The American Legion would like to thank the community for their amazing, continued support and donations to this program. All health equipment is donated to the program and available for use by anyone in need. Currently the program is short on several items due to recent community need, so if you have health equipment loaned to you through the program and you are no longer using the item(s) please contact Jodie Jolly at 406-925-3563, Dick Jackson at 461-0325, or Frank Allen at 660-7022 to assist with the return.

Ninety-nine percent of 2021 missing indigenous persons cases found: MTDOJ data

Montana law enforcement agencies reported 650 missing indigenous persons cases last year and as of May 30 just one percent of those cases are still active, new data from the Montana Department of Justice show. The majority of individuals – 396 – reported missing were located within two days and 32 were not found within 2021. Of those, 25 have been accounted for during 2022.

Indigenous persons cases made up 30.7 percent of the total 2,114 missing person cases Montana law enforcement agencies entered into the FBI's National Crime Information Center (NCIC) database of missing persons last year. Over 80 percent – 523 – of the missing indigenous person cases in 2021 were under the age of 18. Women made up 67 percent of the missing indigenous persons cases, while men made up 33 percent of cases.

There are currently 47 missing indigenous persons in Montana – 26 have been missing less than a year and 21 have been missing more than a year.

Last year, Attorney General Knudsen launched a new online missing persons database to help law enforcement agencies and public find all missing persons and bring them home. The enhanced database is easier to use and provides accurate and timely information from agencies across the state as they submit updates to the FBI's NCIC database.

For a complete list of missing persons in Montana, visit https://dojmt.gov/missing-persons/.

Beau Brooks Wins World Elk Calling Championship

At a competition riddled with compelling storylines and after years of knocking on the door but never finishing on top, Beau Brooks of La Center, Washington, wowed the crowd and judges alike to complete an unbeaten run to win the professional division of the 2022 Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation World Elk Calling Championships, presented by Sportsman's Warehouse.

"For my whole life, I've always wanted to win the world elk calling competition. This has been one of my biggest goals," said Brooks. "I looked at the board and it was stacked, and I thought, 'This is going to be hard, but this is exactly how I want to win it.' To me, personally, it means the absolute and total world!"

One year after exploding onto the scene at the age of 11 and finishing as runner-up in the women's division, now 12-year-old Ella Lees of LaGrande, Oregon, defied her small stature with powerful calls and execution to make an unbeaten run through a bracket that included four past world champions.

"I wouldn't be able to be here without my friends and family. I feel great and just feel like I've improved a lot since last year's competition," said Lees.

Erik Berglund of Pasco, Washington, who gave up hunting more than a decade ago when his father passed away but was taken in and mentored years later by close bowhunting friends to begin again, won all five of his matches to win the men's division championship.

"It kind of makes me feel reconnected with him so I'll never ever, ever miss a September," said Berglund. "It was an incredible experience. There were a lot of great competitors, amazing callers. I'm kind of beside myself with the outcome."

Kelton Allman of Santa, Idaho, was the only 2021 champion to successfully defend his or her title. He beat friend Landon Tweedy 4-3 in the tightest finish of any title match to win the youth championship. And in his final year of competition in the pee wee division, Sam Wolcott of Rexburg, Idaho, used only his voice and a grunt tube to win the 2022 title.

Below is a list of top finishers in each division.

Professional Division:
•1st - Beau Brooks, La Center, Wash.
•2nd - Tony Gilbertson, Veronia, Ore.

DILLON WEEKLY STREET PLANS

Plan for the week is to finish up the services on Idaho between Glendale and Bannack street as well as the storm drain. The services will be installed on Bannack between Washington and Idaho as well. The final connection on Montana and Bannack will be done on Wednesday or Thursday and then all the pipe will be installed. The paving prep will continue on Washington St.

We are still waiting to get the survey fixed on Idaho between Center and Bannack. As soon as we have that we'll get the subgrade finished up and graved. It shouldn't take more than a day or two to gravel it and open it up. We will probably begin cutting some subgrade on Idaho between Bannack and Glendale late this week. Right now we are scheduled to have the curb machine on Aug 15. Concrete patching is in progress on Bannack.
