Firefighting needs could lead to the closure of lower Holter Reservoir

The lower end of Holter Reservoir may be closed this week to allow fire-fighting resources access to the water.

The public should be aware that if a closure is implemented, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks wardens, along with other law enforcement agencies, will be contacting boaters and other recreationists using the reservoir to leave immediately. Boating activities will be restricted from all private and public launch sites and boaters will not be allowed to travel on the water once the closure is initiated.

Additionally, FWP and other agencies will post closure signs at their sights around the waterbody alerting the public to the closure.

The potential closure would be in effect from Log Gulch Campground to Holter Dam. This closure would allow firefighting planes to safely fill from the reservoir. The Gates of the Mountains area and the upper reservoir would still be open to recreation.

The fire resources are ordered to support efforts on the Harris Mountain Fire, southeast of Cascade.

Senior Commodity Boxes

Senior Commodity Boxes will be available for pick up Saturday July 31, 2021, from 9:00-10:00 at 761 Kentucky Ave. Dillon. Please bring an empty box or two. If you didn't receive one last month, please call Russ Schwandt at 498.1753 to sign up or for any additional questions.

Montana Western Team Places First at Road to the Horse Collegiate Colt Starting Challenge

Top collegiate horsemanship teams competing in the Days of '47 Rodeo and Road to the Horse Collegiate Colt Starting Challenge held on July 23rd and 24th at the Salt Lake County Equestrian Park & Event Center in South Jordan, Utah exhibited exceptional horsemanship, hard work, determination and skill that was truly a testament to each program.

Teams from the University of Montana Western, Casper College and Utah Valley University each started a colt from the Diamond-McNabb Ranch Horse Remuda in a close competition that came down to the final obstacle course.

"There is no better way to create a legacy, than to invest in the future," states Morris Equine Group President, Tina Battock. "To watch these talented collegiate teams, navigate their way through this challenge was truly an honor, their talent and conduct were a testament to the colleges they represent."

Teams competed for $30,000 in scholarships as well as for additional prizes provided by YETI, Platinum Performance, Espana Silk Grooming Products, Show FresH2O™, Western Legacy, Impact Gel Saddle Pads, Gist Silversmiths, and the Mustang Heritage Foundation.

Notably, the University of Montana Western, comprised of team members Katie Ross, James Ramirez and Jacob Christenson and coached by Eric Hoffmann, the Director of Horsemanship and Head Horsemanship Instructor at the Montana Center for Horsemanship and the University of Montana Western, claimed the top spot, earning $15,000 in scholarship money. The University of Montana Western selected the winning bay colt named Playguns Little Cash, sired by Playgun Will Travel and out of Miss Cut N Cash.

Road to the Horse judges Jeff Williams, Ken McNabb and Wade Black scored the teams in different categories that tested the students' standards of horsemanship while gentling the colt selected by their respective team. In addition to participating in the colt starting challenge, students and spectators enjoyed educational clinics from Wade Black and Ken McNabb.

"Winning the Collegiate Colt Starting Challenge means the world to us as a team. It showed us that working together as a team and believing in one another enables us to achieve anything when we put our mind to it," Coach Hoffmann said. "The ability to bring this win back to the University of Montana Western will mean so much to the University, the Natural Horsemanship Program and the community. It's not just a win for the team, but for everyone who has worked so hard for the program over the

Coach Hoffmann expounded on his overall thoughts of the Days of '47 and Road to the Horse Collegiate Colt Starting Challenge.

"This event exceeded our expectations and proved to be very professional and educational for all who were involved," Coach Hoffmann continued. "We will cherish the experiences that we had with the other teams, judges and Road to the Horse crew for the rest of our lives."

In addition, Coach Hoffmann stressed the importance of an event of this nature for collegiate students, as well as for the horse industry.

"The future of horsemanship and education lies in the future generations of horsemen and horsewomen," he imparted. "This event brings these aspects to the forefront of the horse industry. As an industry, we need these educational events to secure the quality of horsemanship, not just for the future of our youth, but for the future of the horse."

The Casper College horsemanship team, comprised of Carson Johnson, Ty Christensen and Beau Rees and coached by Sandy Bob Forbes, the Assistant Rodeo Coach at Casper College, placed second. Casper College selected a bay colt with a star named DLL Curiously Catty by DM High Brow Prince and out of Curiosly Trashy and took home $10,000 in scholarship money.

Utah Valley University, comprised of Hayden Boren and Brett Olsen and coached by Whittney Dansie, Assistant Coach of the Utah Valley Rodeo Team, placed third. Utah Valley University selected a bay roan colt named DLL Shutup N Dance by Playgun Will Travel and out of Starlight Dance and earned $5,000 in scholarship money.
