2021: A YEAR OF RMEF CONSERVATION

As the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation looks to advance conservation with its 2022 mission work, it looks back on a year of conservation accomplishments.

"From completing the first phase of a landscape-scale conservation and access project in Oregon to conserving nearly 12,000 acres of tule elk country in California, while also protecting and enhancing habitat nationwide, the bottom line is we put real dollars on the landscape that make a real difference for elk and other wildlife," said Kyle Weaver, RMEF president and CEO. "In doing so, we remain resilient and financially strong despite the ongoing challenges during these unique times."

RMEF also provided more support for wildlife management, scientific research, advocacy issues on behalf of its mission and worked to maintain and improve America's hunting heritage.

2021 conservation highlights

- Surpassed 8.3 million acres in lifetime mission accomplishment
- Completed 183 habitat stewardship and wildlife management projects that enhanced 138,276 acres of habitat
- Committed an additional $2.2 million that leveraged $22.4 million in partner dollars (1:10 match) toward future projects
- Opened or improved public access to 31,205 acres of public land in eight states
- Completed 15 projects in 11 states that protected 26,276 acres of wildlife habitat
- Maintained a membership of 225,000+
- Allocated $670,000 for scientific elk research that leveraged $5.5 million in partner dollars (1:8 match)
- Completed 209 hunting heritage projects

LEARN HOW TO RELAX WHEN FACED WITH STRESS.

You can't always walk away from a stressful situation. Instead, get in the habit of taking 5-10 seconds to scan your body for tension from the top of your head to your toes. Relax all your muscles along the way. Do that throughout the day so it becomes second nature. Be kind to yourself.

FWP seeks comments on Missouri Headwaters State Park draft master plan

Virtual public meeting scheduled for Feb. 11

Staff from Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks are seeking comments on a draft master plan for Missouri Headwaters State Park.

The public can provide comments on the plan at a Missouri Headwaters State Park advisory team meeting at 2 p.m. on Feb. 11. This meeting will be held virtually over Zoom. The draft master plan and information on how to join the meeting can be found at wwcengineering.com/portfolio/headwaters-state-park-master-plan.

Comments received at the Feb. 11 meeting will be considered and incorporated into the final version of the master plan as appropriate.

Staff from FWP and WWC Engineering drafted the plan with input from the public and the advisory team. The master planning effort for the park includes several goals:

- Guide the development and use of park facilities.
- Provide guidelines for the protection and management of important cultural, natural and scenic resources.
- Provide visitors with a wide range of experiences.
- Provide for public health and safety.
- Address short- and long-term needs, while making the least impact on cultural resources and the landscape.
- Broaden visitors' knowledge and appreciation of the area. Accommodate crowds while still allowing for areas of solitude.

Missouri Headwaters State Park is about 5 miles northeast of Three Forks on Trident Road. For more information about the park, please visit fwp.mt.gov/stateparks/missouri-headwaters or call 406-285-3610.

Montana Western's head football coach Ryan Nourse has announced the addition of 34 student-athletes to the program's 2022 roster

"I am very proud of the class that we have put together," Nourse said. "Our staff did an excellent job of bringing in student-athletes with competitive, personal, and academic character. I believe in several years Bulldog Football will reap the rewards of this class on the field and see the immediate results in the classroom and community.

This class adds physicality, athleticism, speed and depth to our roster. We placed an emphasis on improving our ability to pass rush and cover, and I believe we did just that with the additions in 2022.

As always, Montana is our home base, however we were able to secure commitments from exceptional talent all over the region, which adds diversity to our team and extends our footprint out further, opening up more areas to recruit from in the future."

Of the 34 recruits, 12 are from Montana, 13 are from Washington, five are from Idaho, three are from Utah, and one is from Tennessee.

"Our staff did the extra work to get this class. They got to know these young men and build a relationship with them. We know who is coming to UMW and what they are about. These guys will help us continue to build great teams and have success because of this approach."
