Jolene Kay Linscott, 58

Jolene Kay Linscott, 58, of Dillon passed away peacefully at home on Wednesday, June 16th, 2021.

Joe & Barbara (Rasmussen) Clemans & sister, Susan, welcomed her to the family on August 31st, 1962. She grew up in Wisdom and attended school there until high school, where she started at BCHS. Jolene always excelled in academics, winning many spelling bees. She was the Salutatorian of her graduating class. The highlight of high school was meeting her sweetheart, Jim. They were married on August 24th, 1985. She worked for Jack Boyd at his accounting firm until she left to help Jim run his business, Jim's Auto Body. They had two children, Amber & Tana, two of her greatest joys. Summers were always busy with family vacations & camping trips. In the fall, she'd be at home waiting to take the girls out to see what hunting trophies Jim would bring home. Winter might not have been her favorite, but Christmas time was. Every room in the house would be decorated from top to bottom and her favorite tradition would be a crockpot full of chili waiting at home after a day of Christmas tree hunting.

In 1999, their world was turned upside down with a diagnosis of brain cancer. She fought so hard and came out on top. Even in the recovery years, she was still a miracle. She would spend her days making way too many cookies, and the only thing that grew was her love for chocolate. She always had a stash of dark chocolate that no one dared to touch. She loved to read, so she would spend a lot of her days in her sun room with her feet kicked up, reading her favorite books. As the years passed, it was her turn to pass the torch of caregiver to her family, to be the one cared for. Jim & Tana spent the last few years taking care of her. She was blessed with so many people who loved and cared, and many friends who would stop in and say hello.

Jolene is survived by her husband of 35 years, Jim; sister, Susan (Phil) Thompson of Kennewick, WA; daughters Amber (Josh) Weekes of Helena, MT, & Tana (Mat) Hamilton of Dillon, MT; niece, Whitney Hottell of Kennewick, WA; three granddaughters Graycen, Lexi Jo, & Jocelyn Weekes.

Jolene is preceded in death by her parents, Joe & Barbara Clemans.

A service at Brundage Funeral Home will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 26th, followed by a graveside service at 2 p.m. at the Wisdom Cemetery. In lieu of flowers the family suggests memorials to Beaverhead County Home Health and Hospice.

Secretary Of State Christi Jacobsen Releases More Detailed Late Voter Registration Activities Report

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen unveiled a new, more detailed and accurate late voter registration activities report on Thursday. The modern, user-friendly platform provides a clearer picture of the state's late registration activities.

Secretary Jacobsen said "The new platform improves the ability to search the voter registration data and offers more definite and comprehensive information from the late registration period."

The updated report provides a breakdown of the total late registration activities by county and by election cycle dating back to the 2006 General Election.

The new late voter registration activities report can be found on the Secretary of State's website.

We'll Read Anything Book Club

Sheridan author, Dana Harvey will be the guest of the We'll Read Anything Book Club Friday, June 18th. The club will be discussing Harvey's book Completely Indeterminate at 6:30 at the Beaverhead Brewing Company.

The story is set in fictional Bedlam, Montana and follows Ben an eager Physician's Assistant as he hones in on his training. He faces trauma, disease, mental health issues all the while surrounded by quirky characters. Being a PA in Bedlam is not for the faint of heart. Medical protocols don't begin to cover the complexities Ben encounters.

Dana is a practicing Physician Assistant who has also served as an EMT, volunteer fireman and with the search and rescue. All are welcome to attend the discussion with the author. Please call The Bookstore at 683-6807 or the Dillon Public Library at 683-4454 if you have any questions.

FWP SEEKS INPUT ON PROPOSED BROWN TROUT FISHING REGULATION CHANGES ON SOME RIVERS

Due to public concern regarding brown trout declines in some popular rivers in southwest Montana, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is seeking public input on potential fishing regulation changes.

Studies conducted by FWP and the U.S. Geologic Survey suggest that flow is a primary limiting factor for many brown trout populations. Short-term trends have shown reduced numbers of small, juvenile brown trout in the Big Hole River, Ruby River, Boulder River (tributary to the Jefferson), Beaverhead River, upper Yellowstone River, Madison River, Shields River and upper Stillwater River (tributary to the Yellowstone). While the department will continue to address flow and habitat enhancement over the long-term, regulations may serve to reduce some population stressors over the short-term.

The regulation changes being considered include:

- Adopt seasonal fishing closure to protect spawning brown trout on some or all of the following rivers or sections of rivers and/or tributaries: Big Hole River, Ruby River, Boulder River (tributary to the Jefferson), Beaverhead River, upper Yellowstone River, Madison River, Shields River, and upper Stillwater River (tributary to the Yellowstone). This would adopt a seasonal fishing closure for all species from September 30 until the third Saturday in May to protect brown trout redds and reduce stress from angling.
- Catch and release fishing only for brown trout on some or all of the following rivers or sections of rivers and/or tributaries: Big Hole River, Ruby River, Boulder River (tributary to the Jefferson), Beaverhead River, upper Yellowstone River, Madison River, Shields River, and upper Stillwater River (tributary to the Yellowstone). No harvest for brown trout would be allowed year-round.
- Implement standing hoot-owl restrictions from July 1 – August 15 on some or all of the following rivers or sections of rivers and/or tributaries: Big Hole River, Ruby River, Boulder River (tributary to the Jefferson), Beaverhead River, upper Yellowstone River, Madison River, Shields River, and upper Stillwater River (tributary to the Yellowstone). This regulation would limit fishing pressure to the coolest part of the day (midnight to 2 p.m.) with no fishing allowed from 2 p.m. to midnight.

Caverns Friday Summer Speakers Series: 'Reptiles and Amphibians of Montana'

Enjoying the state's slithery and slimy inhabitants

Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park will host a free talk entitled "Reptiles and Amphibians of Montana" on Friday, June 25, at 8 p.m. in the park's campground amphitheater.

What is the difference between reptiles and amphibians? How many turtle species are native to Montana? Which snake has a pointy snout perfect for digging up toads? In this talk, you will dip your toes into the exciting world of herpetology and learn about the reptile and amphibian species that call Montana home.

This is the fifth presentation in Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park's annual Friday Summer Speakers Series, which introduces a new speaker each Friday at 8 p.m. throughout the summer.

About the speaker

Corie Rice is the program specialist at Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks' education center, Montana WILD. Corie studied organismal biology at Montana State University and has been working in outdoor education ever since she graduated in 2016. She will be presenting on Montana's reptiles and amphibians, some of her favorite types of species to encounter while out fishing, kayaking or hiking around her home in Helena.

Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park is about 15 miles southeast of Whitehall, along Montana Highway 2. For more information about the park, please visit stateparks.mt.gov/lewis-and-clark-caverns or call 406-287-3541.

Full fishing closure reinstated for portion of Ruby River

Low flows, high water temperatures reach closure criteria

A full fishing closure is in effect once again for a portion of the lower Ruby River due to low flows and high water temperatures.

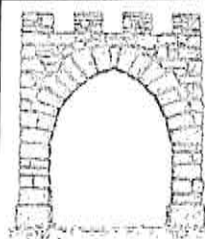

The closure extends about 14 miles, from the Duncan District Road crossing downstream to the confluence with the Beaverhead River. This is the second time this year a fishing closure has been implemented in this section of the Ruby River.

Flows in the Ruby River at a U.S. Geological Survey gauge near Twin Bridges dipped below 20 cubic feet per second on June 16, well below the fifth percentile of historic daily flows for that date, which is 45 cubic feet per second. Water temperatures also exceeded 73 degrees for three consecutive days from June 13 to 15.

These flow and temperature values meet the established criteria for closing this portion of the river to fishing. Low flows and high water temperatures have been driven primarily by very low snowpack, water supply and inflows to the river. Dry conditions are expected to continue throughout the summer.

Closures of this nature are designed to protect fish that become more susceptible to disease and mortality when conditions, such as low flows and high water temperatures, combine with additional stressors.

This is especially expedient this year as recent fish surveys found low numbers of trout in the lower Ruby River. Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks biologists estimate there are about 191 fish per mile at the upper end of the closure area, which has a long-term average of about 700 fish per mile. At the lower end, there are an estimated 31 fish per mile, compared to a long-term average of about 800 fish per mile.

"From a fisheries perspective, we're at historically low trout abundances in the lower Ruby," said Matt Jaeger, FWP's Hydropower, Native Species and Beaverhead-Ruby Program Manager. "So that, in combination with poor snowpack and low precipitation leading to low flows and high temperatures, is why we feel an angling closure is warranted."

Ruby River water users are also taking steps to keep flows above 20 cubic feet per second, in accordance with the Ruby Valley Users Drought Management Plan. Stored water users have taken a 15 percent reduction in allocated water, and decreed water users have taken a voluntary 10 percent reduction in allocated water, according to Bill Wood, the Dam Tender for the Ruby River Water Users Association.

The section of the Ruby River between Duncan District Road and the confluence with the Beaverhead River will remain closed to fishing until daily average flows exceed 40 cubic feet per second for seven consecutive days, or until Oct. 15, 2021.

Fish for free over Father's Day weekend

Escape the summer heat and enjoy a cool adventure over Father's Day weekend, when everyone in Montana can fish for free.

While anyone can fish without a license on June 19-20, all other fishing rules and regulations are in effect and must be followed.

All would-be anglers are encouraged to be aware of boating and water safety on Montana's rivers and streams. Additionally, those with watercraft of any kind must remember to stop at all AIS inspection stations.

For water and boating safety tips, click on the Recreation tab at fwp.mt.gov and choose your activity.

For information on AIS, including to locate your nearest inspection station, visit to www.cleandraindrymt.com
