Commissioner Downing Announces Historic Settlement with State Farm Regarding Unfair Claim Settlement Practices

Troy Downing, the Montana Commissioner of Securities and Insurance (CSI), announced today a settlement with State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. (State Farm), wherein State Farm agrees to pay a $2 million fine and to be subject to an additional suspended fine of $2 million that will be discharged upon State Farm satisfactorily implementing corrective actions.

"Today we send a clear message that Montana will not tolerate unsupported fault being placed on victims of auto accidents," said Commissioner Downing. He continued, "I expect insurance companies to complete a full, fair, and transparent examination of the facts and law and to pay what is owed as required by law."

The settlement arises out of CSI's two-year examination of State Farm's claim handling practices that revealed State Farm had underpaid some drivers who were in accidents with State Farm's insureds from November 1, 2018, through April 15, 2022. This is one of the largest settlements of its kind in the CSI's history.

In addition, CSI's settlement and associated order will require State Farm to re-evaluate all affected claims between November 1, 2018, through the end date of the examination, in a manner consistent with Montana law and pay any additional money that may be owed to Montana consumers. As a result of the CSI's examination, State Farm reports that it has already reviewed over 2,436 Montana claims and made an additional $1,182,927.43 in payments to Montana consumers.

While Commissioner Downing is "troubled by State Farm's past conduct," he expressed his appreciation to State Farm for their cooperation with CSI and efforts "to make this right."

Landowners have until March 15 to apply for PALA and UPL programs

Landowners have until March 15 to apply for Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks' Unlocking Public Lands (UPL) Program or the Public Access Land Agreement (PALA) Program.

These programs are designed to provide recreational public access to state (Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation) or federal (Bureau of Land Management or United States Forest Service) land where no or limited legal public access currently exists.

For enrollment in UPL, landowners will receive an income tax credit in the amount of $750 per agreement and up to a maximum of $3,000 in tax credits in exchange for allowing access across the private lands, roads or trails to reach inaccessible public land. Landowners must hold the public land lease and decide how the public may cross their private property for all recreations.

For enrollment in PALA, landowners will be paid, including money for possible infrastructure reimbursements (e.g., gravel, culverts, cattle guards) to facilitate public access to inaccessible public lands. Landowners must hold the public land lease. Payment amounts vary based on a variety of factors, with one landowner possibly holding multiple agreements. The governor-appointed Private Land/Public Wildlife (PL/PW) Advisory Committee will review complete applications and make a recommendation to the FWP director.

"We continue to look for ways to help landowners manage hunting access and to provide more access for the public," said Jason Kool, FWP hunting access program manager. "Offering a tax credit or payment in exchange for public access to inaccessible public land is a unique and innovative way to respect private property rights and increase public access."

While Montana contains millions of acres of public land, much of this land is inaccessible to the public and requires landowner permission for access.

More information about these two programs, including enrollment criteria, application forms, and fact sheets describing these FWP public access programs, can be found at: fwp.mt.gov/landowner.

MVD serves 75K customers since unveiling new system

The Montana Motor Vehicle Division (MVD) has served over 75,000 customers since the launch of the new driver services system in November, Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen announced today. Same-day appointments are available at most exam stations across the state for Montanans who cannot complete their appointment online. Previously, it could take almost two months to get an appointment.

The new system increased the number of online services offered and significantly decreased the overall appointment times for customers, expanding in-person appointment availability across the state. Since the implementation of the new Credentialing and Registration System (CARS), MVD has served 76,349 customers, including over 58,000 appointments and over 18,000 walk-ins.

"The new system has far surpassed our expectations. At most exam stations, Montanans can walk in without an appointment and be done in about 10 minutes," Attorney General Knudsen said. "I'm proud of what MVD has accomplished and the excellent customer service our examiners are providing to make everyone's MVD experience as pleasant as possible."

"The results following the transition have been overwhelmingly positive," MVD Administrator Laurie Bakri said. "We are making it easier than ever for Montanans to take care of their business at MVD. On January 1 alone, a day that MVD offices are closed to the public, 77 customers were able to complete their transactions online – just one example of how we are moving to make MVD a user-friendly experience."

Nearly one-third of the customers served were able to complete their transaction online. Online transactions at MVD have increased by 750 percent and appointment times have been cut by 68 percent. Customers also receive their credentials within seven to ten days compared to the four to six weeks with the previous system.

Efficiency has improved for in-person visits as well. The time between a customer entering and exiting any given exam station has decreased from an average of 22 minutes to less than seven minutes per transaction. The wait time to schedule in-person appointments has gone from an average of 48 days to less than two weeks, with many locations having next-day availability. In the state's larger offices, availability for written-test appointments or driver examinations has decreased 92 percent, from 79 days to six. For individuals needing to renew their driver license or ID card in person, wait time has decreased 93 percent, from 45 days to three.

CARS is part of a multi-phase, multi-year effort to improve customer service and efficiency for Montanans at MVD exam stations across the state. The third phase, which is expected to launch in March 2025, will overhaul the title and registration process, improving functionality for law enforcement, car dealerships, insurance companies, and simplifying county operations.
