Jaycee Demo Derby

As the sun sets, and the smoke clears on another night of entertainment brought to us by the Dillon Jaycees we bring you a few unofficial results:

Power wheels first place - Timmy Hazelwood, Stock Heat 1st #27 Monty Dodson, 2nd #307 Colten Mortson and 3rd #7X Gage Hoerning, Herbie Derby, Dolen (Son) and Dad and 1st Place was Chris Pottier, Main Event: 1st was Shane Creahey and he received the Mean Gene award, and the final Grudge Match with added $1500 purse was Justin Clark.

There were those who sat on the fence (log) and some that laid down on the job, but over all, no major injuries and a great night to have a drink and burger and enjoy being out.

Keep bird feeders clean or put them away for the summer

To prevent the spread of disease, such as salmonella, bird enthusiasts should consider either removing their bird feeders for the summer or cleaning the feeder regularly. Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks has received several phone calls recently about dead birds around feeders and birds with crusty eyes.

Birds don't need supplementary food in the summer. They typically eat naturally occurring food, such as insects, during this time of year when they are nesting and rearing their young.

If you suspect that you are seeing sick birds, or find dead birds around your feeders, please contact your local FWP office. Bird feeders should be removed in the event illness is observed. The ground under feeders should also be cleaned as droppings will contain the salmonella bacteria.

Even when there is no sign of disease, feeders should be cleaned and disinfected at least every other week, or even weekly. Prevent overcrowding by spreading feeders out or using feeders that only allow a few birds to visit at one time.

Cleaning feeders

Clean your feeders with warm, soapy water. Disinfect with a 10 percent bleach solution to kill bacteria. Rinse the feeder and allow it to dry completely before using it again. Disinfect your birdbaths as well.

Clean your bird feeding area by washing all structures holding your feeders and raking the ground surrounding the feeders.

If you have observed sick or dead birds, do not reinstall your feeders for a few weeks. As birds begin to migrate and cease traveling in flocks, it will be okay to put feeders back up.

If you find a dead bird, place it in a double plastic bag. Please keep the bird in a cool location (such as a cooler) until you've contacted FWP. FWP may want samples for testing. Wear gloves and wash hands thoroughly afterwards.

If you live in bear country, please consider placing feeders greater than 10 feet high, and more than 4 feet from nearby trees and bring them in at night or keep your feeders down for the active bear season. If bear activity is observed in the general vicinity of the feeder or your home, the feeder should be removed permanently.

Fires banned at FWP properties in Park County

Campfires will be banned until further notice at Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks properties in Park County beginning at 12:01 a.m. on Friday, June 25, due to high fire danger. This is consistent with Stage-1 fire restrictions being implemented by Park County, the Custer Gallatin National Forest and the Bureau of Land Management in this area due to warm, dry conditions.

Stage-1 restrictions ban campfires except where specifically exempted and allow smoking only in vehicles and areas 3 feet in diameter that are cleared of flammable materials. No exemptions are in place for campfires or charcoal grills on FWP properties in Park County. Gas or propane stoves that can be turned on and off are still allowed.

Fireworks are always prohibited at FWP sites.

These restrictions are also in place for the Dome Mountain Wildlife Management Area.

Fishing restriction in place for lower Madison River due to high temps

Hoot-owl enacted to reduce fish stress and mortality

A daily fishing restriction is in place, effective immediately, for the lower Madison River to reduce fish stress and mortality during high water temperatures.

The hoot-owl fishing restriction, which prohibits fishing each day between 2 p.m. and midnight, applies from the dam at Ennis Lake downstream to the Madison River's confluence with the Jefferson River at Missouri Headwaters State Park. Water temperatures in the lower Madison have exceeded 75 degrees each day since June 21, meeting the criteria for hoot-owl restrictions.

This restriction and its boundaries from Ennis dam to the confluence with the Jefferson River will be in place through the end of the lower Madison's permanent hoot-owl restriction, which is in effect each year from July 15 through Aug. 15.

FWP staff have expanded the hoot-owl restriction up to the dam due to whitefish and trout mortality observed last month between the dam and the Warm Springs Boat Launch. Testing of the dead fish found the mortality stemmed from irritated gills, but a causative agent was not determined.

FWP staff have received reports of brown trout with saprolegnia infections after the initial fish kill. Saprolegnia is a white, cotton-like fungus that can kill fish in certain conditions. Subsequent sampling efforts confirmed the presence of saprolegnia in several brown trout captured in Bear Trap Canyon. This also factored into the decision to expand the hoot-owl restriction.

Fisheries managers have also seen overall declines in brown trout numbers in the Madison River, where the brown trout population is estimated at 50 percent of the 20-year average.

Additional waters have seen low flows and high water temperatures recently because of low snowpack and little precipitation. A full fishing closure was established for the Ruby River on June 17 to protect fish during this season of stressful conditions.

Fishing restrictions, such as hoot-owl restrictions and full closures, are designed to protect fish that become more susceptible to disease and mortality when conditions, such as low flows and high water temperatures, combine with other stressors, including catch-and-release fishing.

All stress to fish at this time of year is cumulative, and anglers should consider fishing in cooler waters during times of low flows and high water temperatures in rivers. Anglers can help reduce stress for fish by following these practices when catching and releasing fish, though fish mortality may still occur:

- Fish during the coolest times of day, where permitted.
- Land the fish quickly.
- Wet your hands before handling the fish.
- Keep the fish in water as much as possible.
- Remove the hook gently. Using artificial lures with single and barbless hooks can make hook removal faster and easier.
- If the fish is hooked deeply, you may have to cut the line at the fish's mouth or consider keeping it if regulations allow.
- Let the fish recover before releasing it.

Secretary Of State Christi Jacobsen Reveals Montana Business Economic Report And Enhancement To Online Filing System

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen revealed the Montana Business Economic Report on Friday. For the first time, this modern, user-friendly reporting portal will provide valuable data about key indicators of economic health in Montana.

The Montana Business Economic Report offers an in-depth look at Montana's business landscape over the last decade. It provides detailed information such as the total number of active businesses each year, the number of new businesses registered each year, and a heat map highlighting where new businesses are being created in Montana.

"I'm thrilled to unveil our Montana Business Economic Report," said Secretary Jacobsen. "It continues our trend of updating our platforms to provide meaningful information to Montanans. This new report will allow business owners to follow trends and make comparisons year over year."

"The report also highlights the first six months of 2021, which shows a significant increase in new businesses starting in Montana," Secretary Jacobsen added. "Montana is on the right track."

The new Montana Business Economic Report, which will be updated annually, can be found on the Secretary of State's website.

The Business Services Division also launched a new shopping cart feature to the online filing system, which allows customers to file and pay for multiple documents in one transaction.

National Conference: Of Horse, Human and Nature Presented by MCH and UMW

The Montana Center for Horsemanship, in partnership with the University of Montana Western, is hosting the first national Natural Horsemanship conference, Of Horse, Human and Nature, September 9-11, 2021. This public event is focused on Natural Horsemanship education in the 21st century.

This conference will bring to the Beaverhead/Dillon community, the state, and the region, leading speakers, presenters, and experts in the equine arena – individuals renowned in their fields, dedicated to education and the relationship between horse and human. We hope it will be an economic boost to our community and to the region, promoting education and the many facets, career directions, economic, social, and cultural benefits of natural horsemanship, ranching, outdoor recreation, and the equine industry.

The EQUUS International Film Festival, which features professionally judged, award-winning films and works-in-progress will be incorporated into the conference this year. Many of the filmmakers and screenwriters will present and share backstories of their films. EIFF was established in 2011 as one of the first all-equine film festivals in the world. Its mission is education and inspiration to advance the well-being and welfare of the horse and to promote the horse-human relationship. Filmmakers and the principals of some films will be attending from around the world.

In collaboration with the University of Montana Western, special discounted registration fees for faculty and students of UMW as well as other educational and youth institutions are available. Visit the link below to learn more, register, and purchase tickets:
