Hugo Aronson
1891-1978

THE GALLOPING SWEDE

By "Swede" Troedsson

In the early twenties my Dad and his two brothers immigrated to America from Sweden. All earned a college education. One became a physician, one became an architect, and my Dad worked for the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York City in foreign credit for forty years.

Dad always wanted to visit Montana. So, in 1957, while I was a college student in Missoula, Montana, I accepted a summer job with the U.S. Forest Service in Skykomish, Washington. The plan was Dad would travel on the train from New York to Montana. I would drive in my Nash Rambler from Missoula to meet Dad in Miles City, Montana. He would ride with me across Montana to Washington where I would start my summer employment. In Seattle he would board a train for the return trip to New York City.

Our first day in Miles City, we attended the exciting annual Bucking Horse Sale! The second day, we stayed overnight in a motel in Helena. The next morning, we ate breakfast in a local cafe.

At the cafe counter sat a large man eating his breakfast. His heavy Swedish accent caught my Dad's attention. Dad struck up a conversation in Swedish with the man. The man stated he was Hugo Aronson, the Governor of Montana! Hugo went on to explain that he left the poverty in Sweden and immigrated to America in 1911. The first time he set foot in Montana is when he was kicked off a freight train!

Hugo would go on to stay in Montana and make his fortune establishing a trucking company that serviced the oil fields in Toole County, Montana. He was known as "The Galloping Swede". Hugo invented a method to move oil drilling platforms without having to dismantle them.

Hugo also served in the Montana legislature, and would later serve as a two term Governor from 1953 to 1961.

Only in America could you arrive someplace by being kicked off a freight train, and then stay to become the Governor of that state! Hugo authored a book titled "The Galloping Swede". It's a great story about Hugo's life.

Be prepared for delays before you leave, download MDT's mobile app "MDT 511" or visit 511mt.net and check your route. If you're driving and want to check in, pull safely off the road and dial 511. Tune in to local radio stations and watch for variable message signs along the route.

Make a Sober Ride Part of Your Fourth of July Plans.

For many Montanans, Memorial Day weekend kicks off the start of summer travel, culminating with Labor Day weekend. Unfortunately, these summer months can also be some of the deadliest on Montana's roads due to increased motor vehicle crashes. To help ensure everyone enjoys a safe holiday weekend, law enforcement agencies and the Montana Highway Patrol (MHP) will be increasing patrols to watch for and stop impaired drivers on Montana's roadways. Before you make plans to celebrate Fourth of July, plan for safe, sober transportation and insist your friends and family do the same. Remember to always buckle up before you go, as using your seat belt is your best defense against serious injury or death in the event you're in a crash. This is a Vision Zero Message from the Montana Department of Transportation. Learn more about the goal of Vision Zero and impaired driving prevention here: <https://www.mdt.mt.gov/visionzero/onereason/default.aspx#sober>

FWP's license donor program benefits disabled vets

Hunters who will not be able to use their license this season have the opportunity to donate that license. Residents and nonresidents can donate their hunting license to a disabled military veteran or disabled active-duty service member who is working with an organization that uses hunting as part of the rehabilitation process.

The license donor program began in 2013, and each year between 40 and 60 hunters donate their license. Reasons vary, but according to Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks licensing staff, many hunters donate licenses because of medical or family emergencies, work commitments or issues with outfitters or reservations.

The recipients are disabled veterans who were awarded a purple heart and have a 70 percent or higher disability rating. They must be sponsored by a nonprofit organization that provides hunting as a rehabilitation service to disabled veterans in Montana.

To participate in the program, hunters, potential recipients and nonprofit organizations must complete a form. Forms are available on FWP's Hunting Licenses & Permits webpage under "Donate License Programs" and can be returned to either an FWP regional office or by mail to FWP's Licensing Bureau, P.O. Box 200701, Helena, MT 59620. For more information, contact the FWP licensing office at 406-444-2950.
