A Gun for My Wife

Bryce Angell

My wife declared, a while ago, "I'd like to have a gun."

I asked her, "Are you scared or do you want one just for fun?"

I told her she could use my guns if she was feeling scared.

But she wanted something smaller, one she wouldn't have to share.

I hoped that she could shoot a gun. She'd practiced with a few.

But my wife's request that made me wince: She wanted bullets, too!

With nervous hesitation and a checkbook in my hand,

I drove on down to Harold's place. I knew he'd understand.

Harold sold guns and gear and recognized my plight.

He said, "She's asking for your help. So buy one, make it right."

I trusted Harold's judgment dang near like he was my kin.

Then he showed me a revolver that was in his clearance bin.

I asked to get a better look. He handed me the gun.

A Smith and Wesson .38. My shopping day was done.

I paid the price. He wrapped it up with bullets, too, of course.

I took it home and really hoped I'd never feel remorse.

I showed it to my wife, and now she had her own defense.

We went out in the yard and nailed a target to the fence.

I thought I'd show my prowess. I knew how to shoot a gun.

When I was young my cousin taught me how to make it fun.

I aimed, then shot. Where did it go? I fired the second round.

I hit the target then it ricocheted right off the ground.

The proof was in the pudding. I hadn't practiced near enough.

But I told my wife the barrel sites weren't nearly up to snuff.

Once again she gave me a wifely understanding smile.

That seemed to soothe my manly pride, but only for a while.

My wife reloaded. Then she aimed and fired a single shot.

She waited and then fired five more. It seemed she knew a lot.

She never missed the target. She'd been shooting on the sly.

Each bullet had been placed just right. Two hit the darn bull's eye.

So, I guess I should be happy, since my wife was tickled pink.

And life couldn't get much better, 'cuz I got that special wink.

HISTORY OF WOMEN'S ATHLETICS AT UMW

Montana Western continues to honor the 50th Anniversary year of the passing of Title IX by sharing the stories and history of women's athletics at UMW. Today's story is from former All-American volleyball and basketball player Katherine Sunwall. Katherine Sunwall graduated from Montana Western in 2007 with a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education.

As a volleyball and basketball student-athlete at Montana Western, Katherine received several honors. For volleyball, she was a 2002 Freshman of the Year, a First Team All-Conference athlete 2003-2005, a 2004 First Team All-Region athlete, a 2005 Frontier Conference MVP and a 2005 NAIA Third Team All American. Sunwall is in the record books for recording 27 kills in a single match, 344 kills in a single season, and recorded the second most blocks with 167 in a season (rally point scoring to 30pts from 01-07).

In Basketball, Katherine was a 2004 Frontier Conference Freshman of the Year. From 2004-2007, she was a First Team All-Conference athlete. For 3 seasons, 2005-2007, Katherine was the Frontier Conference Defensive Player of the Year. In 2005, she was both an NAIA and WBCA All American Honorable Mention. In 2006, she was an NAIA All-American Second Team athlete and a WBCA All American Honorable Mention. In 2007, Katherine was an MVP of the Frontier Conference and an NAIA and WBCA All-American First Team Athlete, and led the nation in blocks. Sunwall is at the top of the record book basketball as she is a top five scorer in Bulldog history after accumulating 1605 points in her four seasons for the women's basketball team.

Katherine Sunwall - HOF Volleyball and Basketball Player (Player-'02-'07)
"I played volleyball and basketball at Western from 2002- 2007.

I worked in the cafeteria on the weekday mornings under Brenda Borjas, attended classes that prepared me for my teaching career, then was off to two practices a day-one for volleyball and one for basketball under Jenny Peterson and Kevin Engellant. My professors were excellent and provided hands-on teaching experiences that I learned so much from. I was also involved in Chi Alpha as well and that helped me form in my spiritual life.

I learned so many life lessons from playing athletics at Western and it started with my coaches- Jenny and Kevin and then of course my teammates. I am currently a kindergarten teacher at Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic School in Great Falls, Mont.- this is my tenth year. I have also been coaching volleyball and basketball in Great Falls for 13 years. I currently only coach basketball (JV) at Great Falls High School - where I attended high school.

Some of my advice is not to take this time for granted. Cherish each and every moment. Work extremely hard in whatever you are doing. Whether you are mopping the gymnasium floor as your job or making omelets in the cafeteria. Writing a paper or helping a child learn how to read, or hustling after a ball, just give it your all. Make your family, friends, coaches, teammates, professors and Western proud of you- be a leader, someone you want your future kids to look up to. Lastly, don't spend too much time at the Metlen."

He also added five boards and an assist. • Brenton Woods followed in scoring, adding 10 points and Jamal Stephenson added three assists.

Final Season Notes

Senator Jeff Welborn's Weekly Report

This past Monday, in a joint session of the Montana House and Senate, we heard from Montana's congressional delegates when they all came to speak about their individual work in Congress and the work they'd like to see in the statehouse. Montana's senior Senator, Jon Tester, the lone Democrat in the delegation, spoke first about the state's $2.5 billion budget surplus. He urged legislators to use some of it to address Montana's lack of affordable housing and child care.

Republican Sen. Steve Daines in his speech called on we as state lawmakers to protect what he called Montana's way of life, manage our forests, and pointed to his recent suspension from Twitter as evidence that it's at risk. Daines' account was suspended when he posted a hunting photo. My take away here was more of a National perspective, but agree we must protect our privacy, our constitutional rights, and do a better job of managing our forests and public lands.

Republican Rep. Ryan Zinke is representing the state's newly added western district. He said it's important for Congress to balance the federal government's budget and review what's considered mandatory spending. Congressman Zinke said, "We're going to go bankrupt, quickly, and there won't be social security, there won't be money for defense, there won't be money for our parks and services. So it's time to act." I agree.

Republican Rep. Matt Rosendale, from Montana's eastern U.S. House seat, spoke mostly about being among a handful of holdout votes, among hardline conservative representatives, contesting the election of Speaker of the House Kevin McCarthy. Congressman Rosendale, in his speech mentioned how the faction forced change in how Congress operates, and that it was only possible given the tight majority Republicans hold. Time will tell if his was a productive approach.

All of the Federal delegates applauded the work of Montana's Citizen Legislature, and asked that we work together to solve the state's challenges. I also support that approach.

Now a little bit about on what we are accomplishing leading up to our transmittal break. We worked several twelve or more hour days this past week, hearing literally hundreds of bills across all committees in the Senate, on a host of issues from water policy, land use, our housing crisis, and how to send some of the budget surplus back to the people in form of tax cuts and direct rebates. We also had some robust discussions in our Agriculture Committee on board appointments by the Governors office, that have yet to be confirmed by the full Senate. Lastly we continue to take action on setting the budget, and approving the spending of State Government. It seems like there are lots of opinions in best way to proceed, but I feel the best work gets done when all points are considered. There is an undertone that Democrats have teamed up with ultra conservative wing of the Republican caucus. This is causing concern with some moderate voices in both the House and Senate, as well as the Governor's Office.

As someone that fits somewhere in the middle of my own caucus. I feel like i'm in a small group of free agents, that can help bring folks together, time will tell.

I feel most Montanans would agree that budget negotiations should be about being inclusive, transparent, discussing other's ideas, and most importantly, sharing a vision for the end game with all stakeholders. That simply hasn't happened, and rather than pointing fingers, I'm asking all stakeholders to take a deep breath, there are plenty of good ideas to go around, if we all work together.

In closing, i'd like to thank the Big Hole business community for hosting their annual skijoring event, Marni and I drove out on Sunday, and enjoyed an awesome Montana kind of day.

Thanks for staying in touch on issues important to you.
