Montana Western Alumna Named AQHA Corporate Partner Manager

University of Montana Western alumna, Maegan Nahrgang, recently joined the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) as the new Corporate Partner Manager. Nahrgang was originally born in Dillon, Mont., but moved to Buckeye, Arizona at a young age where she grew up with her family. After graduating from high school, Nahrgang made the journey back to Montana to attend the University of Montana Western on a rodeo scholarship.

While at UMW, Nahrgang thrived as an athlete and student. She was one of seven athletes from the state of Montana to receive the 2012 Montana Athletes in Service Award for her dedication to community service. She also served as the UMW Student Senate Vice President and President as well as Rodeo Team Treasurer, and was a member of the University Council and the Radio Board.

Nahrgang graduated from UMW in 2014 with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. She went on to work with Bozeman Deaconess Hospital before she was offered a position by Montana Silversmiths (MTSS). MTSS is a belt buckle and jewelry manufacturer who hold a vast brand presence in the western retail and custom award industry and have produced the belt buckles for the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) as well as the AQHA World Show.

Nahrgang spent more than five years growing with the company in many different capacities, ranging from sales to becoming their Director of Brand Marketing.

"I am incredibly grateful for the time and opportunities MTSS provided me over the years and I feel very fortunate to have worked with some of the best in the industry," Nahrgang said.

Nahrgang began her role with the American Quarter Horse Association on October 29, 2020, when she was named the new Corporate Partner Manager. In this role, Nahrgang is managing all programs relating to AQHA's existing corporate partner program and works closely with marketing and business development teams to enhance existing partnerships and creatively cultivate new opportunities.

In a press release, AQHA Chief Marketing and Business Development Officer, Patty Tiberg, said "We are very excited to welcome Meagan to our team. Her experience with brand management, marketing and sales will be a great asset to add to our team to serve our corporate partners and, ultimately, AQHA members. Her background in the industry allows her to connect with members and partners alike."

Nahrgang credits Montana Western and Experience One for the guidance and skills that have allowed her to become successful in her professional career.

"The opportunity that Lola 'Olie' Else provided to me as a student-athlete was a major stepping stone in my future. As a young adult, I wasn't clear on what my future looked like at the time, but little did I know everything that I was doing was paving a way for me to my future success. UMW allowed me the opportunity to receive a quality education, gain one-on-one experiences, and hold leadership positions that I feel have been contributing factors to my success at a young age. Both of my parents, three older brothers, uncles, aunts and cousins all attended UMW so you could easily say being a Bulldog is in our blood and we owe a lot back to the university for providing our family many opportunities over the years," Nahrgang said.

Letter to the Editor

What kind of leader will Joe Biden become?

As a political independent who has supported national Democratic Party candidates such as Barack Obama, Hillary Clinton, and most recently Tulsi Gabbard, I raise this question.

In his inauguration speech, President Biden talked about "unity." If Biden is sincere, then here are three important first-step, unity actions.

(1) Voting Reform. Biden should support South Carolina U.S. Senator Tim Scott's call for a Commission on Election Integrity and Quality Assurance. Biden supporters who easily dismissed election fraud were grossly misinformed about the evidence from several states, which still has not been fully and accurately audited.

Imagine on election night if Biden had said: "Until all and only the legal ballots are counted, I will not accept the outcome tonight. It may take 30 days for us to discover and count only the legal ballots, but I am confident of my victory." Unfortunately, Biden did not show unity leadership on election night or in the following days.

(2) Russia Collusion Hoax. While we wait for special prosecutor John Durham's year-long inquiry ("investigating the investigators") into the four-year Russia Collusion Hoax, here is what we know to date. In 2015-2016, Hillary Clinton's campaign hired the law firm Perkins Cole and consulting firm Fusion GPS to produce a fake report (The Steele Dossier) that included fabrication of evidence by a Russian sub-source. Some top-level FBI agents and perhaps even the CIA were involved in the fabrication and promotion of the Steele Dossier. Biden should publicly address what we know to date, including condemning specifically the unethical and illegal FBI behavior in the Russia Collusion Hoax.

(3) Hunter Biden's China Connections. Currently, the IRS is investigating Joe Biden's son, Hunter Biden, about his China business dealings from 2008 to 2019. President Biden should announce publicly that he is requesting at least two Inspectors General investigate all the Biden Family Members' business dealings with China and Ukraine, dating back to 2008 when he was vice president.

Biden could begin the process of becoming a Unity Leadership President with these three action steps. But will he have the courage to do so? We shall see!

LANDOWNERS AND HUNTERS BENEFIT FROM 25 YEARS OF FWP'S BLOCK MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

2020 marked the 25th anniversary of Fish, Wildlife & Parks' Block Management Program.

This popular access program started locally across Montana in the mid-1980s. However, through HB195 in the 1995 Legislative Session, it created the program as it's formally known today starting with the 1996 hunting season. Block Management provides public hunting opportunities on private land across the state and has created positive working relationships among landowners and hunters.

Funding for Block Management comes from the sale of various licenses, including a portion of the resident and nonresident base hunting license, nonresident upland gamebird licenses, nonresident combination deer/elk licenses and chances sold in the Supertag license lottery.

For the 2020 hunting season, nearly 1,300 landowners enrolled about 7.2 million acres of land in the program.

FWP staff recently visited with landowners in the southeast, south central and northeast areas of Montana who have been involved with the Block Management program since its early days.

Senator Welborn's Weekly Review.

Among the constitutional duties of setting policy, passing, changing or repealing laws from statute, passing a balanced budget, giving all state agencies, including both K-12 and University System, their spending authority, we are also responsible confirming, or in rare instances denying the lion's share of appointments made by the Governor.

These include agency directors, i.e. Commerce, Human Services, FWP, DEQ, Transportation, etc. It also includes numerous boards and commissions, i.e. Livestock, Fish and Game, University Regents, Interim District Court Judgeships, among others. Also included, are advisory and professional boards boards, i.e. dentistry, engineers, outfitters, and the list goes on.

I make reference to this framework of checks and balances on public service appointees, made by our Governor, then ratified by the Senate, as set forth by our State Constitution, to share some perspective of the process, on how public policy is carried out, and how the vast talent pool of Montanans is tapped, to make our State a better place.

I will start with agency directors, I believe there are about 19 agencies in our state government structure, I will touch on about 6 that fall within my realm of both policy and budget areas of responsibility. Agriculture will be headed up by Mike Foster, Mike Honeycutt, Executive Officer of Dept. of Livestock. Dir. Hank Worsech, FWP, Dir. Amanda Kaster, DNRC, Dir. Mac Long, Transportation, and Dir. Chris Dorrington DEQ.

All are experienced, solid picks to run these agencies. I have first hand experience working with all of these folks, and feel they will be the right people to lead. I will serve as chief sponsor for the nominations of both Directors Kaster and Dorrington, which will both go through the Senate Natural Resource Committee. I will also be serving as Chair of Senate Transportation, for the confirmation hearing on director Long.

On a more local level, Governor Gianforte, has recommended Ray Gross to the Board of Professional Land Surveyors, and Russ Kipp State Parks and Rec
