4th Beaverhead Co. Resident Dies from COVID-19

Beaverhead County Health Public Health deeply regrets to report that another Beaverhead County resident has died from COVID-19 on November 30, 2020. The individual is a man in his 70s who was hospitalized in a Missoula County facility. Public Health will not release the deceased's location of residence or death unless there is a public health reason to do so.

As of December 2nd, at 1pm, Beaverhead County has 914 total cases with 65 active, and 27 total hospitalizations with 4 currently hospitalized. For questions about COVID-19 please visit the DPPHS COVID-19 website or the CDC website. For your safety and the safety of the community, continue practicing social distancing, wearing a mask, staying home as often as possible, and performing frequent handwashing. Please consider no holiday gatherings such as company Christmas parties and limiting the number of people at home gatherings.

TREE BOARD SOLVING OVERHEAD PROBLEM

In anticipation of the replacement of damaged sidewalks in Jaycee Park in 2021, the City of Dillon will be taking this opportunity to remove the Canada Red Chokecherry trees in the south boulevard along Reeder Street.

These trees are slated for removal because they require continuous pruning to keep the branches from interfering with the overhead utility lines and the low hanging branches from hitting pedestrians and people enjoying the playground. These trees also have a propensity to send suckers and seedlings throughout the boulevard.

As part of this phase of Jaycee Park improvements, the boulevards with trees will have irrigation installed and sod laid. New trees, right for under utility lines, will be planted next spring in the Reeder Street boulevard to provide shade and beauty for years to come.

STREET CLOSED

Reeder Street between Washington Street and Idaho Street will be closed Friday for the removal of the trees on the south boulevard of Jaycee Park. Next spring it is anticipated that the current boulevards and sidewalks will be removed and replaced and new trees in the boulevards and new sidewalks throughout the park.

Guest Opinion: Why I supported the mask mandate

Several years ago, the federal government imposed a law prohibiting smoking in public places such as bars, restaurants, other buildings where the public has access. Since that time, cities or states have approved additional regulations protecting the entrances of public buildings with a 30-foot barrier where smoking is prohibited.

The point? To protect non-smokers from secondhand smoke. You see, the medical community, the CDC, and other health advocates determined non-smokers could be hurt or killed by smokers.

I'm sure there were some annoyed bar and restaurant owners as well as customers, but I do not believe there were public demonstrations, cries of tyranny, legal "experts" opining on the destruction of democracy due to no smoking laws etc.

Today, we are asking people in public, indoor buildings, to wear a face mask to slow the spread of COVID-19. As the City of Rapid City contemplated a legal mandate, the public comments flowed in by the hundreds, a number of them accusing us of being sheep, for being led to slaughter by those who would seek Socialism, some are decrying the pandemic as a global hoax, threats against the business community to stop shopping in any town that mandates masks, threats against the mayor, a world-class lobbying effort by the far right to stop this absolute travesty of democracy and the trampling of our personal freedoms.

The fact that masks slow the spread of disease is not a controversial issue within the medical and scientific community. A simple face covering will not filter a virus, but it will stop or reduce the respiratory droplets that come from speaking and breathing. The virus travels in these droplets. There is no question about this.

The point is this: the universal use of masks in public indoor spaces, will help prevent someone carrying the virus from transmitting it to those who are not. This scenario is not unlike the second-hand smoke scenario above. No one has the "right" to harm someone else.

There are plenty of instances where the government has intervened because of people making poor personal choices: drunk driving, drug use, sexual harassment, smoking in public, basic traffic laws, and the list goes on. Each and every one of those laws would be unnecessary if people could, in fact, be trusted to make good personal decisions.

This is the worst global pandemic in the last 100 years. Hundreds more South Dakotans will die before it's over. The argument that they are (only the) old, sick or weak lacks basic humanity. Asking you not to put a healthy person at risk, during a pandemic, is in no way tyranny.

There is reason to believe we may be on the down side of this pandemic. If we pull together as a community, as a state and as a nation, lives will be saved. The choice is ours, and the time is now.

Montana Western Student Profile: Brigid Reedy

Brigid Reedy is a freshman at the University of Montana Western double majoring in Natural Horsemanship and English.

Reedy grew up on a small ranch in the community of Waterloo, Mont., with her younger brother and parents. Since a young age, Reedy has had a passion for music and poetry and has been performing for nearly as long as she can remember. Featured at the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering in Elko, Nevada for the past seven years, Reedy has become a singular young voice representing her beloved home state of Montana.

"Brigid is credited in recent books by Aaron Parrett and Charlie Seeman as an important singer, songwriter, fiddler and poet carrying forward classic cowboy music and poetry and rich Montana fiddle traditions with her exceptional musicianship, distinctive approach to repertoire, and her strong sense of place. A natural and charismatic performer since the age of two, Brigid has traveled far beyond the hills of Montana to perform and share the stage with many personal heroes (of both music and poetry), bringing with her boundless enthusiasm, grace, passion and soul. Now nineteen, Brigid's writing draws considerably from her experience as a young woman coming of age in the contemporary rural West. This, combined with her timeless, eclectic taste in music and love of words, makes her a force in Western Americana music and poetry," Reedy's website states.

Reedy has been featured in an article from The Wall Street Journal titled "Cowboy Culture, Alive and Well" and appeared on the cover of "Alta" magazine. Reedy and her brother, Johnny, have recently released their newest CD titled "Next Go 'Round."

"Recorded in the historic Round Barn in Twin Bridges, Montana, Next Go 'Round highlights a unique sibling collaboration while showcasing the confluence of varied musical, cultural and traditional styles through their unique lens," Reedy states.

Double majoring in both Natural Horsemanship and English, Reedy says that she has enjoyed Montana Western's flexible Block program that allows her to take one course at a time and really dive into a study area while also being able to work on her writing and music. Currently, Reedy is participating in an independent study where she is learning leatherwork from master saddle-maker, George Holt, which Reedy has described as "like being in a poem."

After graduation, Reedy says she has plans for "more of everything," meaning she wants to continue performing, making music, writing poetry and staying connected with the people she's met on campus.
