Bookstore celebrates Local author Jessica Kidd

Dillon novelist, Jessica Kidd will be at The Bookstore during Shop Small Saturday. She will be signing copies of her novel, The Widow of Waterford, on November 27th from 1:00-3:00.

For nearly a decade, Vivian Reed dealt with the condescension of her arrogant English husband. Now with his passing Vivian is finally free to return home to her beloved Ireland. Through her years away from them, the information she received from her family portrayed a life that remained unchanged. So she is shocked when she finds things drastically altered at home. Her once-devoted brother treats her like an uninvited stranger in his house, her father's health is deteriorating, and the family's financial situation has become bleak. With problem's mounting and tempers running high everyone is looking to Vivian to provide the solutions. Everyone except Sean.

Sean Kade came to Ireland to escape the mistakes of his past, determined that he will turn over a new leaf. But when those mistakes find him they threaten to consume Vivian as well. Sean has to decide if he is willing to risk everything he has built to save Vivian, the woman he has come to love. Sean and Vivian must work together if they want to free themselves from the struggles that keep them and their loved ones bound. But will they have to sacrifice their own happiness to do so?

Debut novelist, Jessica Kidd, knows that all good stories end in a marriage of true love. Which is why her first novel, The Widow of Waterford, is a romance.

When not trying to play matchmaker between her imaginary friends, Jessica is chasing around her husband, five children, the dog, and nine chickens. The cats are too dignified to join in the chasing. Jessica loves to read to her kids, other people's kids, and force all her friends to read kissing books.

Please join us Saturday, November 27th. Call 683-6807 if you have any questions or would like to reserve a copy to Widow at Waterford

reported by: 406mtsports.com

Andersen is the 2021 Big Sky defensive player of the year, the Big Sky announced Tuesday. The senior from Dillon is the eighth Bobcat to win the award and the first since defensive end Brad Daly in 2013.

"His impact over his time here has been all over the place. It's been on offense, it's been on defense, it's been on special teams, but this year what we tasked him with is playing a new position in a new space and he took it and ran with it," said MSU first-year head coach Brent Vigen, via MSU Athletics.

Andersen finished the regular season with 111 tackles (57 solo), 9 ½ tackles for loss, two sacks, two interceptions, seven pass breakups and a fumble recovery. He returned one of his INTs, on Sept. 18 against San Diego, for a touchdown.

He is a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award, given to the top defensive player in the FCS, and for the William V. Campbell Award, aka the "Academic Heisman."

Andersen also played linebacker in 2017 as a freshman and in 2019, although he appeared on offense a heavy amount in both seasons.

He rushed for 515 yards and five TDs on 90 carries (5.72 yards per carry) at running back in 2017, including 64 yards and two TDs on 10 carries in a 31-23 win over rival Montana. He also caught five passes for 46 yards and one score (a 43-yard TD against Idaho State) and had nine tackles and a sack that season. He was named the Big Sky freshman of the year.

Andersen switched to quarterback in 2018 and received first-team All-Big Sky and third-team All-America honors. He set MSU single-season records for rushing touchdowns (21), yards per carry (6.85), 100-yard rushing games (nine), consecutive 100-yard rushing games (six) and points (128). He helped the Cats overcome a 22-point deficit and earn a 29-25 win at Montana in that season's Brawl of the Wild. Andersen finished the season with 1,412 rushing yards (third-most in program history), and he passed for 1,195 yards with three TDs, seven INTs and a 55.3% completion rate. He also had a 32-yard catch.

Andersen primarily played linebacker in 2019 and made the All-America and All-Big Sky first teams despite missing the final three games with a knee injury that required surgery. He tallied 54 tackles (39 solo), 11 ½ tackles for loss, 6 ½ sacks, one INT and five PBUs. On offense, he rushed for 336 yards and seven TDs on 49 carries (6.86 ypc) and completed both of his passes for five yards.

Andersen lined up twice in the backfield in Saturday's 29-10 loss at Montana. Otherwise, he spent the season on defense.

The No. 7-ranked Cats (9-2, 7-1 Big Sky) received the eighth seed and a first-round bye in the FCS playoffs. They will host either No. 12 Missouri State or No. 16 UT Martin at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 4.

Twelve Bulldogs Land Spots on All-Conference Teams

Frontier Conference commissioner Kent Paulson announced the 2021 all-conference football teams and NAIA Champions of Character. The teams are chosen in voting by the league's coaches. Twelve Bulldogs were among those to receive honors.

The following players were selected as 2021 First Team All-Conference Offense: Jon Jund, Reese Neville, Nate Simkins, and Noah Danielson. Trey Mounts and Hunter Severson were selected for Second Team All-Conference Offense. Joe Caicedo and LaTrell McCutcheon were honored as First Team All-Conference Defense, while Tanner Harrell and Kyle Schulte were landed a spot on the second team. Trey Mounts and Joseph Lema received honors for special teams, first team and second team, respectively. Jamison Hermanson is Montana Western's NAIA Champion of Character.

"It's a great honor to be picked all-conference," coach Ryan Nourse said. "I'm proud of all the selections—these guys worked hard and earned this recognition. They have represented UMW well, on and off the field."

Jon Jund, a junior quarterback from Spring Creek, Nev., received two additional honors—Offensive Player of the Year and the Frontier Conference's nomination for the NAIA Player of the Year. Jund led the conference in passing in overall play, both in yards per game (254.6) and number of touchdowns (33); with 33 passed touchdowns, he tied the Montana Western program record for single-season touchdowns (passing), last set in 1994 by Jason Truman. In league play, Jund led the Frontier Conference in the following categories: completions (192), yards (2594), yards per game (259.4), touchdowns (27), and pass efficiency (149.5). In 2019, Jund was a second team selection.

Reese Neville—junior running back from Yerington, Nev.— was second in the conference for rushing yards (955), rushing yards per game (86.8), yards per rush (5.3), and rushing touchdowns (10). In conference play, Neville was first for yards per rush (5.6).

Senior wide receiver from Dillon, Nate Simkins, was the top in all receiving statistical categories for the conference, with the exception of yards per catch. He tallied 83 receptions, 1,122 receiving yards, 93.5 receiving yards per game, and 16 touchdowns in overall play this season. In addition, he holds five Montana Western program records: single-season passes caught (83), career passes caught (222), single-season touchdown receptions (16), career touchdown receptions (39), and total touchdowns (39). Simkins was a 2019 second team selection.
