Evon (Evan) Wellesley Huntsman, 79

Evon (Evan) Wellesley Huntsman, 79, passed away Friday, January 8, 2021, at Barrett Memorial Hospital surrounded by family, following an illness.

He was born May 10, 1941, in Idaho Falls, Idaho, to Evon V. and Florence M. Wellesley Huntsman. He was the oldest of five children.

Evan grew up in the Woodville area of Shelley, Idaho, attended school in Shelley until his family moved to the ranch at Armstead, Montana, on December 24, 1954. He graduated from 8th Grade at Armstead School and graduated from Beaverhead County High School in 1959 where he was active in FFA. Following graduation, he attended Ricks College for one quarter before needing to return to the ranch to help with calving. Huntsman Ranch provided the opportunity for Evan to devote his time and talents to become a lifelong rancher, where he was involved in all phases of ranching including cattle, irrigation and business.

On June 22, 1960, he married Jean L. Blake at Blackfoot, Idaho. They made their home on the ranch in Armstead, Montana. When the Clark Canyon Dam was built in 1964, the ranch moved to Dell, Montana.

Evan served many years on the board of directors for Water Users Irrigation and Red Rock Water & Sewer. He worked years to secure the water rights for the ranch.

Evan is survived by his wife, Jean Huntsman of Dell; children, Evan Eugene (Beverly) Huntsman of Boise, Idaho; Jan (Refugio) Cervantes of Idaho Falls, Idaho; Scott (Lori) Huntsman of Dell, Montana; and Brett (Michelle) Huntsman of Glasgow, Montana. Siblings, Sandy (Val) Prophet, of Dillon, Montana, and Billy (Bonnie) Huntsman of Dell, Montana, 13 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren and numerous niece and nephews.

He is preceded in death by one son, Ryan Lewis Huntsman; his parents Evon (Evan) and Florence Huntsman, his brother Rex Huntsman and his sister Judy Hazelbaker.

Funeral service will be at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, January 16, 2021, at Lima School Gymnasium. Funeral service will be broadcast via Zoom.

Interment will be in the Lima Cemetery in Lima, Montana. A viewing will be held from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Friday, January 15, 2021, at Brundage Funeral Home in Dillon, Montana. In lieu of flowers, Evan's family suggests donations be made to Barrett Hospital Foundation, Barrett Hospice and Home Health, Lima Ambulance, Lima Swimming Pool or a charity of your choice. In accordance with COVID guidelines, masks will be required at the viewing and the funeral service.

Tuesday Trivia

Be the Change 406 Coalition invites you to participate in this week's Tuesday Trivia!! You will have an opportunity to win a $20 gift certificate at a local business. Answers to the Tuesday Trivia Questions can be found somewhere in the body of the bordering Dillonite Daily local advertisements. Congratulations to last week's winner, Karen B. She is the recipient of a $20 gift certificate to Rattlesnake Creek Alpaca's!

Here is this week's Tuesday Trivia Question:

Stigma is a mark of disgrace that sets a person apart. When a person is labeled by their mental health condition, they are seen as part of a stereotyped group. Negative attitudes create prejudice, which leads to negative actions and discrimination. _____ out of four people with a mental health condition report that they have experienced stigma. Might we seek to understand others and offer our kindness and compassion to all.

If you want to play, please go to bethechange406.org and enter your name, location of the answer and a phone number. Entries are due by January 16th at midnight.

THE ROTARY CLUB OF DILLON

My Senior Moment

Bryce Angell

Getting old is not so bad. I just turned sixty four. And hopefully, with any luck, I'll have a few years more. But one thing that I've noticed is my mind forgets to think. I heard one older fellow say his brain was on the blink. It's called a "senior moment." Guess that's what most folks might say. Or a mental aberration could be what I had that day. We'd finished up our breakfast and poured water on the fire. Then we pulled our boots and hats on with the rest of our attire. And then we had to saddle up before our ride began. I'd put a saddle on a horse as much as any man. My horse was agitated. She just would not hold still. But I finally got the saddle on against that horse's will. I tied her to a cedar tree and took a look around. Two cowboys had been watching me but hadn't made a sound. I thought they both looked mystified. Was something on their mind? Then one of them spoke up and said, "I think you might be blind. "My Arab mare was missing, and you seem to be the source. I don't know if you realize you've saddled up my horse." Sure enough that cowboy's mare was wearing my old saddle. No wonder she was acting strange and putting up a battle. I must have turned bright crimson red. There was no use denying. I should have made a joke of it, but only stood there sighing. Both cowboys helped me saddle up, but no one said a word. And were those cowboys wondering if my mind was also blurred? I guess it doesn't matter that my seeing isn't clearer. As long as I still recognize that fellow in the mirror.

FWP AND PARTNERS RELEASE BIGHORN SHEEP IN LITTLE BELT MOUNTAINS

50 sheep translocated from herd in Missouri River Breaks

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks and partnering organizations and agencies captured and translocated bighorn sheep this month to an area of the Little Belt Mountains about 65 miles southeast of Great Falls.

Bighorn sheep, whose populations were once vast across the West, were extirpated from the Little Belts by the early 20th century. In the past 10 years, a few bighorn sheep have naturally returned to the mountain range, and although FWP biologists have documented lamb production there since 2015, they have been unable to verify more than six sheep at one time in the entire range.

The historical significance of wild sheep in the Little Belts is depicted by Native American pictographs along the Smith and Judith river drainages and observations from renowned Montana artist Charles M. Russell, who noted in the early 1880s that the area "swarmed with ... mountain sheep" and other wildlife.

On Dec. 17, FWP and partners released 50 bighorn sheep near these storied landmarks along the South Fork of the Judith River in the eastern Little Belts.

The sheep — five young rams and 45 ewes — were captured on the south banks of the Missouri River Breaks in bighorn sheep hunting district 482, an area with a productive sheep herd that has grown past population objectives.

During capture work, FWP staff and volunteers collected biological samples from the sheep and outfitted each animal with a GPS collar. These collars will provide real-time information that will help biologists monitor the sheep's movements, habitat use and survival for up to five years.

The capture and release were preceded by extensive public scoping, planning and habitat modeling that showed the Little Belts as having high-quality summer and winter ranges for sheep. FWP published an environmental assessment for the project in July, following guidelines described in the 2010 Montana Bighorn Sheep Conservation Strategy.

FWP expects to continue translocating bighorn sheep to areas within the Little Belts that are likely to support distinct herds of at least 125 sheep. Over time, there will likely be some connectivity between these herds, but only limited connectivity with existing herds outside the Little Belts.

Many organizations contributed to the success of this year's sheep restoration efforts in the Little Belts. Funding was donated by the National Wild Sheep Foundation, the Montana Wild Sheep Foundation, the Great Falls Chapter of Safari Club International, KUIU, Kenetrek and the Montana Bowhunters Association. FWP funds came from the Bighorn Sheep Auction License Fund. The project was also supported by private landowners including domestic sheep producers and members of the Montana Wool Growers Association, the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management.

"This project would not have been possible without the collaboration, financial support and volunteerism of landowners, NGOs, private companies and local volunteers," said FWP's area biologist, Jay Kolbe. "We appreciate all the partners who came together to help."

2021 MONTANA LEGISLATIVE UPDATE WEEK 1

BY REPRESENTATIVE TOM WELCH HD 72

The 67th Montana Legislature conveyed last Monday under extraordinary circumstances. Not only do Republicans hold every statewide office and also both chambers of the Legislature, but we begin our work with unified government under the cloud of the COVID 19 pandemic.

The Montana Legislature only meets for 90 days every other year so your Montana House hit the ground running on week one. As Legislators, our constituents sent us to Helena to achieve outcomes that help our Montana families and businesses succeed. I am working with others to:

- Protect Montana's checkbook by passing a balanced budget with efficiencies reflected
- Strengthen Montana's economy by making our State a better place to live, work, and do business
- Protect rights and individual freedom
- Guard Montana's outdoor heritage by taking action to preserve the Big Sky for generations to come
- Continue working to create reliable healthcare options by building a stable healthcare system that Montanans can count on long term
- Provide educational solutions for all Montana families by providing new educational options to students and parents to achieve individual success

As I have the past two Legislative sessions, I again serve on both the House Taxation Committee where I am Vice Chair and the House Human Services Committee.

I have already had Committee Hearings this past week on two of my Bills with more Hearings coming over the next 2-3 weeks. HB 38 which Provides Legislative Intent for Home and Community Based Service Waivers was heard in the Human Services Committee with Committee action expected soon. HB 52 which Revises Property Tax Reporting and Clarifying AUM Calculations was heard in the Tax Committee and quickly passed out to the House floor on a unanimous 18-0 Committee vote. At this time, I have another half a dozen Bills on a wide range of topics in various stages of the Legislative process.

I look forward to regularly updating you on current Legislative happenings. Thank you for the opportunity to serve. Stay safe.

Weekly Update from Helena.

By Senator Jeff Welborn

Not much to report this first week in the way of individual pieces of Legislation, as most committees are just getting into hearings.

I will be serving as Vice Chair of Senate Transportation and Highways, which meets Tuesday and Thursday afternoons starting at 3:00 PM, and where we are yet to have any bills presented, that will change this week as we get into the flow of work before us. Im also serving as Chairman of Senate Natural Resources, which meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, where we have already had hearings. I also serve on Senate Finance, panel that approves the budgets of DEQ, DNRC, Transportation and Fish & Game. We start our work on those budgets this week.

I have introduced one proposal so far, which seeks to streamline the regulatory process on permitting small gravel pits, angular rock quarries and decorative rock, under 15 acres in disturbed land mass, which are currently handled in the same manner as metal mines, large gravel pits etc. under the open pit mining laws. This will help reduce staff time, and make permitting of small operations that already meet all environmental criteria, to be turned around much more quickly.

I'd also like to talk about the process, and thank our Legislative staff for months of planning and untold hours of work, making it possible for you as members of the public, to have more options than ever before to testify in person, via Zoom, send in emails to all different committees, or upload documents to be entered into the record in an electronic format. Just go to: <https://leg.mt.gov/public-testimony/> click on link.

Contrary to earlier Media reports, we have also reached consensus as Republican Committee Chairs, to allow both the public, and fellow committee members, the opportunity to be able to participate in the most effective ways possible, due to social distancing, and health safety measures. To be clear, the public can testify in person, via Zoom or, telephone as long as you register online by Noon the day before any given proposal is introduced into the respective committee, or even email comments after the hearing up until the bill is deliberated over in executive action, again the link I provided earlier will walk you through the process.

I'd like to close by addressing the events of last week in our Nation's Capital, please understand, I do support our right to free speech and freedom to assemble, as inalienable rights. However it's a dark day In America, when any protest turns to violence and crime, even furthermore when defacing the Halls of Congress, one of the fundamental pillars of democracy.

As it really doesn't matter why it escalated to this point, or who was cheering these people on,

It was simply an unnecessary attack on our country, our process of government, and all the great leaders who have worked together for the good of our republic, despite political differences, throughout time.

This madness goes way beyond political divides, and only further tears the very fabric of what has always made the peaceful transition of power uniquely American.

Although it saddens me, as a Republican, a civilized human being, and above all an American, I remain confident that we will dust ourselves off as a Nation.

The 2020-21 holiday season is unlike any other before. Holidays are often challenging, but COVID-19 created a major upheaval for all of us. Here are some helpful tips & insights to use during this unpredictable time.

TOOLS TO REDUCE STRESS & ANXIETY

It's the new year but the pandemic isn't over yet. Limit or avoid news coverage if it causes you more stress & anxiety. Connect with others who may be experiencing stress about the pandemic. Keep stress under control by exercising, eating healthy, reading or trying relaxation techniques, such as yoga, mindfulness, or deep breathing. Focus on positive things in your life you can control.
