2nd Beaverhead County Resident dies from COVID-19

Beaverhead County Health Public Health deeply regrets to report that another Beaverhead County resident has died from COVID-19 on November 5, 2020. The individual is a woman in her 80s who was hospitalized in a Beaverhead County facility. Public Health will not release the deceased's location of residence or death unless there is a public health reason to do so.

As of November 5th, at 5pm Beaverhead County has 331 total cases with 42 active and 2 confirmed deaths. There are currently 2 hospitalizations. For questions about COVID-19 please visit the DPPHS COVID-19 website or the CDC website. For your safety and the safety of the community, continue practicing social distancing, wearing a mask, staying home as often as possible, and performing frequent handwashing.

An Important Message from Dr. Greg Moore at Barrett Hospital & Health Care

Hello, Beaverhead County residents, students and friends. I'm Dr. Greg Moore, Chief Medical Officer and Emergency Department Medical Director at Barrett Hospital & HealthCare. We are currently facing a true healthcare crisis in the state of Montana, and here in Beaverhead County.

COVID-19 numbers have reached an all-time high. As of November 1st, there were over 9.2 million recorded cases of coronavirus in the United States, and over 233,000 deaths. In Montana, we've reached 33,500 cases, and over 375 deaths. Hospitals are also reaching critical capacities and starting to shut down elective services and sometimes essential services because of overcrowding and sick employees.

Unfortunately, there's a lot of misinformation on the Internet, as well as social media about coronavirus. Yes, there's a lot we don't know about COVID-19, however, there's a lot that we do know, and I'd like to share that with you.

COVID-19 is of the coronavirus family. It's an RNA virus, very similar to influenza, although it acts somewhat differently. It is spread by droplet infection. Droplet infections occur when you're talking, when you sneeze, when you cough. Small particles of saliva and or respiratory secretions are suspended in air and these contain viruses. If you walk by someone that's coughing and inhale the particles, you may get coronavirus. The particles usually travel about three to six feet before settling on surfaces. It can survive on surfaces, such as stainless steel and plastic for about three days, if you touch that surface, then touch your mouth or nose, you may get the virus. Symptoms start about three days after exposure. Some people don't have symptoms at all, which makes it difficult to diagnose this virus. Some people get very severe symptoms. Younger people in general usually do better. Older people or people with underlying disease seem to do worse.

Does the virus act like influenza? Somewhat, with symptoms of cough and fever and body aches. However, this virus causes an intense inflammatory response in our vessels, which in turn, causes small clots in our vessels that causes increased hypoxemia, or lack of oxygen. This hurts our organs in our body and can lead to eventually having a stroke and or heart disease. Many people recover from the virus. However, our more vulnerable population, people over 65, people with underlying heart disease, lung disease, cancer, diabetes, or obesity have a higher morbidity. People over 65 have a 90-times greater risk of dying from coronavirus. People over 85 have a 630-time greater risk of dying from coronavirus.

Can we treat this virus? Unlike influenza, which has a vaccine as well as drugs that can arrest the virus reproduction, coronavirus has a vaccine which has not been proven yet, and the drugs are still undetermined if they're helpful. There is some promising medication, such as Remdesivir, which seems to slow viral spread. We are also using Decadron to stop the inflammatory response.

What can you do to help us stop the spread of the virus? There's been a lot of controversy over masking, however, clinical trials are clear now that masking can help prevent spread about 60% to 75%. In addition, frequent handwashing will prevent transmission of this virus by touching surfaces and your hands. Social distancing (of 6 feet) means staying outside that risk of inhaling some of those droplet particles that are suspended in air. Also, avoid large gatherings which makes social distancing and handwashing almost impossible to maintain. In addition, if you are sick, please stay home and contact your primary care provider for advice on diagnosis as well as treatment.

Please help us protect our more vulnerable population which could be your parents or grandparents. Please help us protect our healthcare workers, so we can continue to provide the services you need for the maintaining of your health care. Please mask, maintain social distancing, and frequent hand washing to help us all lessen the spread of this virus.

Thank you.

Dillon Middle School News November 9-13, 2020

The lunch menu for the week is as follows: Today, Monday, we will enjoy spaghetti with meat sauce and a dinner roll. Tuesday, hot ham and cheese sandwiches will be served with fruit. Wednesday we will have early release at noon so only a grab and go breakfast will be served. On Thursday, we will enjoy hot dogs served with mac and cheese. And on Friday, sausage, egg and cheese breakfast sandwiches will be served with apple chips.

Red Ribbon Week was a great success and fun was had by all. Mr. Williams' first period class won the door decorating contest and enjoyed a pizza party with pizza from Stageline Pizza. We had over 10 entries in the poster contest. Both doors and posters were done around this year's theme: Be Happy, Be Brave, Be Drug Free. The first place winner in the poster contest was Olivia Hawley. The second place poster went to Angel Cervantes. Great job!! Well done to all our poster contest entrants and to each class that decorated a door. The judges had a very difficult time deciding the winners, because they were all so awesome. A big thank you to student council for all your hard work in preparing for Red Ribbon Week. It was a lot of fun for all the students and staff.

Boys' basketball is in full swing. Due to covid, players are only having limited games. However, when Dillon hosted Anaconda, 7A, and 8A came off with a win, while 7B and 8B narrowly lost. Then, the B teams traveled to Deer Lodge. All the players did well. Great job guys.

This week in boys' basketball, the teams will travel to Anaconda on Thursday, November 12. The bus leaves at 2:15 pm. The 7th grade will play at the Lincoln gym and the 8th grade will play at the Moodry gym. B teams begin at 4:00 pm, and A teams begin at 5:00 pm. Good luck players.

In girls' cross training this week, the members will participate in weights and cardio workouts. Seventh grade will participate on Tuesday and Friday. 8th grade will take their opportunity on Monday and Thursday. Great job to each young lady participating. One of this year's slogans is: You're only one workout away from a good mood. Keep up the good work.

This Friday, report cards for first quarter will be going home with students. Please feel free to call the school if you don't receive one.

HAVE YOU MAILED YOUR VETERANS DAY CARDS YET?

by Danny Tyree

Veterans Day parades? Veterans Day school essays? Veterans Day ceremonies on the courthouse lawn? Star-spangled Veterans Day memes on social media? Platitude-enhanced newspaper editorials?

Sure, I'm familiar with all those expressions of patriotism and appreciation; but until I stumbled across a certain article the other day, I had been blissfully ignorant of the widespread availability of Veterans Day CARDS.

Whether you use a preprinted card, customize an online template or create a unique masterpiece totally from scratch, this is an outstanding way to let our nation's defenders know they are not forgotten.

Speaking of store-bought cards, it's unfortunate that the Hallmark Channel is always already wall-to-wall Christmas movies even before the jack-o'-lantern is consigned to the compost heap. It would be heartwarming to have a week-and-a-half of early-November movies in which Candace Cameron Bure and other Hallmark stars find romance on the obstacle course or save the town ammunition depot from being replaced with a mall. ("I don't know about atheists in foxholes, but there's a chaplain in this one! It's military wedding time!")

I'm slowly sorting through a stack of correspondence between my late father and his mother from when draftee Dad was in the U.S. Army. (I'm sure the newspaper clippings and neighborhood gossip from Granny Tyree helped take the sting out of the "Dear John" letter he received.) Such mail between flesh and blood is a good starting point, but don't limit yourself to kinfolk.

Friends and neighbors who did a tour of duty should certainly be thanked for their sacrifice, whether it was last year or two generations ago. Total strangers being treated in a faraway VA hospital could also use the ray of sunshine provided by the gesture of a Veterans Day card.

And let's not forget active servicepeople and their families. When my mother talks about some hectic endeavor, she tends to use the phrase "dragged from pillar to post." And surely no one gets dragged around like military families. A sincere card would mean so much among the bills and junk mail.

Even a "value-priced" professional card can be the high point of someone's day, but challenge yourself to personalize your cards. Not everyone is a polished wordsmith (as I demonstrate on a weekly basis), but perhaps venturing out of your comfort zone will give you a slightly better rapport with those who face or faced constant danger.

"Diligence," "selfless," "resilience" and "greater purpose" are some of the recurring words used in Veterans Day cards; but I'll bet you could express your pride and appreciation even better with a more conversational tone and more intimate anecdotes. Be bawdy, be mushy, be vulnerable, be REAL.

IF you're going to be taking the personal route, why not go whole hog with the "Christmas letter" approach? (You know the sort of insufferable letter I'm talking about: page after page of humble-brag recitations of dream vacations, promotions and genius children.) Crow about all the things that are going right in your life – and after each and every one of them, pause to acknowledge that your freedom and achievements wouldn't be possible without the sacrifices of the military.

COVID-19 has hobbled many of the traditional ways of celebrating Veterans Day (including hugging a veteran), but 2020 might be a good time to become part of the new tradition of sending Veterans Day cards to our heroes.
