Bank of Commerce Performing Arts series

By Hailey Briggs for Southwestern Montana News

The University of Montana Western kicked off their Bank of Commerce Performing Arts series for the 2023-2024 season Monday night, October 16. Their first selection was the 21st Annual 10 Minute Play Festival, a community favorite to showcase the talents of the Honors and Theater students of UMW. Like in past performances, the audience was treated to an eclectic mix of short plays, varying from thought provoking pre-recorded screenplays to hilarious live action sketches.

The entire production lasted roughly an hour and was well worth it. With seven original stories, the students demonstrated their skills from beginning to end. The writing, the producing, and the acting really illuminated the depth and calculated ease of what it means to create something original.

From the quirky first play, Magecraft Stagecraft, to the altruistic production in Bad Script, the layers of the film industry were laid bare to the audience. Hot topic issues like the Writers Strike, Artificial Intelligence in the media, and the parallels between our world and those fictitious worlds playing out in movies and television left you with a perplexion you may not have anticipated from the minds of tomorrow. However, their fresh takes on these subject matters took you on a journey and provided a sense of hope in an otherwise daunting arena.

The extravagance, and many times ridiculous, nature of the media was at the forefront of all the selections. Yet the behind the scenes tales featured in Stagecraft and The Hero's Journey had the audience both laughing and engaged at the preposterousness we have found our society in.

The night ended with Monster Mash, a fun and lighthearted piece, that was both visually fun and a riot from start to finish. Though each play was short and sweet, the seven entries told a compelling story from start to finish. The bright, young minds of tomorrow showed they are up for the challenge of creating strong, dynamic works of art, and we, as a community, are excited to see where the future takes them.

Be sure to check out the other showings of the 10 Minute Play Festival Tuesday, October 17th at 1:00 and 7:30 pm and on Wednesday, 18th, at 1:00 pm. You won't be sorry you did!

INSTINCT

By 'Swede" Troedsson

A family pet's animal instinct can complicate a first responder's ambulance call.

Early one morning in the 1970's two of us ambulance EMTs were dispatched to a local ranch.

An elderly couple had consumed a large amount of alcohol before going to bed. During the night the wife, heavily inebriated, had fallen out of bed and hit her nose on the floor and bled out. (According to her husband, she had a history of high blood pressure.)

I knelt down to examine the wife. Her pupils were widely dilated, and there was cyanosis (blue color) about her nostrils and lips. I detected no pulse in her carotid and there were no visible signs of respiration. The husband, reeking of alcohol, stood over me with clenched fists and asked: "Is she dead?" I responded: "I think so." He angrily replied: "YOU THINK SO?" and demanded: "IS SHE, OR ISN'T SHE?" I replied "Yes, she's gone."

The husband started sobbing, so I stood up and backed him up against a wall to comfort him.

As I was attempting to comfort him, he was looking over my shoulder, viewing his deceased wife. After a few moments, he started going ballistic on me and was pointing to his wife. I looked over my shoulder and saw their house cat was lapping up his wife's blood!

I shooed the cat out of the bed room and closed the door!

I called the county coroner, and explained the situation to him. He instructed us to transport her to the local funeral home. We loaded up the woman and left. We were mighty glad to conclude that ambulance call!

Rifle season opener reminders

Youth-only deer hunt comes just before general season opener

Montana's annual youth-only deer hunt is set for Oct. 19-20 this year.

The two-day youth hunt is open to: legally licensed 12 to 15-year-olds who have completed hunter education and who are accompanied by a non-hunting adult at least 18 years of age; and properly certified and legally licensed apprentice hunters 10-15 years of age who are accompanied by a non-hunting adult "mentor" at least 21 years of age. This hunt is for deer only. All regulations apply. Elk hunting is prohibited.

Young hunters must wear hunter orange and follow all hunting district regulations, which may limit them to certain species or require a special permit.

Hunter check stations, CWD sampling stations ready for general season

Big game hunter check stations will be in operation across Montana beginning this weekend and continue through the general rifle season.

Hunters must stop at check stations that they pass, even if they have not harvested any animals. For hunters without game, the check station process will be very quick and simple.

Additionally, in northwestern, northcentral, southwestern and southcentral Montana, FWP will be operating CWD sampling stations.

Responsible hunters are critical to the future of hunting

Although most hunters respect the land, property and wildlife they are hunting, a minority do not. Yet these few bad actors lead to frustration from private landowners and hunters looking to do things right.

This year remember: It's up to us. Respect access. Protect the hunt.

Ask first to hunt on private land

Don't wait until it is too late. Hunters who haven't already asked permission from private landowners to hunt need to do so as soon as possible. Montana law requires hunters to obtain permission for all hunting on private land.

Access: Ask early, don't wait

Montana's millions of acres of private land offer some excellent hunting opportunities—the only catch is gaining the landowner's permission to hunt.

It is Montana law that hunters obtain landowner permission to hunt on all private land.

Here are a few things to keep in mind that will greatly improve results when attempting to secure hunting access to private land.

Katrina & Derek Lewis

Business - It was great to see the Labor Day Weekend crowds at the Farmer's Market! Many people from out of town were excited for us to start this distillery and familiar faces from around town liked our spicier ginger beer recipe. In addition, we had a great conversation with Jason Sutton of Honeyberry Adventures in Lima (check his operation out on Facebook). Katrina bought some honeyberries and immediately made shrubs with them (for more about shrubs, see last month's newsletter). Tart and sweet, they were incredible. We look forward to future collaborations with Jason and other small businesses.

Harrell Earns Defensive Player of the Week Honors

After an impressive record-breaking weekend, Montana Western defensive lineman Tanner Harrell earned ERCK Hotels Frontier Conference Player of the Week honors. This is the second time in Harrell's career and the second week in a row that the Bulldogs earned a defensive player of the week honor.

Harrell broke the Montana Western career tackle for loss record (37.5) after he recorded a total of 3.5 in last weekend's game against Rocky Mountain College. He added 1.5 sacks with a total of six tackles.

Veteran Assistance Needed

The Butte Veterans' Home has a Foundation that handles donations for resident Veterans. That foundation is operated by Trustees appointed by each of the 6 counties who sent veterans to deliberate the issue of where to locate the Veterans' Home.

Beaverhead County needs to appoint a new trustee. To be considered you must be a veteran who is willing to attend meetings at the Veterans' Home in Butte about once a month.

If you are interested in being appointed or in more information, please contact a leader of the VFW or the Legion Post, or me. Thomas W. Straugh, PhD.
