Leslie Lynn (Jones) Mugaas

Leslie Lynn (Jones) Mugaas was born July 26, 1942, in Butte, MT, to Robert Leslie Jones, and Louise (Harvey) Jones. After a short battle with Uterine Cancer, Lynn died at her home in Bozeman, MT, September 22, 2022.

Lynn grew up on the family cattle ranch near Wise River, MT. She attended Kindergarten in Dillon, MT, but completed grades 1 through 8 at the Wise River school. She attended Beaverhead County High School in Dillon, graduating in 1960. She was active in several clubs, attended Girls State, and in her Senior year she was Harvest Ball Queen, and Vice President of her class. She attended Montana State University, Missoula, Montana (now the University of Montana). She graduated in 1964 with a B.S. degree and majors in Home Economics, and Biology education. She was a member of Tanan of Spur, a national sophomore women's service honorary, the Home Economics Club, and a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

In 1964-65, she taught Home Economics and Biology at Toole County High School, Sunburst, Montana.

In March 1965, she married John N. Mugaas, and they have lived in Missoula, MT, Moorhead, MN, Memphis, TN, Lewisburg, WV, and for the last 10 years, Bozeman, MT. In Missoula she worked in the Admissions office, and at the Home Economics Department's Home Living Center. In Memphis she completed a certificate in architectural drafting and worked for an architectural firm. In Lewisburg she was employed by West Virginia School of Osteopathic Medicine as a laboratory supervisor and helped teach histology and pathology labs, assisted at autopsies, prepared biopsy specimens for analysis by pathologists, and assisted faculty members with their research.

Lynn and John lived in Lewisburg, WV, for 33 years. She was the first person in West Virginia to become a fully certified Master Naturalist, participated annually in Christmas Bird Counts, helped conduct a five-year, state-wide, dragonfly and damselfly survey. Assisted the DNR in conducting mammal surveys in the Cranberry Glades Wilderness, and for several years monitored a set of twelve Saw-whet Owl nest boxes. She also loved hiking, geocaching, and hanging out with her many friends at the weekly Sherry Club gatherings.

While taking my finger off the chainsaw trigger, and letting the saw coast to a stop, I lowered the bar too close to my leg and felt the saw chain cut about one inch below my kneecap. As an RN I'd seen a thousand chainsaw injuries. I managed to expose the wound and then wrapped a sock, which I found in the back seat of the truck, around my leg. The sock seemed to control the bleeding, so I proceeded to pick up my plunder and head for home.

About that time a truck came driving up with Craig Myers, of Pocatello, at the wheel and his father-in-law riding shotgun. They could see my plight, so they helped me load my gear and even loaded the poles I had cut. And all the while with a smile on their face. The timing was perfect, and I'm in their debt.

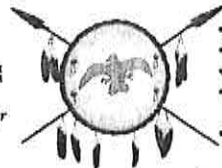

The very next day, with a sore leg, I managed to finish my stump grinding project. The grinder was easy to unload from the trailer and then power into the job of grinding stumps. However, no one informed me that loading back on the trailer might just take three men and a boy. The wheels, on the stump grinder, kept spinning out which prevented the climb back onto the trailer. I was by myself and after several failed attempts to load the grinder, decided to take a break. Better to play it safe so Brother Thomas, down the road, doesn't hear my well-practiced cussing.

So, I drove down to get the mail and doing so passed the Shotgun Bar. There were a dozen trucks and a couple of 4-wheelers out front. I decided, what the heck and walked in and hollered, "Can anyone help me for about ten minutes?" I had more volunteers than you can shake a stick at. We pushed the stump grinder onto the trailer faster than a scratch ticket steals your twenty-dollar bill.

These heroes of the day volunteered to get me out of a tight spot. They also did their good deed with a smile on their faces. Once again, I'm indebted to them.

We live in a world of, "It's all about me." Yet, there are still good men and women standing by willing to give of their time to someone in need and expect nothing in return.

My grandmother taught me to get off my haunches and go help. I wonder if the volunteers who helped me had a grandmother teach them as well.

Montana Western football team fell to (RV) Montana Tech

The Montana Western football team fell to (RV) Montana Tech by a score of 33-24, despite holding the Orediggers to only three points in the second half. Jon Jund led the Bulldogs with 217 passing yards, 101 rushing yards, and a touchdown. The Bulldog defense struggled to perform as they have in weeks past.

How It Happened

Montana Tech jumped out to a fourteen-point lead early in the first quarter of the game. With 6:52 on the clock, the Bulldogs answered off of a drive that was capped off by a one-yard touchdown run by Reese Neville. Just before the end of the first quarter, the Orediggers picked up a safety and two points off of a bad snap. The score would then remain 7-16 heading into the second quarter. Montana Tech then scored twice before the Bulldogs were able to answer. With 4:25 left until half, the Bulldogs scored on a five-yard touchdown run by Colten McPhee. The Bulldogs headed into the half with some ground to makeup as the score was 14-30.

The second half was a defensive battle for both teams as both sides forced a three and out. The Bulldogs put the first points on the board of the half after a Jund touchdown pass to Trey Mounts for 47 yards, bringing the score to 21-30. At the start of the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs had a 17 play, 76-yard drive that ended in a John Mears field goal that brought the score to 24-30. The Orediggers were able to run out the clock on their next drive which resulted in a field goal that sealed the victory over the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs ultimately fell to Montana Tech by a score of 24-33.

Notables

- This is the first Bulldog loss at home since the 14-17 loss to College of Idaho on Nov. 3, 2018.
- Jund totaled 217 passing yards, 101 rushing yards, and one passing touchdown.
- Braden Smith led the Bulldogs with tackles as he totaled 11, 2 of which solo tackles, and 1 tackle for loss.
- Blake Sentman tallied five receptions and 68 yards.
- Braden Swank and Kameron Rauser each tacked on 10 tackles for the Bulldog defense.

Up Next: The Bulldogs will look to bounce back next week in their homecoming game at home against Rocky Mountain College at 1 PM MST.
