Dillon Friends of Music fundraiser Update

Thanks to all of the generous folks of Dillon who contributed to the Dillon Friends of Music cheese, meat and candy fundraiser. Thank you so much for your patience as we know our items have taken a little extra time to get to you. While we were originally supposed to receive the items the second week in December as we have in years past, the delivery truck coming from Kansas was significantly delayed so we apologize that our deliveries are running behind. While a very small number of items will be arriving the first week of the New Year, the rest of the items have been handed off to the students and should be delivered to you very shortly. Thanks again for your patience and for your support of our Band and Choir students through the Dillon Friends of Music.

Wolf trapping opens in all occupied grizzly bear habitat across the state

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks wildlife staff completed its final assessment of grizzly bear activity in occupied grizzly bear habitat. Effective Saturday, Dec. 24, wolf trapping season is open in all areas of occupied grizzly bear habitat across the state, including deer and elk hunting district (HD) 130 in northwest Montana.

Hunters and trappers should note that wolf harvest quotas exist in each FWP trapping district and wolf management unit 313. Those harvest quotas can be viewed and followed on the FWP Wolf Dashboard.

In August, the Montana Fish and Wildlife Commission approved wolf hunting and trapping regulations for the 2022 season, which ends March 15, 2023. The regulations include a floating start date for wolf trapping in occupied grizzly bear habitat. The intent of the floating start date is to avoid conflict with grizzly bears that have yet to den for the winter.

FWP makes a decision opening trapping in occupied bear habitat each Monday in December with input from field staff on bear activity.

Trappers still need to exercise caution when out in the field. Black bears are still active in some parts of the state. In addition, grizzly bears can leave dens at any point during winter; trappers are encouraged to avoid trapping in areas where grizzly sign is detected.

Wolf hunters and trappers should make sure to be familiar with the 2022 Furbearer, Wolf and Trapping Regulations, which include maps of occupied grizzly bear habitat.

Bryce Angell

My wife gave me a challenge, last year on New Year's Eve, to welcome in a brand new year. I must have been naïve.

I usually go to bed the same time chickens do at night. So for me to stay up late at night was really going to bite.

I hoped to stay awake by drinking caffeinated drinks. I loaded up at Wal Mart with my favorite smokie links.

My wife bought cheese and crackers and we made her onion dip. Was I ready for the evening? I just had to get a grip.

At eight o'clock my brain was saying, "Time to go to bed." But I shook it off before my wife could call me, "Sleepy head."

There were only four more hours that I'd need to stay awake. But my eyes were getting sleepy. How much more could I take?

So at nine o'clock I ate the smokies, crackers and the cheese. Then I drank down all the soda pop. Those drinks were just a tease.

At ten o'clock my eyes were drooping down to go to sleep. I realized this challenge was a little bit too steep.

My mouth was sagging open. I was 'bout to drip some drool, when my fuzzy brain connected. It said, "Get to sleep you fool!"

At eleven sharp I closed my eyes to get a wink or two. Those doggone winks turned out to be a little more than few.

I thought I heard my wife say, "Hon it's almost twelve o'clock." I must have been in heaven, I was sleeping like a rock.

When I woke and looked around the room, I'd somehow climbed in bed. And sure enough my wife exclaimed, "Good morning sleepy head."

How does a husband live it down? A wife just seems to know. She'd warned me not to close my eyes. She's saying, "Told you so."

I hope I stop accepting every challenge from my wife. I know I should resist. It always seems to cause me strife.

So, this Saturday, on New Year's Eve, it won't be such a shock. There'll be no more celebrating and in bed at eight o'clock.

New Years Eve at the Elks

Dillon Elks will be hosting New Years Eve at the Elks, beginning with corn hole at 7pm followed by dancing to the music of Tom Susanj at 9pm. Hot snacks and party favors will be provided. All of this without a cover charge. Come and enjoy your Dillon Elks Lodge.

Bulldogs Finish Cactus Classic 3-0 With Win Over Redhawks

The No. 18 ranked Bulldogs stretch their win streak to five games and an overall record of 10-2 after they defeated Benedictine University at Mesa today by a score of 74-50.

How it Happened

The first half was all Bulldogs as they posted a game-high 23 points in the first quarter behind Payton Hagy's 2-2 performance from the three-point line. The Bulldogs continued to outscore the Redhawks to go up 41-17 at the half. UMW shot 50 percent from the field across the first two quarters, while adding 18 points from the three-point line.

The hot start for the Bulldogs wore off as the third quarter got going. Following a fast break layup from Shainy Mack, the Bulldogs struggled through a four-minute stretch of misses from the field. A layup from Jordan Sweeney broke the stretch with 2:03 left in the quarter. Holding a 53-30 lead over the Redhawks, the Bulldogs went on to outscore Benedictine 21-20 down the stretch to win the matchup 74-50.

Notables

- The Bulldogs shot 50 percent from the field despite another rough go with 20 turnovers in the game, just one less than their season high of 21.
- Montana Western turned the Redhawk's 19 turnovers into 20 points, with six on fast break opportunities.
- The Bulldog bench added 32 points in the game as the entire Bulldog roster put points on the board.
- Jordan Sweeney led the Bulldogs with 11 points, two assists, and a rebound.
- Joelnell Momberg added 10 points with two rebounds and three assists.

Up Next

The Bulldogs finish out the trip 10-2 and will prepare for the Green and Gold Classic next week. They will first take on Dickinson State (N.D.) on Dec. 29 at 1:30pm MST in Billings, Mont. The last time the two teams faced, the Bulldogs won 83-58 on Nov. 5.

Public Service Announcement

With more cold weather predicted, the City of Dillon would like to remind homeowners to take measures to prevent their pipes from freezing. Here are several tips: (1) allow a small trickle of water from your cold water faucet in your kitchen to run to keep pipes from freezing. The cost of the extra water is low compared to the cost to repair a broken pipe; (2) keep garage doors closed if there are water supply lines in the garage; (3) open kitchen and bathroom cabinets to allow warmer air circulation around the plumbing and also remember to move any harmful cleaners and household chemicals out of reach of children; (4) If you will be going away during the cold weather, leave the heat on in your home, set to a temperature no lower than 55 degrees Fahrenheit.

Last winter was an unusual winter with so many service lines freezing throughout the community. The City of Dillon recommends to citizens to keep a small trickle running as a preventative measure to keep their service lines from freezing. If you have had problems in the past we encourage you to run a small trickle of water from your cold water faucet in your kitchen. This of course is at the customers discretion, as the cost of running water is at their expense.

The City of Dillon would like to wish everyone Happy Holidays and Merry Christmas!

Attorney General Knudsen, law enforcement leaders gather in Billings to support governor's public safety budget

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen convened law enforcement officials and legislators in Billings to discuss and show support for Governor Greg Gianforte's executive budget recommendations that increases investment in law enforcement and public safety resources amidst the drug crime crisis that has grown over the past decade in Montana.

The Governor's budget proposal, released last month, includes additional Highway Patrol troopers, investigators, prosecutors, and other support staff at the Montana Department of Justice to fight human trafficking, crack down on drugs, keep our roadways safe, and support crime victims.

"We can't keep policing in Montana like it's 1995. Previous administrations failed to recognize the growing drug and crime problems in our state and did not take appropriate measures to confront it. That changed last year when Governor Gianforte and I came into office," Attorney General Knudsen said. "We're taking action at the Department of Justice to get the problem under control, but we need the legislature to fund our request during the upcoming session."

Human Trafficking:

Montana Department of Justice human trafficking investigators initiated 64 cases in fiscal year 2022, an increase of 300 percent from 16 in the previous fiscal year. Building on Attorney General Knudsen's work to raise awareness, increase training, and develop a comprehensive response to human trafficking in the state, the Governor's budget would add:

- Four human trafficking agents that would be placed in locations with federal and/or local partners to provide comprehensive coverage of the state;
- An additional prosecutor dedicated to work on the increased human trafficking casework generated by the increased capacity.

Narcotics:

Law enforcement seizures of dangerous drugs have increased dramatically in recent and are on pace to exceed previous records, including more than 155,000 dosage units of fentanyl and 172 pounds of methamphetamine in the first three quarters of the year. Attorney General Knudsen has dedicated additional resources to fighting the drug epidemic, but more is needed. The executive budget proposal would add:

- Three additional narcotics investigators to address gaps where the DOJ narcotics bureau does not have a strong presence and
- An additional prosecutor dedicated to address the increased narcotics caseload.

Roadways:
 As Montana's population increases, there has also been an increase in calls for service and fatal crashes. Meanwhile, more and more traffic stops are leading to drug seizures and related crime. The budget proposal would provide MHP with:

- Five additional troopers to patrol thinly covered areas and help reduce the number of fatal crashes;
- A data analyst to produce insights into trooper deployments, crash patterns, and development related legislative and policy proposals.

Major Crimes:
 DCI's Major Case Section provides criminal investigative assistance to city, county, state, and federal law enforcement agencies. In recent years, the department has had to decline requests for assistance as murders, sexual assaults, and use-of-force incidents have increased in Montana. To ensure DCI can work the full array of crimes against persons and property, the governor's budget would provide:

- Three investigators to improve service and responsiveness and the number of cases the section can take on and
- An additional prosecutor to the Attorney General's Office to handle the additional cases associated with these and other investigations.

Other Crime:
 The governor's budget would also fund additional positions at DCI to combat a wide array of other crimes:

- An investigator focused on exploitation of vulnerable adults cases; an additional prosecutor dedicated to address the increased caseload
- An investigator within the Computer Crime Unit

- specifically Internet Crimes Against Children;
- A manager for the Sex Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) Program to provide victims options to receive care and improve sexual assault prosecutions; and
- A coordinator to support the statewide Missing Murdered Indigenous Persons Program (MMIP).

Some of the positions, such as those related to MMIP and SANE depend upon the passage of other legislation authorizing the programs.

The total cost would be $4 million for fiscal year 2024 and $3.1 million in 2025. The higher cost in the first year of the biennium is due to upfront equipment purchases such as computers, patrol vehicles, and service firearms.
