UMW Presents "Reinventing an Ancient Cattle Culture: How Humans and Livestock can Bring Healing to Western Rangeland"

The University of Montana Western Environmental Sciences Department and Terra Verde Club are proud to present "Reinventing an Ancient Cattle Culture: How Humans and Livestock can Bring Healing to Western Rangeland" by guest speaker Glenn Elzinga. The presentation will be held on Tuesday, February 20 from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. in UMW's Lewis & Clark Room in Mathews Hall.

Montana Western is partnering with local ranchers and conservation organizations to explore conservation-focused range rider certifications and internship positions. As part of these conversations, students in the Terra Verde club have invited Glenn Elzinga to campus to learn more about rotational grazing and regenerative agricultural practices.

After wolves killed an unprecedented number of their range cattle in one grazing season, Glenn and Caryl Elzinga of Idaho's Pahsimeroi Valley were not only in economic trouble, but also a crisis of confidence as to whether or not public lands grazing should even be a part of their operation. However, after researching historical stockmanship practices, they learned a new approach to grazing on their 70 square mile rangelands. Embarking on this new journey in practice on horseback allowed them to completely restore riparian habitats, coexist with wolves, sequester carbon in both riparian areas and uplands, precisely target their grazing anywhere on the landscape, employ young people seeking a range riding vocation, and have their cattle achieve better weight gains. Glenn will present slides showing the process in action on a slice of rugged Central Idaho mountain rangelands.

This presentation is free and open to the public and will feature light refreshments and a Q&A session. For more information, please contact UMW Associate Professor of Environmental Sustainability, Dr. Arica Crotoft: arica.crotoft@umwestern.edu or 406-683-7075.

During our monthly training night, we concentrated on communications & radio usage. Our drill night was spent learning about fire behavior & oxygen limited fires. We had a structure that the interior had caught fire & ran out of oxygen (extinguishing the fire) without anyone knowing about it until the residents returned home after work in the afternoon. Thank you for your continued support of the Dillon Volunteer Fire Department. Please be safe & take extra time while traveling this time of year as the road conditions can become dangerous without warning.

Bulldog Women Ride Hot Start Over No. 13 Argos

The Montana Western women's basketball team (12-9, 4-4) upset the no. 13 ranked University of Providence Argos (14-7, 5-3) by a final score of 69-52.

The Bulldogs found themselves up early, holding the Argos to just 18 points at the end of the first half. Their 18-point first half ties a season low for the Argos.

- The Bulldog defense held the Argos to their third lowest scoring game of the season.
- Five Bulldogs hit double-digits tonight with Shainy Mack leading the way following a 15-point night. She also added three assists, two steals, and two blocks.
- Joelnell Momberg and Sweeney each tallied 14 points. Sweeney added another four steals.
- Moy and Keke Davis each contributed 10 points.

Bulldogs Win Second in a Row With Win Over Argos

The Montana Western men's basketball team (11-10, 4-4) found success in the game with the University of Providence Argos (10-11, 3-5) after they won the matchup 83-67.

"Really proud of our guys for sticking to the game plan and then come out in the second half and really executing offensively and defensively," head coach Patrick Jensen said. "To only have three turnovers in the second half is huge and it was a big emphasis we had in the talk at halftime. Sitting down and finally getting some stops and to hold them to 28 percent in the second half was huge. Just really proud of our guys."

- The win marks the most decisive win the Bulldogs have recorded in conference play, winning by a 16-point scoring margin.
- After totaling seven turnovers in the first half alone, the Bulldogs stepped it up and turned the ball over just three times in the second half.
- The UMW defense stepped up in the second half, forcing the Argos to seven turnovers and to a 28.6 shooting percentage from the field.
- Four Bulldogs hit double digits in scoring with Jalyn Stepney and Adedo leading the way with 17 apiece. Adedo also added nine boards and a pair of blocks.
- Haverfield went five for seven from the field and totaled 14. He was a perfect three for three from the arc.
- Kevin Bethel dished out five assists and grabbed six boards.

DOJ Office of Consumer Protection prevented Montanans from losing nearly $800,000
 Attorney General Austin Knudsen is encouraging Montanans to always be on the lookout for criminals trying to scam them as the Department of Justice's Office of Consumer Protection (OCP) fielded 958 scam complaints and saved Montanans from losing nearly $800,000 in 2023.
 In 2023, OCP prevented Montanans from losing $526,000 to scammers and recovered $267,000 for customers who filed complaints about businesses. Additionally, a total potential loss of $770,000 was reported to OCP by Montanans who knew they were being targeted by a scammer but did not pay them.
 Montanans should keep these tips in mind to protect themselves from scammers:
 Don't give out personal information to someone soliciting it from you over the phone or the internet. Banks will never and government agencies will never call and ask for your personal information.
 Never wire or give money to someone you don't know.
 Don't send gift cards, prepaid debit cards, or cryptocurrency to someone you do not know. Even if you think it's someone you know, follow up to make sure before you wire any money. Use common sense and do your due diligence: ask around, talk to others, and call OCP if you have any doubts or questions.
 Be skeptical, resist high-pressure tactics, take your time. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is!
 Montanans can report any phone, email, or mail scams to the Montana Department of Justice's Office of Consumer Protection at contactocp@mt.gov, or 406-444-4500 (toll-free: 800-481-6896), or online at dojmt.gov/consumer.
