MOONING THE TIRE

By "Swede" Troedsson

In the early 1980s my wife Mary Ann and I were returning home from a day ski patrolling at the Bridger Bowl Ski Area, which is near Bozeman, Montana.

In the dark, between Bozeman and Belgrade, we came upon a car pulled over to the side of the interstate. A couple was hunkered down near the right side rear tire. Mary Ann suggested we stop and offer assistance to the couple, who we suspected might be tending to a flat. Our intent was to at least offer them the benefit of our headlights.

After parking my car, and still wearing my ski patrol parka, I approached the couple. The husband, who was shielding his wife from the view from approaching traffic, was laughing. His wife was emitting a mixture of screeching and laughing. Her pants were down around her knees as she was relieving herself.

I said to myself "Oops!" and quickly returned to my car. So much for good intentions!

Eighteen individuals arrested in Bozeman during DCI human trafficking operation

Eighteen individuals were arrested in Bozeman over last weekend during a human trafficking operation conducted by the Montana Department of Justice Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) and Bozeman Police Department, Attorney General Austin Knudsen announced.

The individuals have been charged with 18 counts of patronizing a prostitute, five counts of criminal distribution of dangerous drugs, one count of resisting arrest, and one count of patronizing a victim of sex trafficking for a child victim. They were charged under Montana's new statute, included in House Bill 112, that makes the solicitation of a prostitute a felony charge which Attorney General Knudsen helped write and pass during the 2023

Legislative Session.

"I'm incredibly proud of our DCI human trafficking investigators for their hard work and commitment to stopping this heinous crime in Montana. Working together with our law enforcement partners, we are getting these dangerous predators off the streets," Attorney General Knudsen said. "At the Montana Department of Justice, we are increasing our investigations and prosecutions of human trafficking to send the message to criminals that it will not be tolerated in Montana."

During the operation, which lasted from July 20 to July 22, investigators also seized drugs including cocaine and fentanyl. One of the individuals was also found to be an illegal immigrant who has been deported twice.

In addition to DCI and Bozeman Police, the Montana State University Special Victims Unit and Gallatin County Sheriff's Office assisted in the investigation.

DCI's Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force (ICAC) was also involved in a law enforcement operation in the Helena area recently that led to the arrest of four individuals who were soliciting minors online with the intent to engage in sexual activity.

Know the signs. A few of the potential indicators of sex trafficking may include:

Young person that is very hesitant to engage in conversation. Eyes are always downcast, avoiding eye contact, especially with men. Poor physical state…tired, malnourished, or shows signs of physical abuse or torture. Seems to have trouble responding to what their name is or what location (city or even state) they are in. (Victims' names are often changed, as are their whereabouts. They typically do not stay in one location for long – at times for 24 hours or less). Young girl or boy hanging around outside a convenience store, truck stop, casino, or other location. May be approaching different vehicles or men they do not seem to know.

If you believe you witness human trafficking:

If the situation is an emergency, call 911.

Do not intervene if you see suspected trafficker(s). Remain at a safe distance or in your vehicle.

When possible, take images with your cellular device of the suspected trafficker(s), victim(s), and vehicle license plate(s).
