALTH CARE BENEFITS for 75 years IN ADVANCE!!! NO OTHER corporation, whether in government or the private sector has to do this! The USPS has APPEALED this decision every year since during every administration and shift in Congres and it has never been repealed. This means the pensions and health care benefits for people who have yet to be hired or even BORN the USPS is required to pay and lock up every month IN ADVANCE! Who bills them? CONGRESS! And do they do so accurately? NO! Many times Congress has OVERCHARGED the USPS the monthly amount they are to pay. Has the USPS then EVER been REFUNDED the difference? NO! So, believe it or not, without this law, the Postal Service would be turning a PROFIT!

8. When the federal government allowed other businesses to handle the package business (DHL,FEDEX,UPS) these companies took the most profitable business and left the USPS with the least profitable - delivery to EVERY household in the U.S. and all US territories (including Puerto and Guam). Regardless of cost of delivery. Believe it or not the Havasupa tribe living on the floor of the Grand Canyon receives first class mail and packages via MULE. NO private company wanted this business...or any business @ .55to every door in America - no matter the distances between customers.

9.Trumps Treasury Department DID loan the USPS 10 BILLION DOLLARS at the end of this July. Why do they need it? In addition to reasons already mentioned above, they Corona Virus Pandemic has had a significant NEGATIVE effect.

10.TRUMP has TWICE said he WOULD IMMEDIATELY sign a STAND ALONE bill to provide even MORE funding, but the DEMOCRATS in CONGRESS will not present a bill that does not include many other stipulations such as: stimulus checks provided to Illegal Aliens, mandatory voting by mail nationwide, and bailouts for the blue states with cities that have been damaged by rioting.

11. Every major private package deliver service utilizes the infrastructure of the USPS somehow, someway on a DAILY basis! The private carriers simply do NOT have the capability of handling ALL their deliveries from END TO END without having The USPS help them out at some point! But the USPS is LIMITED by CONGRESS concerning the amount the USPS is allowed to charge these private carriers and they are getting one heck of a deal!

12This is perhaps the most unknown of all. The USPS is SELF-FUNDING! YES, that means it is NOT funded by U.S. Taxpayers! This has been true since the mid - 1980's! The USPS REVENUE is EARNED just like any other business via sales of products and services! Any money given to the USPS by the Federal Government is in the form of LOANS that it must payback! Are they low-interest Federal Loans? Yes! But why shouldn't they be?!!!

So no I don't believe the problems are TRUMP'S fault, NOPE! THE PROBLEM LIES SQUARELY WITH CONGRESS!!!! Maybe some extent to the Multiple Unions within the USPS that FIGHT WITH EACH OTHER, but each time one wins a grievance over another it is the USPS that has to pay for it.

Copied with permission from a postal employee. Thank You! Folks get your facts straight. Dillon will remember we were told our outgoing mail was going to go to Butte, then it went to Great Falls, then before we knew it Billings, yes were had some late charges during those changes and lost insurance checks, and had to pay some bills til before we knew it we had credit, but that was during the Obama administration. Government is always trying to help us, but it isn't always efficient.

Bonnye and Ted Ruttenbur
