Fish for free over Father's Day weekend Be aware of changing and dangerous water conditions

Escape the summer heat and enjoy a cool adventure over Father's Day weekend, when everyone in Montana can fish for free.

While anyone can fish without a license on June 18-19, all other fishing rules and regulations are in effect and must be followed.

All would-be anglers are encouraged to be aware of boating and water safety on Montana's rivers and streams. With recent heavy rains and snow runoff, many of Montana's rivers and streams are swollen and dangerous. In northwest, southwest, and south-central Montana, several fishing access sites are closed or restricted due to high water. Please be mindful of current river flows and area closures.

To view current waterbody restrictions, visit <https://fwp.mt.gov/news/current-closures-restrictions/waterbody-closures>.

Additionally, those with watercraft of any kind must remember to stop at all AIS inspection stations.

Biologists find drastic reduction of bats at Azure Cave, likely due to WNS

A recent survey of bats at Azure Cave in Phillips County found a significant population reduction since last year, likely due to white-nose syndrome (WNS).

Biologists from Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks, Montana Natural Heritage Program and Bureau of Land Management (BLM) conducted their regular winter survey in May. Azure Cave is a critical hibernating location for bats, hosting approximately 1,700 to 1,900 bats in a typical year. The May survey found a 98 percent reduction in bat numbers, with about 40 bats hibernating in the cave. Half of the remaining bats showed visible fungal growth associated with white-nose syndrome.

WNS is a fungal disease that has killed more than 6 million bats in North America since 2006. A powdery white fungus grows on the skin of hibernating bats, often on the face, leading to irritation and dehydration. This causes bats to arouse early from hibernation and exhaust fat stores they need to survive the winter, often leading to death.

WNS has been confirmed in 38 states and seven Canadian provinces. It can wipe out entire colonies of bats and has caused dramatic population declines for several species of bats in North America. Only bats are known to be affected by WNS, which does not pose a risk to humans, pets, livestock, or other wildlife.

This is the third year in which the fungus has been present within the cave, and the second year in which signs consistent with WNS were detected.

"In the survey last year at Azure Cave, we saw that at least one third of the bats had visible fungus on their wings and face," said Kristina Smucker, FWP nongame wildlife bureau chief.

Found throughout Montana, bats are an important component of the ecosystem and economy of Montana.

"A little brown bat can eat 1,200 mosquitoes in an hour," notes Smucker. "Bats are really important for keeping insect populations in check."

By "Swede" Troedsson

In 1968 I supervised a crew of eight Forest Service summer temporary employees. We were tasked with measuring and recording sample timber inventory plots on Beaverhead National Forest lands in the Madison Valley, MT.

One day one of my crew and I were eating our lunch at the Madison River Rest Area, just downriver from the recently constructed Lyon bridge, about 35 miles south of Ennis. While eating lunch, a vehicle with California license plates arrived and parked in the rest area. An elderly woman and a boy, who appeared to be about 10 years old, exited the vehicle. The boy commenced to assemble a fishing pole. I approached the boy and suggested he walk onto the bridge and drop his baited hook into a large hole that had developed just below the downstream center column. I mentioned to him that workers constructing the bridge had pulled in some large fish from this hole. The boy finished assembling his fishing pole, and after baiting the hook, ran out onto the bridge and dropped the baited hook into the hole.

I had no sooner returned to my vehicle when I heard the boy shouting. Turning around, I could see the boy had hooked into a big fish. His fishing pole was bent way over, and he could not lift the fish, which was thrashing in the water twenty feet below him. I shouted and motioned to him to hang on to his catch and run to the end of the bridge and down to the river's edge. Upon arriving at the river's edge, the boy was able to land what appeared to be about an eight pound brown trout!

It turns out the elderly woman was the boy's grandmother. I offered to take a photo of her with her grandson and the big fish, using her camera.

The grandmother thanked me profusely for facilitating her grandson's success. They planned to share the fish with relatives in Ennis, who they were staying with. They had quite a story to tell when they returned to California!

Rotary Scholarship 2022

The Rotary Club of Dillon is pleased to announce we have awarded a $1000 tuition and fees scholarship to Daniel Martin to attend the University of Montana this coming fall. Martin was a straight-A student in high school and one of eight valedictorians to graduate from BCHS this spring. He plans to major in business finance at UM and then attend law school and earn a Juris Doctor degree.

At BCHS he participated in cross-country, tennis and track, was team captain of Academic Olympics, and member of honor society, FFA, student government, Beaverhead Trails Coalition, youth legislature and attended Boys State. He also received a RYLA award from Rotary in 2019.

He has received multiple honors and awards and was involved several in community service activities. From June 2020 to March 2022, he worked 40 hours per week at Murdoch's Ranch and Home Supply and was previously employed in other positions.

Dillon Friends of Music Scholarships Spring 2022

The Dillon Friends of Music is pleased to announce the recipients of four $500 scholarships presented to graduating seniors who have participated in the Beaverhead County High School music program.

The Hagenbarth and Wheeler Scholarships are awarded to music students who will be continuing their education in music. The Hagenbarth is for those continuing in either instrumental or vocal, and the Wheeler Scholarship is specifically for students continuing in vocal study. This year both scholarships were awarded to Gracie Reiser. Gracie will be attending Brigham Young University-Idaho to major in Elementary and Music Education with an emphasis on Choral Study.

The Dillon Friends of Music Scholarships recognize the contributions of students during their high school years whether they continue music in their post high school education or not. Joel Harvey and Evelyn Hansen have each earned a $500 scholarship to the school of their choice.

Joel will be attending Montana State University as an Environmental Science Major. Music has given him many things: friends, a way to express himself, and a way of entertaining others. Evelyn Hansen has chosen Gordon College in Massachusetts. Evey says "All the elements of music, all the details in a song, can be transposed into different lessons in life—it is a life teacher!"

The Dillon Friends of Music is a 501C3 nonprofit organization founded to enhance and support music education in the public schools of Beaverhead County.

To the Patriot Riders of Beaverhead County,

I am deeply moved and appreciate the honor of being selected to receive the scooter for mobility. It has over whelmed me to be given such a gift. May God bless 10 fold, the lady who donated.

I have named her Elvira after the country music song. Also a deep thank you to Mac's Last Cast for sponsoring me and hosting the presentation.

A PRIVILEGE AND HONOR

Many times people come up to me and call me a hero. I tell them it was a privilege and honor for me to do so. Now I want the public to know who my heroes are. they are the members of team America, like the wives and sweethearts writing the daily or weekly "Sugar Reports" (Letters from home my era). The farmers and ranchers raising our food, the doctors and nurses treating our sick and wounded. The young people who thank us for our service. The older people who thank us for coming home safely. To the police officers and fire men who protect us, and from the bottom of my heart, my comrade brothers who gave their all to team America.

Thank you to all American heroes of our team,

God Bless from me,

Chuck Thompson
