SCAMMERS AT IT AGAIN

Jeremy Crawford

Southwestern Montana News

An elderly lady was recently scammed out of $12,000 as a caller posed as a computer technician claiming they found child pornography on her computer. They told the elderly individual that if she didn't pay to have this taken care of they would have to report it to local law enforcement. The caller instructed the person to obtain gift cards from JCPenny's and Home Depot.

The caller then wanted her to scan the cards after scratching off the code on the back of them. They were so helpful that they took control of her computer and wirelessly set up her printer and scanner. The cards were scanned in and the money was instantly transferred and disappeared.

Scammers are constantly changing and adapting the way they try to scam a person. If the offer seems too good to be true or they are calling asking you to pay for services with gift cards then it is more than likely a scam.

Here are some simple tips to avoid scammers:

Scammers Pressure You To Send Money Fast Don't be pressured. Before giving out any money over the phone or computer, stop first to ask, family friends or the Montana Office of Consumer Protection.

Scammers Pretend To Be Trustworthy. Sometimes they pretend to be from the government, like the IRS. Sometimes they pretend to be a family member, or an online friend or romantic partner. It's OK to have relationship's online or over the phone. Just be CAREFUL about sending money or personal information. Stop first to ask family, friends or the Montana Office of Consumer Protection.

Scammers Find You Before You Find Them. If you did not initiate the phone call and the person who called you is demanding financial or social security information, DO NOT GIVE IT. Stop first to ask family, friends or the Montana Office of Consumer Protection.

Scammer Can Fake Caller-ID. Just because a caller-ID phone number looks legitimate, doesn't mean it is. Practice these tips even if the caller-ID number looks real.

NO SMOKES
By "Swede" Troedsson

In the summer of 1953 I accepted a job as a fire lookout on the Superior Ranger District, on the Lolo National Forest, MT. I was packed into the Marble Mountain Lookout, situated south of the Clark Fork River, between Superior and St. Regis, MT.

I was on the lookout for six weeks, and although 1953 was a busy fire season, I never spotted a fire. One day, Hank Vische, the District Fire Dispatcher, called me on the phone and after giving the direction to a fire, asked me if I could see the smoke. I was not provided binoculars, and told him I could not see the smoke. He sounded agitated as to the fact I could not see the smoke. He kept asking me if I was sure I could not see the smoke. I kept replying, "NO, I CAN'T SEE THE SMOKE!"

A couple of years later, I was finishing my tour in the Marines. At Camp Pendleton, CA, a buddy of mine and I were watching a hawk hovering above us (looking for a mouse or vole, I suppose).

My buddy's glasses fell off. I picked them up, and out of curiosity, put them on and looked up at the hawk. WOW!! I realized then and there I must be near sighted. The corpsman at sick bay confirmed my suspicions. He said: Private, you are DEFINITELY near sighted! A Navy optometrist prescribed corrective lenses.

Now I know why at the rifle range the 500 yard target appeared fuzzy. In spite of that I did qualify as a Sharpshooter, sending rounds downrange in the general direction. I think with corrective lenses I may have qualified as Expert.

This also may explain why I never spotted a fire while on lookout. A nearsighted lookout with no binoculars! SHEESH!

However, I had a great time on lookout! I sunned myself on the shutters, baked pies, tried other recipes listed in the great Lookout Cookbook, watched a bull elk and a black bear who routinely wandered around my lookout, and gossiped on the phone in the evening with other lookouts.
