Greta Kenney Chaffin, 89

Greta Kenney Chaffin, 89, beloved wife, mother, grandmother, aunt, and friend, passed away in her sleep on the morning of Sunday, March 6, 2022.

Greta was born on August 9, 1932 to Noble Herbert and Mazell Jones Kenney, in Idaho Falls, Idaho where she was raised in a loving family, with brothers Jack, Bruce, and Wally. She graduated from Idaho Falls High School in 1950, participating in many activities and always a loyal Tiger.

Greta married her high school sweetheart Larry Chaffin on August 28, 1951 in the Idaho Falls Temple. They moved immediately to Dillon, Montana where for the next 23 years they were partners in Chaffin Land and Livestock with Larry's brother, Gayle and wife Katie. They later worked side by side as they owned and operated Chaffin Printing and Office Supply, and then KDBM Radio. Greta was active in the community, being very involved with Jayceens and as volunteer for United Way. She was a faithful and dedicated member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and served in many capacities throughout her life. After they retired, Larry and Greta served a full-time mission for the Church to the Washington DC Temple.

She is survived by her children, John (Debbie) of Billings, Montana, Ken (Ann Marie) of Island Park, Idaho, Lori (George) of Provo, Utah, and Bruce (Marriah) of Dillon, Montana; 18 grandchildren, and 39 great-grandchildren. Larry passed away in May of 2011. She leaves a beautiful legacy of love, unselfish service, laughter and devotion to family for which we are forever blessed.

Services will be held at the Dillon Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Saturday, March 19th at 10:00 AM. Visitation will be from 6:30-8:00 PM Friday, March 18th at Brundage Funeral Home.

Smallmouth bass found in Gardner River

Anglers asked to remove and report any smallmouth bass caught in upper Yellowstone River

An angler caught a smallmouth bass on Feb. 19 while fishing on the Gardner River at its confluence with the Yellowstone River, just outside of Yellowstone National Park.

Smallmouth bass are not native to this area, and an established population could pose threats to native fish in the upper Yellowstone River and others.

How the bass arrived at this location is unknown. It is illegal for people to move live fish from one waterbody to another without prior authorization from Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks.

Anglers have previously reported finding smallmouth bass in two locations on the upper Yellowstone River in the past seven years: Two smallmouth bass were caught at the Highway 89 bridge downstream of Livingston, and one near Emigrant. One smallmouth bass has also been found in the Shields River, a tributary to the Yellowstone east of Livingston.

FWP fisheries staff have not found smallmouth bass during yearly sampling efforts in the upper Yellowstone River.

One of FWP's primary management goals in this area is to protect native Yellowstone cutthroat trout, which spawn in the tributaries and upper reaches of the Yellowstone River. An established population of invasive smallmouth bass could occupy the same areas, preying on and displacing trout and other native fish.

Anglers are the primary means of managing smallmouth bass where needed. FWP staff are preparing a proposed emergency rule for the Fish and Wildlife Commission to consider, which could require anglers to kill and report any smallmouth bass caught in the upper Yellowstone River.

Until any rules can be implemented, anglers are asked to voluntarily kill, remove and document any smallmouth bass caught in the Yellowstone River and its tributaries between the Springdale Fishing Access east of Livingston upstream to the Yellowstone National Park boundary and provide them to FWP for testing.

FWP Parks Board now accepting comments on Smith River rules

The Montana State Parks and Recreation Board voted to begin taking public comment on Smith River State Park biennial rules. This is a follow up to the recently completed update to the river's recreation management plan.

Rulemaking is needed to implement two of the management issues identified in the updated plan: managing Camp Baker for day use outside of the fall season and requiring floaters to pack-out human waste beginning with the 2023 float season. Both these proposed rule changes would help address negative impacts on natural and cultural resources.

In addition, the board is taking comment on a proposal to increase in the Smith River permit application fee (from $10 to $15) and the commercial outfitter client fee (from $100 to $110). The additional revenue would offset the operation and maintenance of a human waste disposal system at the Eden Bridge take-out site.

The board is also taking comment on removing language in the rules that govern the transfer of Smith River outfitter launches. The language is no longer consistent with state law and is being reconsidered in a broader review of agency rules related to outfitter operations.

The opportunity to comment on the proposed rule changes is from March 4 through March 25. Comments may be submitted online at <https://fwp.mt.gov/stateparks/smith-river/management>.

Comments may also be submitted in writing to:

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks ATTN: Charlie Sperry P.O. Box 200701
1420 East 6th Ave. Helena, MT 59620

The Montana State Parks and Recreation Board is a citizen-led board appointed by the governor that consists of five members, one member from each district in the state. The board sets policies and provides direction for the management, protection, conservation and preservation of Montana's state parks and recreational resources.

More information on the updated management plan and rulemaking process can be found at: <https://fwp.mt.gov/stateparks/smith-river/management>.

Please direct questions to Smith River State Park Manager Colin Maas at 406-454-5857 or cmaas@mt.gov.

Record Utah chub caught at Canyon Ferry Reservoir

Steve Hagen of East Helena reeled in a record Utah chub on March 7 from Canyon Ferry Reservoir. The fish weighed in at 2.39 pounds and measured 15.9 inches in length and 10.4 inches in girth. The previous record Utah chub, caught at Canyon Ferry in 1992, weighed 1.81 pounds.

Hagen's catch adds to the list of Montana record fish caught in the last year and a half including a walleye, a chinook salmon, a smallmouth bass, a yellow bullhead, a brown trout, a longnose sucker, and a largemouth.

With a total of 91 native and introduced fish species found in Montana, interest in fish records has increased in recent years. Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks maintains the list of record fish, and it is available on FWP's website at <https://fwp.mt.gov/fish/anglingData/records>.

Anglers who think they caught a state record fish should keep the following things in mind:

- To prevent loss of weight, do not clean or freeze the fish. Keep the fish cool — preferably on ice.
- Take a picture of the fish.
- The fish must be weighed on a certified scale (found in grocery stores or hardware stores, etc.) and witnessed by a store employee or other observer. Obtain a weight receipt and an affidavit from the store personnel if no FWP official is present. Measure the length and girth.
- Contact the nearest FWP office to have the fish positively identified by a fisheries biologist.

RMEF Fights for Public Access to Public Lands

Seeking to maintain public access for hunters and anglers to the nation's wildlife refuges, the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, National Rifle Association, Safari Club International and Sportsmen's Alliance filed to intervene in a lawsuit by an environmental group suing the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS).

The Center for Biological Diversity wants to thwart hunting and fishing access to 2.3 million acres of public land across 106 wildlife refuges and national fish hatcheries.

"It is imperative that we act on behalf of our members who support public access to these federal lands, many of which were purchased with dollars generated by hunters," said Kyle Weaver, RMEF president and CEO. "RMEF remains a staunch advocate for access and has done so since our founding as a conservation organization nearly 38 years ago. We stand with professional wildlife managers, biologists and sportsmen and women nationwide calling for the dismissal of this blatant effort seeking to deny public access to public lands."

In August 2020, the Trump administration announced the single largest expansion of hunting and fishing opportunities in USFWS history.

One year later, the Biden administration made a similar announcement by expanding access to 434 locations within the National Wildlife Refuge System for hunting as well as 378 places to fish.

"Increasing access to outdoor recreation opportunities is essential to advancing the administration's commitment to the conservation stewardship of our public lands," Interior Secretary Deb Haaland said at the time. "Responsible hunting and fishing helps to promote healthy wildlife habitats while boosting local recreation economies."

In February 2022, the USFWS announced it doled out a single-year record of $1.5 billion generated by hunters and anglers for nationwide conservation efforts.

"We've said it again and again, plus the numbers bear it out that hunting is conservation. These frivolous lawsuits by anti-hunting groups are simply reckless anti-conservation," added Weaver.

AG Knudsen warns of common website scams during National Consumer Protection Week

Attorney General Austin Knudsen is warning Montanans of three common website-based scams – including rental, pet, and ammunition scams – during National Consumer Protection Week which runs from March 6-12.

"Always be on high alert for scammers trying to rip you off through deceptive websites and marketing practices," Attorney General Knudsen said. "There are a few simple tips to keep in mind as you're making purchases, but always remember that if it seems too good to be true, it probably is. Trust your gut."

For a rental scam, scammers will steal a photo of a local rental or real estate listing that is currently listed and change the contact information before posting the deceptive ad online. Interested renters are then told that the owner is out of town or had to move quickly so the prospective renter never meets the owner of the location. Communicating only through email, the scammer requests first and last month's rent and the security deposit via money wiring or payment apps, like Venmo or Zelle.

Online pet scams are similar to rental scams as it is common for scammers to steal photographs from legitimate breeders to create fake websites to advertise expensive specialty breeds for low prices. Oftentimes, they will also demand payment via apps and offer to fly the animal to the buyer.

Ammunition and firearm scams have become more common as shortages and increased prices of the products continue throughout the state. Scam websites may claim to have ammunition and firearms that are hard to find available at prices that are too good to be true – usually half of MSRP. They may also offer products that are difficult to obtain but charge large shipping insurance fees. Typically, they fail to provide a confirmation email to the buyer, require payment via app, and have a lot of grammatical errors.

To avoid falling victim to these scams, keep these tips in mind:

- If the deal sounds too good to be true, it probably is.
- Avoid using third-party payment apps.
- Don't be pressured to send money. Consult family, friends, or the Montana Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection before sending money via computer or phone.
- Never send money to someone you don't know.
