Human trafficker sentenced to life in prison

A Billings man was sentenced to life in prison following an investigation by the Montana Department of Justice's Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI)

Following a bench trial, Angelo Stackhouse was found guilty in June by U.S. District Judge Susan P. Watters of transportation of a person with intent to engage in illegal sexual activity, distribution of cocaine to a person under the age of 21, distribution of cocaine and methamphetamine, possession with intent to distribute cocaine, possession of a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking offense and two counts of kidnapping. In 2020, Stackhouse trafficked illegal narcotics and sexually assaulted a 20-year old female he transported to Colorado, while providing her cocaine. He also kidnapped two minor girls in 2020 and 2021 with the purpose of sexually assaulting them in hotel rooms in Billings.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Billings Police Department, and Yellowstone County Sheriff's Office assisted DCI with the investigation. The case was prosecuted by the U.S. Attorney's Office.

Attorney General Knudsen has made it a priority of his administration to fight human trafficking.

Montana Western men's basketball team

The University of Montana Western men's basketball team is on their way to starting the 2022-23 season this week after a third-place finish in Frontier conference play last season. The Bulldogs will start their season with a road stand in California where they will face Cal-Maritime and Menlo College. After going 18-12 on their regular season, the Bulldogs lost in the semifinals of the Frontier Conference tournament to Montana Tech by only two points. In a preseason poll of Frontier Conference men's basketball coaches, Carroll College was the pick to win the 2022-2023 league title, with the Bulldogs coming in just behind Montana Tech in third overall, claiming 17 total votes.

The Bulldogs are returning all but two from last season's squad. The Bulldogs lost All-America Honorable Mention Jalen Hodges, the 6-4 senior from Duluth, Ga. who started in 26 of 29 games last season. He averaged 16.1 points a game, shot 52 percent from the field, averaged 5.3 rebounds and 1.0 assists per game. The Bulldogs also graduated second team all-conference senior Max Clark who continued on to become a two-time all-conference player for the Bulldogs that averaged 14.1 points per game, 5.6 rebounds per game, and shot 47.9% from the floor during his senior season.

The Bulldogs open their season this Saturday Oct. 29 on the road as they will be facing off with California Maritime Academy at 5:30 PM hosted by Menlo College. They will also take on Menlo College on Sunday Oct. 30 to cap off the trip to California. The Bulldog's first home game will be on Nov. 11 against Dickinson State for the Western Classic.

the Frontier Conference and one term as vice-president of the Montana Education Association unit at Western. In 2013, he was inducted into the University of Montana Western Hall of Fame for coaching the 1977 football team.

George retired from coaching in 1980 and worked as the director of the Western Montana College Alumni Association until 1986. Under his leadership, the association created the Western Montana College Athletic Hall of Fame. The final line of George's Western resume was his post as director of student teaching and placement. He served in that position until his retirement in 1996.

The friendships George made during his years of coaching and teaching were deep and meaningful. In the same years he formed lasting bonds with his mentors, players, and peers, he also built a family. George married Ellen McCracken on May 29, 1963. They were blessed with two children, Randal and Linda, and five granddaughters: Kalli, Kelsey, Alexandra, Madison, and Mackenzie. Ellen was the love of George's life for nearly 60 years, and their children and grandchildren added a dash of spice to those days together.

Of course, anyone who knew George could see he had a zest for life all his own. He was a perennial class clown, always ready with a prank, pun, or witty comment. As Ellen puts it, "George was born to enjoy life — and he made sure everybody nearby enjoyed it with him." When he wasn't finding humor in unlikely places, George stayed busy exploring the back roads of Montana, feeding moose and deer from the deck of his hand-built cabin in Polaris, and cheering on his children and grandchildren at their many sporting events. Through them, he shared his passion for athletics with future generations.

George passed away on Sunday, Oct. 16, at his home in Dillon. He led a long, loving, and accomplished life of 85 years. He is survived by his brother, Robert, his wife, Ellen, and their cherished children and grandchildren.
