AS ICE RECREATION SEASON BEGINS, ANGLERS, OTHERS ENCOURAGED TO PRACTICE SAFETY

It's that time of year when ice anglers and other recreationists head out to Montana's "hard" waters for the winter season.

Whether ice fishing, ice skating, hunting, snowmobiling or just taking a walk, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks staff reminds recreationists that safety should be the number one concern during a day out on (or near) the ice.

And when on the ice, remember:

- Anglers and other recreationists should be familiar with the water body they plan to fish or recreate on. Pay close attention to the changing conditions of the ice.
- If you have even the slightest doubt about the safety of the ice—stay off of it. Nothing is ever worth a fall into frigid water.
- Blue or "clear" ice is usually hard. Watch out for opaque, gray, dark or porous spots in the ice that could be weak, soft areas. Ice also tends to thin more quickly at the shorelines.
- Note areas on the ice that look "different" —they usually are. Many times, thinner areas of ice (caused by springs, gas pockets, sunken islands, points, etc.) have a different color or look to them. Use extreme caution or stay away from these areas.
- The following are recommended minimum ice thickness guidelines (for good, clear ice*):
 - Under 4 inches: STAY OFF
 - 4 inches: ice fishing or other activities on foot
 - 7 inches: snowmobile or ATV
 - 10 inches: small car
 - 12 inches: truck or SUV

*for white ice or "snow ice," double the above minimums not recommended, but if you must, proceed at your own risk.

- Watch for pressure ridges. These are areas of open water or thin ice where the ice has cracked and heaved due to expansion from freezing.
- Test the ice ahead of you with an ice spud bar or an auger.
- Don't leave children unsupervised on the ice.
- Lakes and ponds do not freeze at the same thickness all over. Some ponds have windmills to aerate water for fish survival, and ice may be thin near these areas.
- Moving water — rivers, streams and springs — weaken ice by wearing it away from underneath. Avoid going on ice on rivers and streams, or where a river or stream enters a lake, pond or reservoir.
- The least safe ice usually occurs early and late in the season when the weather is warmer and less predictable.
- Remember, NO ICE is 100 percent safe!

Some other common ice-safety reminders to keep in mind include:

- Search for videos on ice safety and "what to do" if you should fall through the ice. One can be found here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5gOW8ZaYqHA>
- Consider changes in the weather (and ice conditions) during the prior 24 hours.
- It's a good idea to wear a life jacket (PFD) or carry a throwable flotation device while out on the ice — safe ice anglers and recreationists do it all the time.
- Dress warm but practical. Many styles of ice fishing jackets and bibs provide extra buoyancy to help keep you afloat if you do fall through.
- Before you leave the house, tell someone where you plan to go and when you plan to return.
- Carry a pair of ice picks (long spikes on a heavy string around your neck). If you break through the ice, you can use the spikes to grip the ice and pull yourself out of the water. FWP wishes all anglers and recreationists a safe, adventurous, and successful season.

Man pleads guilty after illegally killing bighorn sheep Sentence includes fines, restitution and suspension of privileges

A Deer Lodge man pleaded guilty this month to several charges after illegally killing a bighorn sheep in the Highland Mountains.

Harold Horine, 45, shot a bighorn sheep ram on Nov. 22 without a license. He did not report the kill to Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks, and he left the meat to waste. A witness who observed the violation contacted FWP after finding the dead sheep abandoned. Game wardens interviewed Horne, who said he mistook the sheep for an elk.

Horine pleaded guilty in Madison County Justice Court on Dec. 7 to hunting without a valid license, unlawful possession of a game animal, failure to obtain landowner permission when hunting, and waste of a game animal.

Horine was ordered to pay $5,245 in fines and restitution. His hunting, fishing and trapping privileges were suspended for two years, and his ability to apply for special permits was suspended for 12 years.

Montana game wardens rely on tips from people who observe crimes against wildlife. FWP's 24-hour hotline for reporting these crimes is 1-800-TIP-MONT. Callers could be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

Square Dancing Coming to the Elks

Starting Sunday, January 9, square dancing lessons will be provided here in the Elks Lodge. Lessons will start at 2:00 until 3:30 every Sunday afternoon for 12 weeks. You can start at any time so don't worry about missing a week(s). There will be NO charge for this, but free-donations will be collected to compensate the caller for travel expenses from Butte. The bar will be open during this time.

This is a great activity for all ages.

Call the Lodge at 683-5552 if you have any questions.

Hunting for male mountain lions to close in HDs 320, 331 and 333

The hunting of male mountain lions in hunting districts 320, 331 and 333 in north-central Montana will close at one-half hour after sunset on Thursday, Dec. 23.

The order halting the hunt came shortly after Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks officials received word that the pre-established harvest quota for the combined districts had been met.

For more information, visit FWP's website at fwp.mt.gov/hunt/ by-species, to check the current quota status, or call the toll-free number at 1-800-385-7826.

Wolf trapping to open in several Wolf Management Units around the state

After monitoring grizzly bear activity across much of the state, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is opening wolf trapping in Wolf Management Units 100, 101, 110, 130 and 150 in Region 1; WMUs 313, 316 and 390 in Regions 3 and 5; and WMU 400 in Region 4. These WMUs are open effective Dec. 21.

FWP biologists have been monitoring grizzly bear activity with a variety of methods since early November. This includes monitoring collared grizzly bears, sightings of bears in the field, weather assessments and reports from the public.

The Montana Fish and Wildlife Commission adopted final changes to the 2021 wolf trapping regulations at its Oct. 28 meeting. The adoption included a "floating" start date for wolf trapping in areas with grizzly bears to be no earlier than the Monday after Thanksgiving, and no later than Dec. 31.

The commission directed the department to assess grizzly bear activity outside of dens to determine the potential for trapping conflicts and to open the wolf trapping season in grizzly areas when that risk is low.

However, trappers need to be aware that grizzly bears could still be active and should avoid any area where bear sign is observed.

Veteran's Corner Update #133

By Mike Lawson

Greetings to all of you who read my SW MT veteran update articles. We do have snow and the cooler weather to keep it from melting away. The closer it gets to Christmas the more festive activities are going on in our different cities/towns. Our colleges are between semesters so their students have gone home to be with their families to spend Christmas. The lighted outside decorations are always enjoyable to see, the Christmas music is floating in the air. Many of our snowbirds wait until after the holidays before they make their journey south to warmer weather. It's a special time of sharing with friends and families, at the end of the year. It's also a time for giving, which for the Toys For Tots Campaign is about giving to the kids. It's about all of you who have given so generously in your donations and time, knowing the children in need had presents under the tree. The parents of these children are very grateful as well. Reporting on the numbers, up to this Sunday, for our Toys For Tots is as follows: 201 families, 737 kids, 489 Books, 2397 Stocking Stuffers. More will be added this week, preceding Christmas. We'll be picking up the toy boxes on Wed the 22nd and the money boxes on the 23rd and 24th. We usually take last minute applications up to the 24th if need be.

Southwest Montana Veteran's Home:

Cottages #4 & #5 have been inspected by the state and the sub-contractors are doing the punch-lists, which resulted from that. Once this is completed, a final cleaning will take place and Markovich Construction will turn the keys over to the state, having completed their work. Operations Contractor will move in and get things stocked and ready for the Medicare and VA Inspections, before admitting Resident Veterans. Keep in mind both of these Cottages will be secure memory unit cottages. Hopefully by the middle of January resident veterans will be admitted. On the Eduro operation side, some exciting things have and are happening. The Activities Director Teresa Madrazo really has the actives clicking for our Veteran Residents there. Last week they had a cake ceremony for Pearl Harbor survivor Charlie Dowd and read a letter from Steve Daines which highlighted Charlie's lifetime achievements. One of the Baptist churches presented the residents with Christmas gifts. The American Legion Auxiliary gave our residents a Christmas Party on Sunday with songs being sung and photos being taken. On the 20th a USO Show is going to take place with Line Dancers and the Plats out of Silver Star playing fiddles/guitars, some singing and dancing. These two groups will rotate from one Cottage to the other. On the 21st three of us are going to judge the Christmas decorated Cottages. Each cottage was decorated by that Cottages staff with a different theme. This should be fun. As you can see, Teresa and her staff are making things fun for our resident veterans.

The VA (CBOC) Medical Center:

Construction advancement continues. On the outside, horizontal bar framework was welded to the metal posts of the the dumpster containment cage. Cement pads were poured on the outside/inside of the main outside electric breaker-box. Another sidewalk section was poured around the flagpole. On the inside, the heat/air conditioning duct installation is moving well and expected to be completed this week. The plumbers have their copper tubing/pipe completed for this stage of their work. The Springler System piping is moving well with the main piping sticking out into the north unfinished portion of the building. Things are looking good here.

Our Veteran Court, here in Butte, is seeing some good results in our troubled Veterans making good moves in making good life changes. They have a lot of steps to go through in making these changes. The goal is to never reoffend and live a happy life for the rest of their lives. A couple of these Veterans helped fill Toy Bags for the Toys For Tots, here in Butte. Colin Higgins, owner of the McKenzie River Pizza, donated three Pizza's to our crew of working "Elves" bagging toys on one of our busiest day this past week. Many thanks Colin.

The new Delta Virus 'Omicron' is surging in many states. Please be careful and at least mask when in crowds. It does seem tiring but staying healthy has a lot of value. I wish you all a wonderful and Happy Christmas.

Until Next time, take care.
