Dr. Donald Frederick Darling

Dr. Donald Frederick Darling passed away peacefully on March 2, 2023, at Barrett Hospital in Dillon. Don was born on October 27, 1936, in Winona, Minnesota, to Frank Frederick and Laura Alice (Thompson) Darling.

Don was born during the end of the depression and his early life was very happy. His father was a fireman and was injured on the job, which eventually led to his death in 1945. His family life then changed dramatically with his mother working full time as a nurse and his only sister starting college. Don had to become a contributing member of the household, tending the coal-burning furnace, mowing the lawn, and sanding and painting the house. The result was a very independent child. He began delivering newspapers at age 10, later worked at Schuler Chocolate Factory, and eventually became a truck driver and delivery person. He played football beginning in 8th grade and continued through his senior year.

Don was a member of the U.S. Navy Reserves for eight years beginning in 1955. He began attending Winona State Teacher's College where the tuition and fees for 1954-55 were $90.00, and graduated in 1958 with a major in science and a minor in history. He taught physics, chemistry, biology and general science in Winona and Houston, Minnesota. He returned to school for his M.A. in biology, and then taught general science and biology at Wilson Campus School in Mankato, Minnesota. He received his doctorate from the University of North Dakota in 1970 and continued teaching at Wilson until its closure in 1977.

Don then accepted a position at the University of Montana in Missoula working with schools on the Blackfeet Reservation in Browning. He next became Curriculum Director for Helena Public Schools, then Superintendent of Schools at Nezperce, Idaho, and then Nome, Alaska. He completed his career by serving as principal at Akutan, Alaska, and finally Mountain Village, Alaska. He also taught for a while at the University of Montana Western.

Don met his future wife Pat Brown, from Park Ridge, Illinois, during his college years when she was in Nurse's Training at St. Marys Hospital in Rochester, Minnesota. They were married in July 1958 in Park Ridge. Don and Pat retired to Dillon in 1998.

Don was a Hunter Education instructor for 50 years and was an avid hunter, including an African Safari. He was a dedicated World War II history buff.

Senator Welborn's Transmittal Break Report

This week we reached our transmittal break, marking the halfway point of the 68th Legislature. Probably the most-publicized legislation so far is our tax relief package, which we refer to as the "8 pack." We've also passed a number of technology-focused privacy bills, scores of red tape relief bills, and several bills to further improve the integrity of our elections.

The "8 pack" tax relief package includes two bills providing one-time income and property tax rebates to Montanans, two bills providing permanent tax relief to individuals, two bills permanently reducing taxes on Montana businesses, one bill paying off the state's debt, and one bill investing in road and bridge infrastructure to prevent future tax increases. Altogether, the bills add up to $1 billion in tax relief, making this the largest tax cut in Montana history.

Several bills protecting Montanan's right to privacy, have been advancing through the legislative process. Banning the state from using continuous facial recognition surveillance technology drew bipartisan support in the Senate. The Genetic Information Privacy Act would require companies that work with genetic information to be transparent about the usage of that information. The Consumer Data Privacy Act requires companies to obtain consent prior to gathering or using Montanans' electronic data, and gives Montanans the right to have their data deleted.

There are also two, really important water rights & policy bills moving through the process. These proposals are the product of a stakeholder driven process, led by Lt. Governor Juris, and vetted by a diverse group of stakeholders, including the Legislative Water Policy Interim Committee, over the past 20 months. My fingers are crossed these will stay alive.

Overall, the Senate has been working in partnership with Governor Gianforte, in a fairly bi-partisan fashion, to help get government off the backs of hardworking Montanans. In total, 185 Red Tape Relief bills have been introduced this session, with 12 having been signed by the Governor already and another 41 headed to his desk for his signature.

Gravy Sat Only 9 a.m.!!"

Another 104 have already passed their first chamber. These bills cover a variety of regulatory areas, but one thing they have in common is that they make it easier for people to live, work, and recreate in Montana.

Speaking of recreation in Montana, I'd be remiss, if I failed to mention SB 497, a bill introduced this past week, seeking to change laws related to prescriptive easements, by opening up Stream Access statute. I was contacted by literally hundreds of folks on this issue, and not a single one was in support, thanks for weighing in, it helps drive sound decisions.

Without going into the details, this was a poorly written proposal, introduced in the 11th hour, and being promoted only by a couple of lobbyists, representing a small group of both non-resident and Montana based interests, but certainly not part of any collaboration, or stakeholder driven group whatsoever.

Thankfully we were able to kill this measure on the Senate Floor in a huge bi-partisan fashion, where I spoke against this proposal, it died with 36 Senators voting no, and only 14 voting yes.

The halfway point of the legislative session is a good time to reflect on what's been accomplished. Although I've only highlighted a few areas, that we have been working on. Pushing back on regulations, protecting our privacy, common sense outdoor recreation policy, water rights protections, a sensible budget that Montana can afford and inflation relief for our State, are just a few examples of the good work being done.

I will be back in Dillon for the first part of this coming week, traveling back to Helena on Thursday to gavel back in to start the second half of the session. Please stay in touch on the issue's important to you
