Great Backyard Bird Count

Thursday Feb. 11 – Monday Feb. 15

Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park staff are pleased to start off our 2021 events by participating in the Great Backyard Bird Count. Launched in 1998 by the Cornell Lab of Ornithology and the National Audubon Society, the Great Backyard Bird Count needs people like you to reveal the "big picture" about what is happening to bird population numbers across the globe. It is a feat no team of scientists could hope to accomplish alone.

What began as the first online citizen-science project to collect data on wild birds now attracts more than 265,000 people of all ages and walks of life worldwide to join the four-day count each February. This is the fourth year Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park has participated. Last year the Great Backyard Bird Count had participants in almost 200 countries and counted more than 6,900 species of birds.

Come join us for a series of events in our largest birding event of the season. We will kick off the event with a short zoom talk covering what the Great Backyard Bird Count is, the importance of citizen-science projects, and tools like eBird from the Cornell Lab of Ornithology. In addition, throughout the event we will be encouraging birding within the park and providing guides and data recording methods for anyone that wishes to participate.

A maximum of 10 participants can also join park staff on Sunday, Feb. 14, for an approximately four-mile hike along the park road to the upper picnic area and back to see which birds call the park home this winter. Birders will meet at the Main Visitor Center near the park entrance at 10:30 a.m. The walk will last two to three hours, so dress for variable winter conditions, wear solid walking footwear and bring your binoculars. You may also want to bring a snack, water and a camera. Please do not bring dogs.

Whether you are an avid birder or a complete novice, your participation in this event will contribute to a global effort to create of an annual snapshot of the distribution and abundance of birds.

For more information call the park visitor center at (406) 287-3541. Or check out our Facebook page: Lewis and Clark Caverns State Park.

THANK YOU

To Sue Hansen and volunteers:
 I was really impressed with the clinic you had on Feb. 5th at the Keltz Arena. It was so well organized and everything went so smooth. From the ladies as we entered the campus to the help with parking to Marie the nurse who gave me one of the best shots I've ever had - the EMT's and fire department volunteers who checked on us after the inoculation.
Thank all of you

dART and Susie's "The Red Thread" exhibit

Meet the Artist Reception: Friday, February 12 6-8pm
 "One of the many reasons for opening Susie's was to unite community and form stronger connections with the people who live here" says owner Emily Wilson. Her vision of a place for people to gather, celebrate positive habits, and enjoy healthy snacks, teas and smoothies is being realized. People are gathering for exercise classes, live music and art exhibits in the spacious multi roomed setting.
 With Emily's goals in mind, former gallery owner and dART curator Clare Bailey approached her about an exhibit idea inspired by an old saying.
 "An invisible red thread connects those who are destined to meet, regardless of time, place or circumstance. The thread may stretch or tangle, but will never break."
 The exhibit will feature a red thread or band of red color running throughout to symbolize our connection to one another.
 Faye Maddox, one of the exhibiting artists summed up the feeling around this show perfectly.
 "I love that we are all tucked in our different walks of life creating something that unites us together!"
 Dillon, join us for a Valentines inspired art opening February 12th from 6-8. Come meet the Red Thread Artists as well as the crew at Susie's. Let's get connected this year regardless of time, place or circumstance. Who knows where a little red thread may lead...

Senator Welborn's Weekly Review

HELENA:

This past week saw the action ramp up a tick. In the Senate Resources committee, among other things, we took up the confirmation of DEQ Director Chris Dorrington. Mr. Dorrington was confirmed by the full Senate 50-0 and is now officially the new Director.

I also debated Senate Bill 104 before the full Senate this week.

It's a proposal that I was asked to introduce, by local Attorney Lori Harshbarger, who is Chair of the Family Law Section off the State Bar. This measure would allow the use of Arbitration in divorce and family law cases.

This gives families another tool to settle disputes, perhaps sidestepping having to take their disputes to District Court. This passed the Full Senate 50-0 and is waiting to be introduced in the House of Representatives.

HB 102, the highly publicized conceal & carry gun legislation, which has already passed the House, is being amended in the Senate to make Concert and Sporting venues or any where for that matter on College Campuses, that serves alcohol, or has metal detectors in use.

There are also changes being made to address concerns made by K-12 education, and State and local Governments.

I'm thinking with the proposed amendments, there will be the needed votes to pass the measure in the Senate, sending it to the Governor's desk for his signature.

Wrapping up this week's report, I'd like to recap Governor Gianforte's first State of the State address this past Thursday night.

We heard the Governor talk about his Montana Comeback Plan, which should deliver results. The plan addresses our immediate needs of getting the state's economy opened up, supporting small businesses and families, and meeting healthcare demands. After 16 years of Democrat leadership in the Governor's office, I'm happy join all GOP, and a handful of Democrat Senators, in working with Governor Gianforte, to make our shared policy goals a reality. Expanded healthcare and education opportunities, fewer taxes and regulations, better jobs, and greater individual liberty will drive Montana to a more prosperous future.

A Modern Fable

Two men of opposing political parties and an old patriot walked into a bar and sat down on socially distant stools. One man ordered a Bud Light, the other a Chardonnay, while the patriot ordered a Sarsaparilla because it tastes good, and the patriot could not recall anyone ever arguing while drinking one. One man wore a red baseball cap, the other wore sandals with socks. They eye-balled each other; both sneered. The patriot sat between them.

The old patriot noticed the tension and slid each a quarter. One was heads up, the other tails. The patriot asked the red-hatted man what he saw and liked on his quarter. He says, "George Washington, the Father of our country, who was a great man and the words 'In God We Trust'. That represents the country I love." The patriot asked the other man what he saw on his quarter. He replied, "The American eagle, a symbol of freedom, and the great Latin phrase 'E Pluribus Unum'. Those symbols represent the country I love."

Next the old patriot asked if they could do him a favor. "Why sure," they answered almost simultaneously, both surprised that they agreed on something so quickly. There are two songs on that jukebox over there that I would like to hear. My eyesight isn't so good, and my hands are a bit shaky. I'd like you to play B3 and put your quarter into the machine with George Washington facing the slot, and I'd like you, he said to the other, to put your coin with the eagle facing the slot and play D10. B3 was the Star Spangled Banner; D10 was America the Beautiful. Both men had tears in their eyes when they heard the songs. Then the patriot stood up and said, "How about you both shake hands like men and start acting like those American ideals in which you both profess to love. And somebody play C7, my favorite song by The Rolling Stones: You Can't Always Get What You Want."

Southwest Montana Veterans Home. Update #89

By Mike Lawson

Greeting once again to you the Veterans/Counties/Communities of SW MT who have been and are the organizers/supporters of this, our Southwest Montana Veterans Home.

In my world it seems that a lot is going on concerning Veterans concerns. It started a couple weeks ago, with going to Helena and testifying on HB14, concerning funding for covered walkways between our Cottages. The next was getting a call that concerned the graffiti painted on our Veteran's Amphitheater walls, at Stodden Park. It turns out that the two people who did this, through a tip to Crime Stoppers, were identified and the male questioned. The disturbing part of the whole situation, is they were both 14 yrs old. The male teenager had never been in trouble before and the police said without the Crime Stoppers Tip, they probably would not have connected him to this crime, as he wasn't on their radar. He did admit doing it to the police. His grandparents, who are raising him, were devastated and he was in tears. He has to go before a judge, admit to it and will have to do some type of retribution. I visited with his Juvenile Probation Officer about the retribution. Sounds like he'll have to work community hours until the damage is paid for. We discussed his visiting some of us veterans, doing some of his community service, helping veterans on some of their projects. Even though I and many of the local veterans were incensed and wanted justice served with the appropriate punishment administered. But in this case, a reconsideration is in order, that comes from the heart. In our teen years, we veterans, don't have to think too hard, to remember doing some foolish things we still regret. With that said and looking at this young man getting in trouble for the first time, we want to help get him on the right track. This is what Veterans do, we help others. Our hearts go out to this young man. He seems to regret his actions and turning him into a good citizen is a better alternative than turning our backs on him, with a cold heart. If you're a praying person, put this young man in your prayers.

I keep wanting the issue settled, that is keeping our Veteran Home from accepting the resident veterans, who will make this their home. It's frustrating, as some of these residents should have been admitted a month ago. Liaison Mark Gollinger said if there's a positive side to this, it's that the Eduro Staff are taking advantage of this delay by getting all the staff training, up to par for each of the particular requirements for this industry. He was saying, for example, the First Aid and CPR qualifications being updated, Nurses completing refreshing on their competencies and programs such as antibiotic stewardship. He also said some generous donations have been received from the local communities and people throughout Montana.

Concerning Our Vet Home and it's construction, I again thank Mike Aschman, John Kotka and my walk through guide, Mark Gollinger. Talking to them and the construction workers, as well as seeing what's going on, is so eye opening and appreciative. It's the base for this weekly construction progress update, from which you who read this Weekly, can have a good feel for what's going on every week. The excitement continues to build as more and more construction gets completed.

Construction/Operation Updates:

Community Center/Cottage #1; Construction completed with the Contractor Eduro, having both building Staffed. These Staff folks, have got things organized and are in a training mode, just anxiously awaiting for the Veterans to begin arriving.

Cottage #2—Interior: The big push is to get this Cottage completed, so lots going on here. The Carpenters are close to finishing the installation of the bathroom grab bars/towel bars/curtain rods/mirrors/ FF&E Dispensers. John also had a couple of guys putting the nail holes on the trim, with a matching color putty. All the doors/hardware/trim is completed.

The Tile Layers have finished up in this Cottage The initial taping/painting is finishing up and now doing a touch-up punch list. The Floor Layers are busy laying linoleum in the Resident Rooms, after having laid the kitchen and the dining room floors. Custom Cabinets installed counter tops in the Kitchen/Nurses Station/Medicine Room/ Resident Rooms. They also hung the kitchen swing half doors with new heavy duty hinges. Electricians continue doing the trim-out of lights/switches/outlets. The Plumbers are installing the toilets/sinks/shower heads/fixtures in all the resident bathrooms as well as the kitchen/spa area. All the Mechanical Controls are up and running to the Mechanical System and this Cottage is self-heating.

Cottage #3—Interior: Painters are painting all the resident bathroom ceilings with a white water-resistant epoxy paint. The bathroom walls between the ceiling and the top of the wall tile will be painted a different color of this water-resistant epoxy paint. John had a guy scrubbing/sanding the Mechanical/Janitor Rooms so they can be sealed. Cabinets hung the kitchen swinging half-doors with the heavy duty hinges. The Floor layers are about done and are part of the push to get Cottage #2 completed. Not really much left to do in this Cottage. The Floor Layers are mostly done in this Cottage and are concentrating on Cottage #2.

Exterior: The Siders sided the patio column and metal-sheathed the laminated roof support beam.

Cottage #4—Interior: Tapers are doing some finish-up taping. The painters have the 6 resident rooms on the East Wing painted. The walls are one color and the ceiling another. The bathroom walls/ceiling will get painted with the water resistant epoxy paint. The Plumbers were running gas pipe and working on zone valves.

Exterior: Columns were framed. The siders are working on the Columns and sheathing the laminated roof support beam.

Cottage #5—Interior: The Sheet-Rockers are sheet-rocking all the Resident Room ceilings and also the ceiling in the living room. Once the living room is sheet rocked, the carpenters can come in and frame the coffered ceilings.. All the inside of the exterior walls will be sheet-rocked and one side of the interior walls will be sheet-rocked. Then the open side can be insulated, after which, it will be sheet-rocked. The Sheetmetal guys installed the Air-Handlers in the Corridors. Fire-taping the corridors continues. The Fire Suppression Fitters are starting to install their system by running pipe and installing Springler-Heads.

Exterior: The Siders finished the Soffit/Facia and have the rain-gutters left, as well as siding the Front Entry-Columns. The Patio Columns and laminated roof-support beam will follow.

Maintenance/Receiving Building: The sheet-rock taping is in progress. Once that's done it will get painted. The Carpenters are hanging interior doors.. Once this is done the Electrician and Plumber can come in and complete their trim-out.

Outside: Because of the cold/snow, nothing is happening outside, other than the snow removal contractor, plowing and shoveling snow.

There's a good chance that most, if not all, the Resident Veterans coming into the SW MT VET Home, will have had their Covid-19 Vaccination. That would be a great thing. Hopefully all of you will be able to do the same. I get my 2nd one on Feb 12th which will be a relief. It's encouraging to see our Covid numbers coming down. Please be safe for not only yourself but especially your loved ones. Take care until next time.
