New FWP program to focus on developing shooting-sports facilities

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks is seeking public input on how it should move forward with developing shooting ranges throughout the state. An online survey is open now to gauge public interest in shooting ranges and public opinion on what should be included when considering the development of new shooting ranges or improvement to existing shooting ranges. This 10-minute survey will help gather detailed information to guide efforts throughout the next five to 10 years.

FWP recently launched a Shooting Range Development Program, with the goal of developing new FWP-administered shooting sports facilities throughout the state. Facilities may include archery, pistol, rifle and other shooting-related sports.

Since the launch of the program FWP has expanded the archery range at Lone Pine State Park, is completing construction of a new archery range at Big Arm State Park and will soon begin improvements to the archery range at Makoshika State Park.

A priority for FWP is to develop shooting range facilities close to major population areas around the state, including a flagship range that could be used for competitions, tournaments and education activities, such as hunter and bowhunter education.

FWP will use the survey results to help guide the department's shooting range development plans for the coming years.

The survey will be available on the FWP website beginning today, July 10. To participate in the survey, go to www.surveymonkey.com/r/VT5YNW2.

THE WAY IT WAS

By "Swede" Troedsson

Fighting forest fires was quite different in the 1960s and '70s. There was no 14-day limitation on how long you could be gone from home. Over time was straight time. There was no hazard pay. There were no catered meals or showers in fire camp. You just felt fortunate if the fire happened to be close to a lake or river so you could bathe occasionally. You also felt fortunate if you could visit a laundromat en-route from one fire to the next.

You had no choice but to accept a dispatch to a fire. One year our Beaverhead National Forest Supervisor, Joe Wagenfer called us all into the conference room. He told us he was responding to a complaint from the Forest Dispatcher about having a hard time filling orders for fire fighters because some of our firefighters were refusing to accept assignments. Joe bluntly stated: "Folks, there's two buses leaving town. One is going to the fire, the other is going down the road." That stern message pretty well cured the reluctance to accept fire assignments.

Sometimes physical and family situations took second place to accepting a fire assignment. In 1967 I started the fire season a robust 165 lbs. By the end of the fire season I was down to a gaunt 137 lbs! I had an upper respiratory infection until Thanksgiving. My school-aged kids, who were on their summer break, were continually disappointed because Dad was not home to take them camping and fishing. All they recall was Dad coming home with a pack full of smoky smelling clothes. By the next day Mom would have washed and dried his fire clothes so that he could repack his fire pack in preparation of the next dispatch. The next night the telephone would ring in the middle of the night. Dad would be absent from the breakfast table.

One day I spent the day with the Wise River District Timber Assistant hiking cross country into a proposed timber sale area. It was a very arduous day. We returned to the ranger station at 5:30 that afternoon. The District Ranger ordered us to hike into a fire in the Anaconda-Pintler Wilderness Area. He said our supper would be the C-rations in our fire packs. One portion of the 8-mile hike was a cross-country climb up a steep ridge. We arrived at the fire at 2:00 AM the following morning. We immediately helped smokejumpers already there dig fire line all night and throughout most of the morning. We finally got to eat some of those C-rations at noon.

On Labor Day weekend in 1967 I was a Sector Boss on the Trapper Creek Fire in Idaho. We had been helicoptered in to the perimeter of the fire, our assignment being to build a containment line. On September 1 at 1:00 PM, a strong wind hit the fire, and it blew up. It rapidly grew to over 5,500 acres, traveling 16 miles in 9 hours! It even burned through the main fire camp. The helicopter pilots flew out when they saw the fire approaching. We were marooned on the fire line with an injured firefighter. We had to spend the night there.

The nearby Sundance fire likewise blew up, and grew to 56,000 acres. That fire overran a dozer operator and a sector boss, killing them both. It was estimated that the temperature around the Pack River Bridge reached about 2,000°F, because of the fact that it shattered the concrete deck and cooked t
