John Schuyler

The radio station sadly announced yesterday the passing of John Schuyler.
Arrangements are pending.

Nettie H. (Felton) Welborn

Born, January 2, 1928, to Montana Pioneers, at Bears Paw, in Rural Blaine County, and entered into rest October 21, 2021, in Bozeman Montana. During her lifetime, she lived in Havre, Pompey's Pillar, Terry, Nibbe, Sheridan, Dell, Lima and finally retiring to Dillon. She was all things Montana, and prideful of the fact that she was a "Montana Native." She was always a giver, who's home & more specifically her dinner table, was a welcome place to family, friends, ranch hands, neighbors, or anyone that showed up any time of day or night. She never had a bad word to say, nor ever engaged in the negative, regardless of the moment. She always powered through any situation, with a smile on her face. Just like her parents Robert & Stella, she met on the level, parted on the square, and was always fair and honest in her dealings. She was humble, smart, perceptive, could think on her feet, always remained calm in any situation, and always shared sage advice, but only when asked. After graduating from high school in 1946, she attended both Northern Montana College, and later obtaining her bachelors degree, in elementary education, from Eastern Montana College. She then taught school in Terry Montana, and at the Keller, a country school, which was near the first farming and ranch operation, that together, she, and her husband Dean, built over the next 48 years, until his passing in 2001, and then continued until the end. One of her great joys in her later years, was watching the crops grow, cattle and wildlife forage, and the machinery working in her fields. She always allowed access to respectful hunters and anglers, and was a Charter Block Management Cooperator, recently receiving her 25 year gate sign from FWP.

She was also an engaged member of the Montana Farm Bureau Federation, for over 60 years. She also enjoyed her time spent as an election judge, Sunday school teacher, with her Eastern Star peers, and with her dear friends in in the Dell Home Demonstration Club.

She is survived by her Brother Ted Solomon, children, Sheryl Tremis (Bob), Corinne Welborn, Bob Welborn (Jill), Mona Welborn, and Jeff Welborn (Marni Fifield); grandchildren, Rachel, Becky, Guy, Chad, Miranda, Brant, Cymbree, Kash and Wyatt; along with six great grandchildren,

UMW Hosts "Much Ado About Nothing" by Montana Shakespeare in the Parks

The University of Montana Western is pleased to present "Much Ado About Nothing" by Montana Shakespeare in the Parks, on Tuesday, November 2, at 1:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the Beier Auditorium. The show is the second production in this year's Performing Arts Series, sponsored by Dillon's Bank of Commerce.

Directed by Melanie Keller for the 29th season of Shakespeare in the Schools, the company's educational outreach tour, the play will be presented in 47 different communities this fall throughout Montana and northern Wyoming.

"Much ado about nothing" means a great deal of fuss over a thing of little importance, and in Shakespeare's comedy this insignificant little thing is . . . love! Miscommunications and secrets, hidden feelings and identities, puffed-up vanity and even malicious lies contribute to the characters' confusions over who adores whom, who's telling the truth, and whose loves and friendships are genuine. Much Ado is one of Shakespeare's most frequently performed plays.

Both of the performances will be followed by talk-back

AG Knudsen Issues Further Legal Guidance on the Biden Vaccine Mandate for Federal Contractors

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen issued legal guidance today on the status of the Biden administration's federal vaccine mandate for federal contractors. Today's guidance follows Attorney General Knudsen's initial guidance issued earlier this month to help Montana workers understand their rights.

Biden's claims in his September 9 speech that federal contractors will be subject to mandatory vaccination requirements for their workforce were misleading. The administration's Executive Order 14042 is directed at federal agencies – not federal contractors – and plainly states that the order only applies to new federal contracts or agreements or renewals of existing ones.

"By the plain language of the President's Executive Order, there is no vaccination requirement imposed on existing federal contractors. It does not, and cannot, require federal contractors with existing agreements with the federal government to discriminate against their employees based on vaccination status," Knudsen's guidance states. "If the federal government has not executed a new contract with a federal contractor, then the President's Executive Order simply does not apply. In such an instance, Montana law applies, and discrimination based on vaccination status is illegal."

The Biden Executive Order also does not apply to federal grants, Indian tribes under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, contracts or subcontracts whose value is equal to or less than the simplified acquisition threshold, or subcontracts solely for the provision of products.

Anyone suffering discrimination by an employer based on their vaccination status should contact the Montana Human Rights Bureau at 406-444-2884. A formal complaint must be filed with the Bureau within 180 days of the alleged discriminatory action.

Attorney General Knudsen continues to fight two lawsuits challenging the new state anti-discrimination law established by House Bill 702. Last week, he for the dismissal of a meritless lawsuit against Montana's vaccine passport ban. House Bill 702 remains the law in Montana.

Immediately following Biden's September 9 speech, Attorney General Knudsen announced he would file a lawsuit when the federal rule was issued. Additionally, he and 23 other state attorneys general warned Biden that this "disastrous and counterproductive" mandate would only drive more Americans from the job market, further burdening the health care system and the economy.
