Trailer Home Fire

The Dillon Volunteer Fire Department responded to a trailer house fire on Chreston Lane off of Adams Lane on Monday likely caused by a wood stove. The people were able to get out but a couple animals were not able to escape. The trailer and a truck were destroyed by the fire. The fire department returned Tuesday morning to check on fire and mop up at the scene.

Hunting permit drawing results now available

The wait is over as the deer and elk permit drawing is complete, just 12 days after the application deadline.

With the new online application process adopted over the past two years, FWP can complete the drawing much faster than in years past. The wait used to take more than two months. Now it takes less than two weeks.

This year, hunters came out in record numbers to apply for permits and purchase licenses in advance of the April 1 deadline. More than 82,384 residents and 16,650 nonresidents applied for elk and deer permits. That's a 12.48 percent and 29.52 percent increase over last year, respectively.

And even though this year's wait time was much shorter than in years past, the new ExploreMT licensing system slated to be online in 2022 will allow for the application process to be even more customer friendly, and the drawing even quicker.

The growth in license sales and applicants also shows the value Montanans and visitors to our state place on hunting opportunities and the abundant wildlife resource FWP manages.

To get your drawing results. Visit fwp.mt.gov, click on "MyFWP Login" in the upper righthand corner, then click on "Lookup Draw Results, Register for Lists" tab on the left-hand menu, or login to your MyFWP account. You may also sign up for an account at fwp.mt.gov/MyFWP. Applicants may also call any FWP regional office or the licensing office at 406-444-2950.

Deadline reminders: The deadline to apply for moose, bighorn sheep, mountain goat and bison is Saturday, May 1; the deadline to apply for elk B, deer B, and antelope is Tuesday, June 1. All applications must be completed online or at an FWP office.

Montana Western Professor Publishes Essay on History of Commercial Whaling

University of Montana Western Professor of European History, Dr. Bill Janus, recently had an essay titled "Songs Whales Sing: The Peculiar History of Commercial Whaling" published in The Revelator, an online news and idea initiative of the Center for Biological Diversity.

The Revelator provides "editorially independent reporting, analysis and stories at the intersection of politics, conservation, art, culture, endangered species, climate change, economics and the future of wild species, wild places and the planet."

"Songs Whales Sing" is about the history of commercial whaling and how iconoclastic 1960s figures ultimately were able to put an end to commercial whaling.

Commercial whaling had "a bloody history, one emblazoned in many peoples' minds by the later image of Herman Melville's tortured Ahab relentlessly hunting the beleaguered Moby Dick," writes Janus. "But this semi-Romantic image of 19th century whalers silently sweeping across the globe on unfurled sails in search of profit and adventure belies a truth. The fact is that the decimation of whales occurred not in those days of the Industrial Revolution but in the mid-20th century. It was during the age of petroleum, not of kerosene, that whales were driven to near extinction."

But a group of unorthodox hippies stopped this slaughter. "With appeals to the heart, whales became a unifying symbol of not only a global environmental movement but also of a rejection of cultures of violence, war and death. It was a fleeting moment in time when traditional institutional hegemonies were vigorously questioned. By placing whales in the larger context of an antiestablishment appeal, commercial whaling effectively ended in 1986. Perhaps the whale's peculiar path to redemption offers a way forward for our planet."

To read Janus's "Songs Whales Sing: The Peculiar History of Commercial Whaling" in its entirety, please visit <https://therevelator.org/history-commercial-whaling/>. For more information, contact bill.janus@umwestern.edu.

Women's Volleyball National Championship

Frontier Conference regular season and conference tournament champion University of Providence and conference tournament runner-up Rocky Mountain College, will host opening round matches of the 2020 NAIA Women's Volleyball National Championship.

Providence (20-2) is ranked 15th in the nation and will host Olivet Nazarene University (Ill.) Saturday night at 7 p.m. in an opening round match. Olivet Nazarene, regular season and tournament champions of the Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference, received votes in the final poll but not enough to move into the top 25.

Providence will be making their third trip to the national tournament while ONU will be making their 12th appearance in the national championship.

Rocky Mountain (17-4) is hosting Bushnell University (Ore.) Saturday, Apr. 17. Rocky, ranked 20th, is making their seventh trip to the national championships. Bushnell, in the receiving votes category in the final regular season poll, is making their first trip to the national championships.

Due to Frontier Conference COVID-19 protocols, spectators will not be permitted in either gymnasium. Both matches will be streamed from each school's athletic website.

The action in Sioux City, Iowa starts with two days of pool play from April 27-28. The top team in each pool will advance to the elimination bracket on April 29, the semifinals will be played on April 30 and the national champion will be crowned May 1 with the first serve set for 7 p.m. CST on ESPN3.

Woman injured in Virginia City moose encounter

A woman was injured Friday evening in a surprise close encounter with a moose in Virginia City.

The 66-year-old woman was walking her dogs along Cover Street when a cow moose charged at her from a patch of willow trees nearby. The woman suffered a fractured wrist during the encounter.

A game warden with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks assessed the area and spoke with the woman, who said the cow moose was accompanied by a yearling calf. FWP staff will monitor moose activity in this area, but no further management action is planned at this time.

Moose are common in southwest Montana and can be defensive and dangerous in surprise close encounters with people. This is especially true of cow moose with calves. Keep these precautions in mind to avoid negative encounters with moose:

- Be aware of your surroundings and be especially careful around creeks and in areas with dense brush.
- Travel in groups whenever possible and make casual noise to alert animals to your presence.
- If you encounter a moose, give it lots of space and don't approach it. Always keep dogs under control.
- If a moose charges or chases you, take cover behind something solid, such as a tree.

Southwest Veteran's Home Update #99

By Mike Lawson

Greetings once again to you the Veterans/Counties/Communities of SW MT, who are the chief organizers and supporters of the SW MT Veteran's Home.

This past week was full of activities concerning our Veteran Home. One was with Sen Tester bringing the VA Secretary Denis Richard McDonough to Montana, on his first visit since being sworn in. They visited our SW MT Veteran's Home on Tuesday at 4:00 PM. Because of Covid-19 and the tight security, there were only about 25 people allowed in the Community Center's large meeting room, for a round table question and answer session.. This was mainly made up of SW MT Veteran Home Foundation members, a few Eduro Staff members as well as Staff of both the VA Sec and Sen Tester. Sec McDonough was very friendly, listened intently, his staff took notes. He didn't dodge any questions and responded to those of us who made statements about Veteran issues, that we were concerned about. We took him to the newly completed Cottage #2, where I was able to be his tour guide and explain the different aspects of this Cottage. I really have a good feeling about him and feel good things are coming for the veterans of America.

The next activity was Dave Williamson and I testifying for HB5 And HB14, before the Senate Committee hearing them. One dealt with "The Covered Walkways" between the Cottages and the other was concerning the possibility of getting Cottage #6, to become a reality. Both HB's didn't have anyone testifying against them. The Committee will have voted on them on Monday of this week.

I did a walk-through of the Cottages with Liaison Mark Gollinger, with John Kotka joining us. These walk-throughs really are eye opening and allow me to visit with the different crafts folks, doing their individual parts of the construction. Seeing the changes from week to week and having both these guys, along with Mike Ascherman, explain what's been done, what is expected to be done in the next week or so, and what it's going to take to get it done, is always an eye-opener.

Construction Updates:

Community Center, Cottages #1& #2, and the Receiving/Maintenance Building have all been turned over the state. Enduro has them staffed and are in control of them.

Cottage #3: The Painters are finishing their painting punch-list. The Cleaners are doing the final thorough cleaning. The Carpenters are finishing up on the FF&E package consisting of assembling carts for the laundry/medicine/meal/etc.. They also are assembling and hanging the resident bathroom shower curtains and setting up the garbage cans. This is about done and the expectation is that Cottage #3 will be turned over to the state, this week.

Cottage #4: Things are really moving along toward the finish line in this Cottage. The drywall taping is finished. The Painters have all the walls and ceilings painted. The Tile Layers have all the east-wing resident bathrooms tiled and are starting to do the same in the north-wing resident bathrooms. The Plumbers have finished installing the zone valves/ hot water lines/ gas lines. This week they have installed the hot water tank which finishes their work, in this Cottage. The Pipe Insulators are now insulating the piping. The Carpenters are building window/door jams and trimming out the windows/doors. The Electricians can now start trimming out the light-switches/outlets/etc.. The Flour-Layers are starting to put flooring in the resident rooms.

Cottage #5: The seismograph T-Bar metal ceiling framework in the resident bedrooms is completed. The Electricians are installing their light-cans in this framework as well as pulling wire to these ceiling lights. The Sprinkler Fitter is adjusting the sprinkler heads coming through this framework. The Sheet-rockers are following these guys and hanging the ceiling sheetrock. The Plumbers have all the domestic water lines run and are running hot water lines to the air exchangers. They are also running the gas-line. The Sheetmetal guys are installing metal duct work in the attic. The work in this Cottage is really moving at a good pace.

Another point of interest is the new Veterans CBOT Medical Center being under construction by Three Bears. It isn't far from our SW Montana Vet Home, to the north of us. The next step will be in getting the footing, inside the foundation, framed and poured with cement. Wayne Paffhausen, the owner/contractor, said that they expect to start framing the walls on May 1st. While this inside work is going on, Hoffman Excavating will be working on leveling the parking-lot with a bulldozer using laser technology to bring the parking-lot to the proper grade.

The Covid19 numbers are coming down with most of us having received our vaccines. With these numbers dropping, many of the Covid Restrictions, we've been living under, are being lifted. Getting back to a more normal way of living is refreshing, but masking and distancing from those we don't know, is still a cautionary recommendation. With the tourist season starting, it's especially important to use caution in keeping Montana's Covid numbers down.

ROAD SCHOLARS ARE NO ORDINARY TRAVELERS

At Road Scholar, we develop learning adventures for those who want a depth of perspective not found on standard travel excursions. Working with expert faculty, we create one-of-a-kind experiences.

Road Scholars are a diverse community of knowledge seekers and explorers, typically over the age of 50 from diverse cultural and professional backgrounds. They are solo travelers. They are couples—partners or friends. They are retirees and busy professionals. They are farmers and urbanites. Intellectuals and adventurers united in the belief that lifelong learning is a vital part of overall wellbeing. We believe in living life to the fullest at every age — by experiencing the world, and not just looking at it. By meeting new people, touching history where it happened and delving deep into the cultures and landscapes we explore. JOIN US IN EXPLORING OUR OWN BACKYARD.
