Bulldog Volleyball Loses First Matchup in Pool Play

The Montana Western volleyball team (22-7) lost 3-0 in the opening game of pool play at the NAIA Women's Volleyball National Championships to no. 4 Concordia University (Neb.) by scores of 25-23, 25-21 and 25-13.

The Bulldogs will look to bounce back tomorrow as they face no. 13 Midland University in the second matchup of pool play.

Concordia got the jump early in the first set, claiming a 14-11 lead over UMW. A kill from Danyel Martin broke a 3-0 run from Concordia. Down three, the Bulldogs utilized their front with kills from Jordan Olson and Martin to bring it back to 21-20. UMW's last-ditch effort brought the Bulldogs back within two to fall 25-23 in set one.

After falling to a 7-3 deficit, UMW found their way back and took their first lead of the set at 11-10 behind a statement block from Peyton Vogl and Jordan Olson. Up 21-20 down the stretch, UMW struggled to close out the set and Concordia rode a 5-0 run to finish the set two win.

The powerful attack from the Concordia front, paired with errors on UMW's side of the net proved too much for the Bulldogs. Concordia cruised to a set three victory of 25-13.

Notables

- UMW struggled behind errors much of the game, racking up three service aces in the second set alone and four in the match. They also totaled 21 hitting errors and three blocking errors.
- Concordia's powerful front saw three hitters reach double digits in kills as the team recorded a .225 hitting percentage compared to UMW's .128 hitting percentage.
- The Red and Black recorded an impressive 10 blocks in the matchup, one more than the Bulldogs of Concordia.
- Vogl led the Bulldogs with nine kills and four blocks.
- Martin led the Bulldog front with five blocks. She also had seven kills.
- Kelsey Goddard totaled 24 digs and seven assists.

Up Next: The Bulldogs will look to turn it around as they face no. 13 Midland University (Neb.) at 12pm MT tomorrow for their final game of pool play.

General season ends with mild weather, mixed hunter success in southwestern Montana

Hunter success in southwestern Montana continued to trend mostly at or below average during the latter half of the general deer and elk hunting season, according to data gathered by Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks biologists.

Mild weather during much of the general season made it challenging for hunters to find game at lower elevations.

The general season lasted from Oct. 21 through Nov. 26. During that time, FWP staff operated game check stations at various times and locations in southwest Montana, including stations in Alder, Cameron, Canyon Ferry, Divide, Gallatin Canyon, Lakeside, Mill Creek and Townsend. Collectively, they met with 6,112 hunters who harvested 66 white-tailed deer, 152 mule deer and 310 elk, among other species.

Biologists use check stations to collect data on hunter participation and success, as well as the species, sex and age class of the animals harvested. Check station data supplements information collected through hunter harvest phone surveys each year.

The Alder check station was open on the first, third and sixth weekends of the general season. Wildlife staff there met with 768 hunters who collectively harvested 15 white-tailed deer, 38 mule deer and 40 elk over the three weekends. Hunter success for the final weekend was 18 percent, slightly below the long-term average of 21 percent.

Biologists operated a check station at Canyon Ferry on the final weekend of the general season. They met with 266 hunters, 7.5 percent of whom harvested deer or elk.

The Cameron check station was open each weekend during the general season. Wildlife staff there met with 2,339 hunters who harvested 16 white-tailed deer, 47 mule deer and 180 elk. Hunter success rates were at or near average during the season, except the fifth weekend, which had a success rate of 7.6 percent that tied with the lowest on record for that weekend. Hunter success climbed to 18.3 percent on the sixth and final weekend, compared with a long-term average of 15 percent.

The Divide check station was also open each weekend during the general season. Biologists there met with 1,357 hunters, who harvested 15 white-tailed deer, 40 mule deer and 48 elk. Mild weather made it especially challenging for hunters to harvest game in this area. The

The Gallatin check station operated during the first, fourth and sixth weekends of the general season. Wildlife staff there met with 345 hunters who harvested six mule deer and 13 elk. Hunter success over the final weekend was 7.6 percent, compared with a long-term average of 9.9 percent.

The Mill Creek check station was open over the first, third and final weekends of the season. Wildlife staff met with 693 hunters who harvested two white-tailed deer, 3 mule deer and 18 elk. On the final weekend, 2.2 percent of hunters were successful, compared with a long-term average of 6.7 percent.

Mel Cheney Book Signing

Local author, Mel Cheney will be signing copies of his debut book, A Dog and Her Man: an Autobiography by Lilly the Dog on Friday, December 1st from 5:00-7:00. Born in Dillon, Mel has lived most of his life in Beaverhead County. His first home was in Dell and he lived on multiple ranches in the Lima and Dell area. Employed with the road department he was a heavy equipment operator for 30 years. He also worked as a carpenter and in his spare time crafts beautiful one of a kind wood furniture. He continued to work on ranches and helping neighbors while holding down a full time job. Along the way he traveled most of Montana while riding bulls on the rodeo circuit.

The book is told through the eyes of Lilly, Mel's faithful canine companion. She tells the reader about the life she shared with her best friend Mel and admits that she had a lot of help from him in bringing their story to print.

Because he can write a lot faster it just made sense for him to take care of that part while told him what to say. According to Lilly Mel reads so many books there isn't room to keep them all. Although she could be biased Lilly shared that her best friend is a multi-talented story teller that is also good at math. Please join us during the annual Christmas Stroll. If you have any questions or would like to reserve copies of the book please call The Bookstore at (406) 683-6807

It's always a looked forward time for families, especially, to come together to share a special meal and time together. It also starts the holiday season off on the right track, with the many events happening that lead up to Christmas and than New Year Eve's celebrations around the world. We had a great Thanksgiving dinner with seven of us gathered together. The next evening, Friday, we went to the Light Parade on Main Street and the Lighting of the Trees at the Common's Park in Anaconda. This was all part of the Christmas Stroll, which included visiting the downtown businesses after that. It's always nice to see a sister-communitys' special celebrations, like this one. I have to share that I was privileged to feed and hold my 10 week-old great-grandson (I haven't lost my touch). Many of us have veteran family members who are on active duty and away from home during these holidays. In remembering those times, it's advisable to start sending cards/ gifts/goodies/etc., about now, so that they get to them by Christmas. This is especially true if they are stationed overseas or on a ship and out to sea. Anything from home is heart-warming.
Veteran News:

- The Marine Toys For Tots Campaign is getting busier and will continue to do so until right after December 16th, which is the deadline to get the applications turned in. Already we have received some applications and gotten those children's toys bagged up. The toy boxes and the donation money boxes, are all over Butte, Dillon, White Hall, Twin Bridges/Ruby Valley and even in the small town of Harrison. We have made substantial gift buys for those hard to get age groups. The need is definitely there and these families applying are very grateful as also are we who are workers on this TFT's Campaign. As the TFT'S Butte/ SWMT Campaign Coordinator, I thank each and every one of you, on behalf of Shirlee and the volunteers who are the Santa's helpers that make this Campaign be so successful, for your generous donations. It's all about the kids having a happy Christmas, with gifts for each of them, under their Christmas tree.
- I visited the VA CBOC, across from Three Bears, to check on the progress there. The Sheet Metal guys are installing the metal duct work in the ceiling area, to each room. It is probably complete at this stage. There will probably be some communication wiring going up there also, before the drop ceiling is installed. This goes very quickly once they start. The time consuming processes of trim-work/flooring/ cabinet- installation/furniture placement/etc., will finish things up. The end of December, as a completion date, is looking better all the time.

- The expanded VA health care for WWII Veterans is in place for all of you who served between Dec. 7, 1941 and Dec.31, 1946. If this applies to any of you or your loved one, please apply now, even if you applied before and were not approved due to your income level. For you who are caregivers to these WWII Veterans, who are well in their 90s, this could be of great benefit to you and them.

- For you family members of Veterans exposed to contaminated drinking water at Marine Corps Base Camp Lejeune, you are now eligible for health care costs assistance associated with Parkinson's disease. This comes under the Camp Lejeune Family Member Program (CLFMP). For information call the CLFMP coordinators at 866-372-1144, as there are also 15 other medical conditions, covered by CLFMP. It was a sad day this Saturday, November 25. I was a member of the SW MT United Veteran's Council Funeral Honor Guard that conducted the Veteran Ceremony portion of Ryan O'Leary's funeral. It took place at the Duggan Dolan Funeral Home Chapel, with standing room only. He took his own life and isn't the only combat veteran who we have done this ceremony for because of suicide. PTSD is a very real deal that people who have been exposed to traumatic experiences are many times suffering from. Brain damage in any form is nothing to ignore and when signs of PTSD are experienced or seen by loved-ones/friends, they need to be addressed immediately if possible. Ryan's friends/family, from what I read, tried to get him help. Unfortunately many with PTSD try to deal with it themselves and it finally overcomes them. I dealt with it for 30 years before getting help which after 10 years of prescribed drugs and therapy groups/Psychiatrists, I was able to recognize the triggers and how to deal with them. I was able to get off the drugs/therapy and deal with life in a healthy way. The treatment is a lifesaver and nothing to be afraid of. Some signs to look for and seek to get immediate help are: 1) Thinking about hurting or killing yourself, 2) Looking for ways to kill yourself, 3) Talking about death, dying or suicide, 4) Self-destructive behavior such as drug abuse, weapons, etc.. If your a Veteran, call, at any time, 1-800-273-TALK (8255). Don't delay, please. Until next time, take care.
