Plummer Hanging Reenactment Cancelled

Unfortunately, this years presentation of "Men Do Your Duty" the capture and hanging of Sheriff Plummer, Stinson and Ray by the Vigilance Committee has been cancelled due to arctic temperatures and wind forecast. The Bannack Association, Sky Painter Productions and Just Us Old West Reenactors apologize. We encourage everyone to stay warm, stay safe and have a great weekend.

The Beaverhead County Museum hosts Montana Conversation "Kid Gloves and Brass Knuckles: The Life of Nancy Cooper Russell" with Mary Jane Bradbury on Thursday January 18, 2024. The program is at The Old Depot Theatre at 6:30 p.m. The presentation is free and open to the public. Funding for the Montana Conversations program is provided by Humanities Montana through grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, Montana's Cultural Trust, and private donations. We are funded in part by coal severance taxes paid based upon coal mined in Montana and deposited in Montana's cultural and aesthetic projects trust fund.

Against the backdrop of the social and political reform of the early 1900s, Nancy Cooper Russell was a woman ahead of her time. A self-taught businesswoman with the ability to take charge, Nancy helped Charles M. Russell become the highest paid living artist of his time. Art historians consistently give her credit for being the reason the world has the extraordinary Russell paintings and sculptures that grace galleries and private collections today. Bradbury brings Nancy Russell to life and shares the story of her chance meeting with the Montana cowboy artist who would become her husband. She describes the world of art that celebrated the myth of the west at the beginning of the 20th century and tells stories about the renowned artists and celebrities the Russells knew as they traveled from New York City to the growing California suburb called Hollywood.

Mary Jane Bradbury is a scholar and actress who brings history to life for audiences of all ages in the Rocky Mountain region. She teaches for Colorado Humanities and is a historic interpreter for the Denver Museum of Nature and Science.

Letter to the editor:

Our young men showed a wealth of good sportsmanship in their first game of 2024 on January 4. I was very impressed when in the last quarter the Beavers were ahead enough that the coach put in some of the younger boys. To have a chance to play on the varsity for some of them must have seemed like a dream come true! Not only was it impressive that those older boys had done such a commanding performance on the court earlier, but when those younger boys went out the regular varsity players really showed good sportsmanship in the way that they supported the younger team. I don't know whether it was because the coach asked it of them, or if they thought of it themselves, but our varsity players became a very vocal and encouraging cheering team. This is a big thank you to those fellows. It made me proud of all of you, and I know it meant so much to those younger boys. That kind of encouragement for our upcoming Beavers will go a long way.

Anglers, skaters, others encouraged to practice safety on ice

It took a while to get here, but winter finally hit Montana. That means winter enthusiasts will be heading out to recreate. Whether ice fishing, ice skating, hunting, snowmobiling or just taking a walk, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks staff reminds recreationists that safety should be the number one concern during a day out on (or near) the ice.

Here are some safety tips:

- Anglers and other recreationists should be familiar with the water body they plan to fish or recreate on. Pay close attention to the changing conditions of the ice.
- If you have even the slightest doubt about the safety of the ice — stay off of it. Nothing is ever worth a fall into frigid water.
- Blue or "clear" ice is usually hard. Watch out for opaque, gray, dark or porous spots in the ice that could be weak, soft areas. Ice also tends to thin more quickly at the shorelines or near structures protruding through the ice such as rocks, stumps and trees.
- Note areas on the ice that look "different" — they usually are. Many times, thinner areas of ice (caused by springs, gas pockets, sunken islands, points, etc.) have a different color or look to them. Use extreme caution or stay away from these areas.
- The following are recommended minimum ice thickness guidelines (for good, clear ice*):
 - Under 4 inches: STAY OFF
 - 4 inches: individual angler ice fishing or other activities on foot
 - 7 inches: snowmobile or ATV
 - 10 inches: small car
 - 12 inches: truck or SUV

for white ice or "snow ice," double the above minimumsnot recommended, but if you must, proceed at your own risk*

- Watch for pressure ridges. These are areas of weak or unstable ice where the ice has cracked and heaved due to expansion from freezing.
- Test the ice ahead of you with an ice spud bar or an auger.
- Don't leave children unsupervised on the ice.
- Waterbodies do not freeze at the same thickness everywhere. For example, some ponds have windmills to aerate water for fish survival, and ice may be thin near these areas.

- Moving water — rivers, streams and springs — weaken ice by wearing it away from underneath. Avoid going on ice on rivers and streams, or where a river or stream enters a lake, pond or reservoir.
- The least safe ice usually occurs early and late in the season, when the weather is warmer and less predictable.
- Remember, NO ICE is 100 percent safe.
- Snowmobiling and ATV use on the ice will reduce steering ability.
 - Groups should avoid crossing ice in a single-file group. If the first person breaks through, the rest of the group may not be able to stop or maneuver in time to avoid it.
- Some other common ice-safety reminders to keep in mind include:
 - Consider changes in the weather (and ice conditions) during the prior 24 hours. Wind, rain and sun can drastically decay ice in a short time.
 - It's a good idea to wear a life jacket (PFD) or carry a throwable floatation device or rope while out on the ice — safe ice anglers and recreationists do it all the time.
 - Dress warm but practical. Many styles of ice fishing jackets and bibs provide extra buoyancy to help keep you afloat if you do fall through.
 - Before you leave the house, tell someone where you plan to go and when you plan to return.
 - Carry a pair of ice picks (long spikes on a heavy string around your neck). If you break through the ice, you can use the spikes to grip the ice and pull yourself out of the water.

FWP wishes all anglers and recreationists a safe and adventurous winter.

Secretary Christi Jacobsen shares December's new business registrations

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen shared the number of new business registrations filed with the state in December 2023. According to the Montana Business Economic Report, approximately 4,600 new businesses were registered in Montana during the month of December.

For comparison, some 3,950 businesses registered in December of the previous year.

"Our office is honored to serve Montana businesses when they begin their journey by registering with our office," said Secretary Jacobsen. "We're also proud to partner with the business community to make it easier to do business in Montana. We've cut registration fees in half, eliminated other fees entirely, and we're waiving the 2024 Annual Report fee for all businesses that file by the April 15th deadline."

"Thank you for doing business in Montana," she added.

Since Secretary Jacobsen took office, Montana has had record new business registrations each year. In 2021, roughly 50,000 new businesses registered, while more than 53,000 registered with the Secretary of State's Office in 2022.

Last year, Secretary Jacobsen was honored by the Mountain States Policy Center (MSPC) for making it easier to do business in Montana. Secretary Jacobsen received the organization's "Elevation Award" which is the highest honor of the MSPC.

Montana Western Announces 54th Annual Rodeo Banquet

The University of Montana Western Rodeo Team is excited to announce that the 54th Annual Montana Western Rodeo Banquet will be held Friday, March 29, 2024 in the Keltz Arena.

The evening will begin with no-host cocktails at 5:00 p.m. followed by a prime rib dinner at 5:30 p.m. along with a silent and live auction. A dance will close out the evening with live music provided by King Friday. Ticket prices for the event are as follows:

- Single ticket – $75
- Reserved table of 8 (rows 1-4) – $500
- Reserved table of 8 (rows 5-8) – $400

The rodeo banquet serves as the primary fundraising event hosted by the rodeo team each year. The funds generated from this banquet play a pivotal role in sustaining the rodeo program. The proceeds contribute to student scholarships, facilitating essential practice opportunities, offsetting travel expenses, covering hotel accommodations, and supporting the Montana Western college rodeo in the fall. The attendance and support at this banquet directly impacts the success and sustainability of the rodeo program.

UMW Rodeo is also excited to announce that they will be paying tribute to the enduring legacy of Benny and Rooster Reynolds, two of Dillon's most iconic rodeo heroes. Their significant impact has played a crucial role in shaping Dillon's rich rodeo heritage.

"We are very grateful for the ongoing support that the Dillon and surrounding communities consistently extend to our student rodeo athletes and the program each year," said coach JT Robbins. "We look forward to another successful rodeo banquet!"

Tickets can be purchased by contacting Kelly Allen at 406-683-7306 or kelly.allen@umwestern.edu. For sponsorship opportunities or to donate to the silent or live auctions, please contact Jolene Robbins at 406-683-7303 or jjolene.robbins@umwestern.edu.

Put the Worry of Colon Cancer Behind You

Schedule your colonoscopy screening today.

Colon cancer can be a life altering disease. However, early screening can help to significantly increase the survival rate. A colonoscopy is still the best tool to help you detect, treat, beat, and even prevent colon cancer entirely. Schedule an appointment with your primary care provider to start the conversation about this potentially life-saving screening. It could be the best decision you'll ever make.

Call 406-683-1188 to schedule a pre-colonoscopy appointment with your Barrett Hospital & HealthCare provider, or visit barretthospital.org for more information.
