POACHERS SENTENCED AFTER LENGTHY INVESTIGATION IN NORTHEASTERN MONTANA

A poaching investigation in northeastern Montana that lasted more than two and a half years, ended with several men being sentenced last month in the Montana 16th Judicial District Court in Garfield County.

"FWP enforcement's excellent work and diligence resulted in the exposure of one of the most disturbing poaching cases in recent history," said Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks Director Hank Worsech. "From initial investigations to sentencing, our wardens demonstrated their commitment to the stewardship and protection of Montana's outdoor resources."

The investigation centered on a hunting party led by Richard LeBlanc and their continued poaching activities on and around the Byron Kerr Ranch in Garfield and McCone counties. From 2005 to 2011, 31 citations were issued to LeBlanc and other members of his hunting parties for numerous violations. Additional information received in 2014 started the most recent investigation.

"The poachers targeted deer and antelope, but their main focus was the unlawful hunting of mule deer bucks in hunting district 652," said Fish, Wildlife & Parks Criminal Investigator Steve Marx.

Mule deer bucks in HD 652 can only be hunted with a special permit obtained through the state's drawing system.

LeBlanc and Marc Federico, of Rhode Island, Stephen Schenck, of Massachusetts, and William Mathews, of Florida, were sentenced Jan. 11.

As part of a plea agreement, LeBlanc, Federico, Schenck and Mathews were jointly and individually ordered to pay $50,000 in restitution and received six-month suspended jail sentences.

LeBlanc's hunting, fishing and trapping privileges were suspended for a period of 10 years while Federico, Schenck and Mathews' privileges were suspended for eight, seven and two years, respectively.

In addition, Joseph Caetano, of Massachusetts, and Austin Bridwell, of Florida, both appeared and were sentenced earlier in the case. Caetano was ordered to pay $3,750, received a six-month suspended jail sentence and lost hunting fishing and trapping privileges for 10 years. Bridwell paid $1,400, received a 12-month suspended jail sentence and lost hunting, fishing and trapping privileges for two years.

All defendants will be entered into the Interstate Wildlife Violator Compact. LeBlanc, Federico, Schenck, Mathews and Caetano cannot accompany anyone hunting, fishing or trapping in Montana during their suspension periods.

The case revealed evidence of at least 48 unlawfully taken game animals. Charges included: failing to wear hunter orange, shooting from the roadway, loan and transfer of hunting licenses, taking an overlimit of game animals, waste of game, possession of unlawfully killed deer and antelope, hunting during a closed season, hunting without a valid license, hunting without a valid permit, failure to tag, felony possession of wildlife and conspiracy to commit an offense.

Future Fisheries projects approved

Arctic grayling in Upper Red Rock Lake will have a better chance of surviving the winter when a project is completed to increase the amount of oxygen in the water. Westslope cutthroat trout and bull trout will be kept in the Blackfoot River and out of an irrigation ditch when a diversion is upgraded and a fish screen is installed to separate diverted water from the fish. These projects are two of 11 that recently received funding by the Montana Fish and Wildlife Commission through the Future Fisheries Improvement Program (FFIP). Approximately $340,000 in funding was approved to improve Montana fisheries.

The fisheries improvements include restoration of streams to a natural condition, stream habitat installation, restoring streambanks, improving grazing management, keeping fish out of irrigation diversions and more. Projects will help both native and non-native fish, including Arctic grayling, bull trout, mountain whitefish, westslope cutthroat trout, Yellowstone cutthroat trout, brook trout, brown trout and rainbow trout.

This year's funding was matched by $1.6 million from outside sources. Watershed organizations, governmental agencies, nonprofits and others submitted a total of 13 proposed projects. Eleven projects were approved across Montana, including six that are west and five that are east of the Continental Divide.

Applications for the FFIP summer-cycle grants are due May 15, 2022, to FWP's Fish Habitat Bureau. Application forms are available on FWP's website at fwp.mt.gov/FFIP or at FWP offices.

Any individual or group with a project designed to restore or enhance habitat for wild or native fish may apply for FFIP funding. Applicants are encouraged to work with local FWP fisheries biologists. Landowners and other project partners usually share project costs, extending FFIP dollars.

More information and FFIP applications are available on FWP's website at fwp.mt.gov/FFIP.

Tribal Futures in Education Online Event and Auction

The community is invited to a special online event on Tuesday, February 22 at 6:30 p.m. to support the teacher education program in the Blackfeet community of Montana.

Blackfeet Community College is a Tribal College partnered with the University of Montana Western to fill a critical need for Native teachers and significantly benefit Native students. You will hear directly from graduates and current teacher candidates as well as school leaders from Browning, Montana, as they explain the importance of this program.

Pat Armstrong, a Blackfeet leader, educator, and musician, will be the auctioneer and Lona Running Wolf, a Blackfeet education and cultural leader and UMW faculty member, will be the event's moderator.

Pat and Lona will provide an engaging, educational, and inspiring perspective on the teacher education program as well as highlighting the cultural significance of items on auction through traditional storytelling.

Auction items include hide drums and bags, leather concho belts, beaded earrings and accessories, a buffalo hide, a painting by renowned artist Sammy Jo Bird and more, including a multi-day hiking/fishing experience in Montana.

We hope you will come away inspired by this wonderful program and possibly with a one of a kind Blackfeet keepsake.

To view the event or participate in the auction, please visit <https://tinyurl.com/TribalFutures>.

Helena man sentenced for poaching trophy moose

Sentence includes lifetime ban of hunting and trapping privileges

A Helena man received a lifetime ban from hunting and trapping in Montana as part of his sentence for illegally killing a trophy moose east of Townsend in 2019.

Shiloh Berry, 41, was sentenced Friday in Broadwater County District Court after pleading guilty last fall to unlawful possession of a game animal, hunting without a valid license and waste of a game animal.

In addition to the lifetime ban from hunting and trapping, Berry's sentence includes a three-year suspension of fishing privileges, $12,100 in fines and restitution, and a suspended five-year imprisonment term. In November 2019, game wardens with Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks received a tip via the department's 1-800-TIP-MONT hotline about a dead moose with its head cut off and the meat abandoned. Wardens responded and found the carcass on Blacktail Road, about 17 miles east of Townsend. Wardens also found distinctive tire tracks and boot prints at the scene.

In April 2020, wardens received another tip that Berry possessed moose antlers he claimed to have found in the same area where the moose carcass was discovered. Wardens executed a search warrant and discovered the antlers, as well as boots and tires that matched the tracks at the kill site. During an interview with wardens, Berry confessed to killing the moose.

The moose's antlers were 56 inches wide and had a Boone and Crockett gross score of 167 and a net score of 145.

Montana game wardens rely on tips from people who observe crimes against wildlife. FWP's 24-hour hotline for reporting these crimes is 1-800-TIP-MONT. Callers could be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000.

Veteran's Corner Update #141

By Mike Lawson

Greetings to those of you who read my SW MT Veteran Articles. Our two Veteran sites, out by Three Bears, are both progressing in good ways. Starting with the Southwest Montana Veteran's Home: the exciting news is that Cottages #1/#2/#3 are completely filled with 12 resident Veterans in each. Cottages #4 & #5 will hopefully start having residents admitted in March, if everything is finished and the state takes them from Markovich Construction, as being completed. Markovich Construction, have moved all their trailers off site, so you know they're ready to be finished. I did do a walk-through of both Cottages #1 & #2, and they're looking very close to having the final touch-ups completed. Once they're turned over to Eduro, Cottage #5 will admit residents first as Cottage #4 needs to get a security system installed, for it will be a memory care unit also. All the Medicaid/Medicare Inspections have been completed, with the VA Inspection to take place once some of the resident veterans have been admitted. On the Eduro operation side of the occupied Cottages, our Veterans were involved in a Super Bowl Party, in each of the Cottages. They were served snacks and non-alcohol beer (O'Doul's). In addition to this, they competed against each other by throwing a football between two goal posts set up, into a garbage can in the created end zone. This all happened before the Super Bowl started. Theresa Madrazo continually looks for things, for the resident veterans to enjoy doing. The SWMTVH Foundation bought 15 tickets to the Mother Lode on March 6th. If the Covid numbers continue to drop and our vets are healthy, this should be a fun event for them to attend. We are hoping the transportation will not be an issue. Our SW MT Vet Home did have an Covid Omicron outbreak recently, but the Veterans quickly recovered. Visitors are welcome, so please consider it.

The new Butte VA (CBOC) Medical Center construction continues to progress toward that April, construction completion date. I was able to do a walk-through there also. All the suspended ceiling grid is completed and some of the light fixture panels are in the panel opening of this grid, in some rooms. There's a lot of rooms for them to go into. The eight bathroom floors are tiled and the flooring for the rest of the building is in progress. Probably a two to three week, job. Once the flooring is in, the other trades can do more of their finish work. This Butte Weekly paper, comes out on Wednesday, so if you read it that day, remember the VA TownHall Meeting, concerning the moving of the Anaconda CBOC to Butte, will start at 5:30 PM at the

I did hear from VFW Commander Larry Spangburg from Deer Lodge and he filled me in on the Veteran's activities there. The 1st Veteran get together at the Elks on the 1st Tuesday of the month, went real well. They had about 23 veterans attend, who enjoyed themselves playing Crib and other games.

I visited with Doug Martin of the Twin Bridges American Legion. They have been very busy with the youth. They just finished sponsoring the State District American Orator Contest between schools across the state. These kids write speeches and then give it orally. It's about a selected topic on our American Government. The other thing they and the United Veterans of Twin Bridges did, was buying and donating $2,000.00 worth of history books, to both the grade schools and the high school.

Tom Straugh from Dillon, said things are on the quiet side, Veteran wise, this month. The exception is the three drivers of the DAV Van there, who take our veterans to their medical appointments. They expect to increase their activities as the Covid numbers come down and the weather gets warmer.

Our Butte Veteran Organizations made up of the American Legion, VFW, DAV, Marine Corps League and the United Veteran's Council, continue to meet once or twice a month. The American Legion will have a soup and sandwich dinner on Wednesday, the day this paper comes out, at 6:00 PM, at the American Legion Hall.

I have mentioned the Volunteers of America and touched on some aspects of their support for Veterans. I wanted to mention that VOA of the Northern Rockies, operate two transitional facilities: one in Sheridan, Wyoming and one in Billings, Mt. The purpose of these two facilities is to provide a therapeutic living environment for Veterans. If you know a homeless veteran in need that is alone or has a family, have them call Karl Ortman at 406-565-5020. He is in Butte and is a VOA Coordinator.

Our Veteran's Court is getting the results it was created to do. This is to give Veterans, who get in trouble, a second chance of getting rehabilitated and have a clean record once they graduate from it. More importantly is to make a life change and never reoffend. These offender veterans go through the 14 month program, they graduate from one phase of it to the next phase. They are tested less often and are given more freedom, as the move up this phase ladder. I'm a mentor and impressed at the life changes these guys are making, for the bettering of themselves.
