I Hate Oatmeal

Bryce Angell

I loved a hardy breakfast back when I was growing up, with bacon, eggs, and hotcakes soaked in homemade maple syrup.
Or French toast cooked a golden brown with sausage on the side.
And potatoes from the garden that were sliced, and butter fried.
But Tuesdays and each Friday we'd have toast and steamed oatmeal.
Back then I called it torture how it made my stomach feel.
To me there was no question why old timers called it gruel.
If you really think about the name, it sounds a lot like cruel.
One day my father came to me and said, "Let's make a deal.
I'll give you this old saddle if you'll eat your danged oatmeal!
"You can have your pick of bridles or any tack in here. But you'll have to eat your oatmeal, not complain for one full year."
It sounded like a deal, but I was sure of dad's intent.
If I ate that goo for one full year, for certain I'd relent.
The day my long year started, Mom made oatmeal, just for fun.
I gagged it with a smile. My stomach said, "Let's cut and run!"
I conjured up so many ways to get the oatmeal down.
I even added chocolate chips, which made my mother frown.
A glob of Karo syrup kept my gag reflex at bay.
And it even helped pretending, I'm a horse whose eating hay.
For one full year I ate those oats. It seemed like every day.
And never did I whine or cry. It was time to get my pay.
I told my dad our year was up but still I had concern. 'Cuz the thought of eating steamed oatmeal still made my stomach churn.
My father looked at me and said, "I see you got it done.
And you never even once complained. It didn't look much fun.
"If the oatmeal tastes that bad to you, don't eat it anymore.
You can run this by your mother. I'll let that be your chore."
Well sixty years has come and gone. I still have my old saddle.
But try and push oatmeal my way. You'll have yourself a battle.

SINGLE VEHICLE ACCIDENT

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

First responders were called out to a single vehicle accident on I-15 Monday morning. A vehicle heading southbound near mile marker 50 suffered what is to be believed a blowout on the drivers side front tire. The vehicle pulled to the left crossed through the meridian and across the Northbound I-15 lane before running through the fence and rolling on to the High Bridge road. The vehicle then became entangled in the willows which stopped it from going into the river. The passenger of the vehicle did suffer some injuries and was transported to Barret Hospital for treatment via an ambulance.

Montana Western Volleyball

The Montana Western volleyball team fell to College of Idaho and University of Saint Katherine Friday night. The Bulldogs fell to College of Idaho three sets to zero before dropping the second game to the University of Saint Katherine three sets to one in a hard-fought battle, taking the Firebirds past 25 in two sets.

The Montana Western volleyball team (0-5) finished up their trip to Caldwell with a pair of top 25 losses Saturday.

The Bulldogs fell to #7 ranked Corban University (Ore.) three sets to zero before dropping their second game of the day to Southwestern Assemblies of God University (Texas) three sets to one.

Montana Western (0-5) dropped sets, 13-25, 18-25, and 17-25 to Corban University (2-1).

The Bulldogs battled early on in the first set, trailing only by one point at 8-9. However, the Bulldogs struggled to keep up with the firepower of the Corban front row attack. In set two, the Bulldogs were able to take the lead at 11-10 behind an ace from Morgan Kirch. However, the Warriors then outscored the Bulldogs 15-8 to win the set. The third set saw the Warriors total 15 kills to win the set 17-25.

Montana Western (0-5) fell to SAGU (4-0) after four sets, 9-25, 25-27, 25-20, and 19-25.

The Bulldogs struggled in the first set to get into a rhythm as the Lions came out to win 9-25. Set two saw the Bulldogs come out to an 11-4 lead on the Lions early on. The Lions fought their way back to a 16 all tie.

The Lions took the set 25-27, however the Bulldogs were able to run on the momentum picked up to snag a huge win in set three 25-20. Set four proved to be a tough battle again for the Bulldogs. Although they were able to bring it within two points at 17-19 behind a kill from Smith, they were unable to hang on as the Lions pulled ahead to win the set 20-25.
