Downtown Waterline Project to Begin Again

Starting April 11th, Mungus Construction will once again be working on the waterline project in the downtown area. They will be starting on Idaho Street between Virginia Street and Helena Street and Helena Street and Center Street. Those areas will be closed to traffic beginning April 11th. Helena Street will remain open. Upon completion of these areas they will be moving down Idaho Street towards Bannack Street and Glendale Street. The City will keep you informed of the project as it moves along.

The City of Dillon would like to thank you for your patience during this project. Mungus Construction will be doing their best to complete the project as soon as possible to minimize the impact on our businesses.

If you have any questions please contact Todd Hazelbaker, Director of Operations, at 683-4245.

Great Harvest is Raising Dough!

VFW POST 9040 ANNOUNCES HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM FOR 2022

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9040 of Dillon will again award two $500 scholarships to seniors attending Beaverhead County High School. Any graduating senior is eligible for one of the scholarships, however, preference for one of the scholarships will be given to an individual who is the child, or grandchild of a veteran or a current member of the US Armed Services. Seniors interested in applying for one of the scholarships must submit a 350-500 word essay on the topic of "How Can I Be A Good American" along with a list of their high school, extracurricular, and community service activities. All of the details on how to submit an application are available from Ms. Perisho, high school counselor, at Beaverhead County High School. Applications may be turned in to Ms Perisho by April 11, 2022, closing date for applications.

Attorney General Knudsen leads 15-state coalition against federal attempt to weaken Title IX

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen is leading a coalition of 15 state attorneys general that today called on the Biden administration to halt its efforts to rewrite federal rules and redefine biological sex to include gender identity. The U.S. Department of Education's intended rulemaking would undoubtedly conflict with state laws, such as Montana's, that protect athletic opportunities for women, and the attorneys general said they would take legal action to uphold them against federal encroachment.

Current Title IX rules adopted in 2020 codified regulations regarding sexual harassment under Title IX into law for the first time, setting forth clear legal obligations for schools to respond to allegations of sexual harassment, a process to resolve allegations, and provide remedies to victims. Now, the Biden Administration intends to rollback those historic rules and use Title IX to impose its agenda on students, parents, and schools.

Title IX was part of the Education Amendments Act of 1972, that states, "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance."

In a letter to Catherine Lhamon, Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of Education, Knudsen and the attorneys general said the Department has failed to provide sufficient justification for new rulemaking and warned the it "not illegally re-write Title IX to include gender identity."

"We are also concerned that an interpretation of Title IX that goes beyond sex to include gender identity has and will be used by to improperly intrude into parental decision-making regarding the education and upbringing of their children," Knudsen and the attorneys general wrote. "An interpretation of Title IX that supports such radical positions runs contrary to the role of the Department of Education, the text of Title IX, and parents' constitutional right to decide what is in the best interests of their children."

"The Department has provided no rationale for why the 2020 Rule has proven unworkable or in need of adjustment," the letter continued. "Modifying or eliminating the 2020 Rule now will only add to the uncertainty and regulatory burden on schools, parents, teachers, and students across America. We strongly urge the Department to cancel its plans to engage in rulemaking on Title IX."

Last year, the Montana Legislature passed the Save Women's Sports Act, which requires interscholastic athletes to participate under sex assigned at birth. The U.S. Department of Education's intended rulemaking would "undoubtedly" conflict with this state law.

"One of Title IX's crucial purposes, for example, is protecting athletic opportunity for women and girls. Adding gender identity to the definition of 'sex' in Title IX would have a detrimental effect on the great strides made over the last 50 years to create equal athletic opportunity," Knudsen and the attorneys general wrote. "Several of our states have enacted legislation to protect athletic opportunities for women by prohibiting biological males from competing in female athletics. Those laws would undoubtedly conflict with the Department's intended rulemaking. We are prepared to take legal action to uphold Title IX's plain meaning and safeguard the integrity of women's sports."

The current Title IX rules also guarantee victims of sexual harassment and accused students clear procedural rights and provide protections for victims of sexual harassment and sexual assault. The current rule fixed problems that were created under President Obama's Education Department and provides a better, more reliable system for victims and accused students.

Education policy experts, civil rights leaders, public interest attorneys, women's groups, and parent advocates have also asked the Department of Education to disband its efforts to weaken Title IX rules.

Attorneys general from the following states joined Knudsen's effort: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Texas.

"KENNEL CLUB"

Last year four women of the Kennel Club decided to support a spay/neuter program in Beaverhead County and decided that all the proceeds from Kennel Club sales would go towards such a clinic. They contacted the Spay Montana organization and the Beaverhead animal shelter to see what could be done to host a clinic. Spay Montana provided their requirements and a ball park figure as to what the costs would be. After a successful quilt raffle, sale of crafts and the items sold by Hair Care Unlimited, the club is still a little shy of what is needed for a two day clinic in May of 2022.

The Kennel Club, a non-profit 501(c)(3), is asking the community to help with donations to support this and other spay/neuter programs for Beaverhead County. Please Contact:

Attorney General Knudsen opposes Judge Jackson nomination to U.S. Supreme Court

Attorney General Austin Knudsen joined nine other state attorneys general in opposing the confirmation of President Biden's nominee, Judge Ketanji Brown Jackson, to the U.S. Supreme Court because of her history of leniency toward child predators.

As a judge, Jackson has sentenced criminals who possess, publish, and produce images of child rape to just a fraction of what the sentencing guidelines recommended. The letter to Senators Dick Durbin and Chuck Grassley of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary outlined three specific instances:

U.S. v. Hawkins, where Judge Jackson sentenced a man convicted of possessing child pornography to three months when sentencing guidelines called for 10 years.

U.S. v. Stewart, where she sentenced a man convicted of possessing thousands of images of child pornography, along with attempting to cross state lines to molest a 9-year-old girl, to only 57 months when sentencing guidelines called for 97-121 months.

U.S. v. Chazin, where she sentenced the defendant to 28 months for possession of child pornography when sentencing guidelines called for 78-97 months.

"Judges should be cutting off the supply of porn that feeds these criminal monsters by being tough on offenders. Instead, by being soft on them, Judge Jackson has made it more likely for images of child rape to proliferate and thus made it easier for children to be sexualized, abused, and exploited," Knudsen and other attorneys general wrote. "Based on her record, Judge Jackson's elevation to the Supreme Court would harm that institution, as well as children's public safety nationwide. The United States Senate should do its job and protect the American people from this dangerous nominee."

Attorney General Knudsen joined attorneys general from Texas, Arkansas, Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and South Dakota in opposing Jackson's confirmation.

Veteran's Corner. Update #148

By Mike Lawson

Greetings to all of you. Grand Opening of the new VA (CBOC) Medical Center on April 29th. I did a walk through there last week and it is really looking great. The different phases of construction to do the final finishing touches, is really moving fast. The flooring is looking beautiful with the base tile, where the wall meets the floor, being done this week, as well as all the tile grouting. The plumbers are finishing all the hook-up of sinks/toilets/water fountains/etc.. All the drawer handles, on the many many cabinet drawers throughout this building, were installed last week. The suspended ceiling panels are to be installed this week. Some painting touch-ups, are on the punch list. It's exciting to see the construction of this building coming to an end. The flagpole has been erected, so look for it located on the SW corner, outside of the building. The VA is already sending out invitations for the Grand Opening on April 29th. Our SW Montana Veteran's Council Honor Guard, will be there to hoist the American Flag. Hopefully any of you who would like to come, will do so. As that day gets closer, I'll be able to give more details as they become available.

Our SW MT Veteran's Home is operating smoothly and the Resident Veterans there, are getting wonderful care. The staff really like these Vets and the vets like them. Last week they had a cribbage tournament, for those vets who play cribbage. Teresa Madrazo, the Activities Director, is always coming up with things that keep these Vets busy, with fun things to do. I visited with the Director, Chris Cotton, and he said Cottage #4 is close to being ready for admitting new Resident Vets. The VA will do a final inspection, which will be the final hurdle to having this cottage up and running. The Contractor, Markovich, has removed some of the flooring in Cottage #5, sanded the concrete smooth so Harrington Flooring can start reflooring, where this flooring was removed. The SW MT Vet Home Foundation will have met on the Monday, before this column comes out. From this meeting, more covered walkway information should be shared, which I'll share in next week's "Veteran's Corner."

I did hear from Veteran Tom Straugh, down Dillon way. He said the Dillionite Weekly paper did a great job covering Vietnam Veteran's Day, with four articles. Plans are in the works for a ceremony next March 29th. My hope is all our SW MT

Communities will do the same. The Dillon American Legion membership meeting is April 6th at 1730 (5:30). The Butte Post #1's first monthly meeting will be today April 6th at 1900 (7:00 PM), at the American Legion Hall on Winn Ave in Butte. In closing I have to share that the Marine Corp League in Butte, had an SOS breakfast at Annies Cafe on Front Street, last Saturday. Twenty of us attended and received a great breakfast with great conversations being shared by all. When we went to leave and asked for our bills, we were were informed that someone payed for all twenty breakfasts. Who ever you are, who did that, we humbly thank-you, as very appreciative veterans.

FWP seeks comments on proposed new fishing access site along Beaverhead River

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks staff are seeking public comments on a proposed fee-title acquisition of about 3.5 acres of private land west of Dillon to become a new fishing access site along the Beaverhead River.

FWP is undertaking the process of acquiring the parcel as a donation from the Beaverhead Trails Coalition, a nonprofit in Dillon. A neighboring landowner donated the property to the coalition in 2021.

The site would be known as Cornell Park Fishing Access Site. Following the acquisition, FWP staff would restore 325 feet of streambank for improved habitat and shoreline stability. Development would also include installing a gravel put-in boat ramp, a new concrete vault latrine, walk-in access points along the river and other facilities. Parking would be moved to Park Street, a Beaverhead County road.

A draft environmental assessment has been published and is available online at go.usa.gov/xztHa. Comments on the proposal are due by 5 p.m. on April 25. They can be emailed to jpape@mt.gov or sent by mail to:
