UMW Raises $1M in New Support of Sports & Activities Complex

The Sports & Activities Complex project at the University of Montana Western recently achieved a major milestone due to recent fundraising gifts totaling $1 million. These latest donations bring the total to $3.2M funds raised, initiating the land transfer and project design.

The Sports & Activities Complex will be built on 14 acres of land adjacent to campus that John and Phyllis Erb pledged to the university in 2019. As part of the pledge, the Erbs included a fundraising challenge that provided the momentum to launch the fundraising efforts.

The Erbs' vision is the establishment of a space that will benefit not only the students at Montana Western, but also the youth in Beaverhead County, in addition to the Montana Youth Challenge Academy cadets.

"The Erbs' pledge was the catalyst for this project," said Montana Western Chancellor, Michael Reid. "We are so grateful for their generosity and shared vision that creating a facility like this on campus would be transformative for both the university and our community."

The recent support includes a $500,000 gift from the Baty family and a $200,000 combined gift from Jennifer Johnson and Greg and Tracy Johnson. Beaverhead Motors also pledged $100,000 to the project. These recent generous gifts combined with earlier leadership pledges of $100,000 from Pioneer Federal Savings & Loan, Matt and Jenny Blades and a $225,000 gift from the Harrington family bring the total raised to $3.2 million which fulfills the 2019 fundraising challenge and ensures the $4 million project will move forward.

"We are very excited about the community's response to this project," said Roxanne Engellant, Executive Director of the University of Montana Western Foundation. "The support is a clear indication that people believe in Montana Western and are willing to invest in its future. Due to our generous donors, in just three months, we were able to achieve the next milestone in the project."

The new complex will be available to continue the long-lasting relationship with Beaverhead County High School with the opportunity to host high school games and events for other organizations upon completion.

"This project is as much for our entire community as it is for Montana Western," said UMW Director of Athletics, Michael Feuling. "We look forward to welcoming the community and new generations of Bulldogs to campus to experience this incredible facility."

To view the current donor wall contributors or for more information on supporting Montana Western's Sports & Activities Complex, scholarships and academic programs, please contact the University of Montana Western Foundation at 406-683-7305 or visit tinyurl.com/SupportUMW.

BUTTE PRIDE

By "Swede" Troedsson

A few years ago I went to our local hospital here in Dillon, MT. My visit was to get some lab work done for my annual physical.

Mining Headframe

There was a beautiful receptionist checking me in. I remarked to her how gorgeous she was, and asked her where she was from. She replied, "Butte". Then I remarked, "I guess that makes you a Buttetoid"

She replied "Yes, and proud of it." On the back of her left hand, behind the thumb and forefinger, was a tattoo of a mining head frame.

This was the best example of Butte pride I ever saw.

Clerget takes over as chief legal counsel for FWP

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks has a new face as chief legal counsel. And though she may be new to FWP, she's a veteran at serving the Montana public.

Sarah Clerget has worked nearly her entire legal career as a public servant in Montana. Along with that, she has several years of experience working in natural resource law.

At FWP she combines her passion for serving the public with her love of the outdoors.

Clerget's diverse legal career includes clerking for federal magistrate Carolyn Ostby in Billings, nine years with the Montana Department of Justice as assistant attorney general, and nearly two years with Montana Department of Environmental Quality. She has her undergraduate degree from Columbia University and her law degree from University of Colorado.

"Sarah's enthusiasm, leadership and legal background will be a great addition to FWP," said director Hank Worsech. "Our legal team works on many diverse issues and Sarah's leadership and experience will be critical in the department's continued effort to steward the fish, wildlife and parks resources of Montana."

Clerget lives in Helena with her two young children and husband.

Veteran's Corner. Update #160

By Mike Lawson

What a weekend was had in Butte, with the Folk Festival taking place there. Our Marine Corps League building (the Hooch) is below the tracks from the pit viewing stand and across Garden Avenue from McGruff Park. It's amazing the campers who camp there, as this park was overflowing with campers, tents, trailers, etc.. Our Detachment #724 always serves breakfast to these folks, as it's a great fundraiser for us. It's fun to visit and find our where these people are from.

The news concerning our SW MT Vet Home is encouraging. In visiting with Cory Markovich from Markovich Construction, it sounds like Cottage #5 is getting very close to being ready for the inspection phase and once passing those inspections, will start admitting the memory impaired veterans who are on the waiting list for that Cottage. It's been a long time coming. Cory said they'll start moving equipment onto the Vet Home site in the next week or two, in getting ready for the walkway construction between Cottage #4 and #5. He did say that the state said, that they had been under heavy pressure by the Veterans, to make these walkways become a reality. We did put the pressure on them through our Vet Home Foundation as well as talking to our Congressional Representatives. I saw a dear friend of mine, who I grew up with at the Columbia Gardens, be admitted into the memory unit, Cottage #4, this week. He developed dementia and was at the point he needed more specialized care than his family was able to give him. I was so happy that he, a Navy veteran, was able to be admitted into our Vet Home. Teresa Madrazo, our Veteran's Home Activity Director, is pleased that visitors/volunteers are showing up and doing things with the residents there. On Saturday, Brian Trudgeon, who is now a volunteer, organized a movie time in the Community Center and a number of resident veterans were brought over to watch and enjoy. Another Veteran said he played cribbage with a veteran there and it was very enjoyable. Those residents love company so please consider being a volunteer, which is also being a friend. Our SW MT VET Home Foundation will have met on Monday. The Foundation is always looking for ways we can help our resident veterans. Any of you are welcome to attend and be a member, if you like.

Down the road by Three Bears, our new VA CBOC is being well used. I've had three appointments there already and felt the treatment was friendly and top-notch. The landscapers are making the grounds look beautiful and what a great addition to that area.

I heard from Tom Straugh, down Dillon way, and got the latest vet news from there. Their Honor Guard did the veteran funeral ceremonies for 2 veterans last week and will do another one this week. Tom's expression is gathering to salute our fallen comrades, which is a great way to describe these Honor Guard funeral detail ceremonies. They also hosted a veteran walking the Continental Divide Trail. Many of these Vets who do this, are on a journey to find peace from their war-time memories. This being a host is a great thing in helping these vets on their journey of healing. Ironically Dan Kohr, our VFW 1448 Commander here in Butte, picked up a retired Marine who was doing the same thing.

Here in Butte the United Veteran's Council's Honor Guard have done a lot of Veteran funerals in the last few weeks. This week alone we have 5 funerals. It's an honor to be able to send our deceased brothers and sisters to their final resting place. It's a comfort to know we'll be honored in this way when our days are over and we pass to the other side.

Lewis & Clark Caverns State Park presents speakers, guided hikes and more this month

A full list of this summer's events at the Caverns can be found online at fwp.mt.gov/stateparks/lewis-and-clark-caverns.

July 16 and 17

On Saturday, July 16, at 8 p.m., Radonich will present "Night Skies at Lewis & Clark Caverns" at the campground amphitheater. Radonich will guide you through the constellations and tell the stories behind the stars you see when you look up at the night sky. Among the wonders you'll meet is a star that turned on the lights to open the 1933 Chicago World's Fair, as well as the famous "double-double".

On Sunday, July 17, Radonich will present "Flower Power", an in-depth discovery of what's really happening behind the glamor of flowers. Many people look at flowers and see beautiful colors and intricate designs. But the delicate-looking flower is really a powerful structure that creates optimal conditions to ensure the survival of its offspring. Meet at the main visitor center at 10 a.m. for a brief talk, then head out on a trail to hunt for wildflowers.

ATTENTION FOLKS WHO USE THE TRAIL SYSTEM AROUND THE "M"

Would you help me look for my kitty Dexter? He hasn't come home for over a week. He is a great hunter and is often up on the hill or in the area around the river close to our house on Cliff Road. He has short shiny black hair with white feet, belly and some on his face. He's a neutered male and doesn't usually make friends with strangers easily. If you think you've found or seen him, will you call me? I would sure like to know where he is, alive or not.
