Dillon Lady Beavers OT Heartbreaker

The Dillon Lady Beavers had a great year but came up a little short at the State tournament ending with a 4th place in the consolation game. They lost their first game to Custer 50 to 40 and then went on to win their game Friday to Lockwood 57 to 47. The next game they played Havre and squeezed by 58 to 55. That advanced them to the consolation game against Frenchtown that went into over time and saw Frenchtown win with the score of 48 to 44.

Byron's Broken Leg

Bryce Angell

There weren't a dark cloud in the sky. No hint of rain in sight.
Late morning sun was straight above and shining noon day bright.
We parked the trucks and saddled up then started our ascent.
We gave the horses breathers 'cuz if not they'd soon be spent.
We'd hoped for cell phone service but when reaching Iron Bog,
our phones were 'bout as useless as the nose hairs on a frog.
Our first stop was for lunch next to a clear blue mountain lake.
Spam with Town House crackers and a smashed up chocolate cake.
But time is unforgiving and you never have enough.
We needed to get moving and to pack up all our stuff.
So, our good friend Byron, rode a mare that was skittish from the start.
And when he tried to mount, the bay mare bucked with all her heart.
Byron took to air and landed hard just like a brick.
And the mare gave one more favor with a nasty right leg kick.
Sure enough a broken leg. No way to call for help.
So we set a splint and Byron never even made a yelp.
The strongest of the cowboys put him on a gentle horse.
So with broken leg he had no choice but ride the steepest course.
I swear the hill was steeper as we slid on down the trail.
And prayed the horse that Byron rode could hold and would not fail.
One cowboy yelled, "We made it!" as the trucks came into view.
But the truck had one flat tire and the horse trailer had two.
One thing unexpected but for dang sure to our luck.
Another cowboy showed up late, drove alone in his own truck.
We finally loaded Byron and drove him into town.
I thank our lucky stars that he was face up, not face down.
Was Byron even worried? His face was not disguised.
I'd learned to read a man's true pain by looking in his eyes.
At times I have to wonder was it luck or was it fate that we had an extra vehicle and didn't have to wait.
When looking back we came together as his trusted friends.
Byron's leg is healing and his body's on the mend.

PROTECTING THE BIG SKY: TOUR OF WESTERN MONTANA

The Commissioner of Securities and Insurance (CSI) is hosting 16 investor protection events across western Montana this March. The events are part of the Protecting the Big Sky tour—a series of educational presentations to inform adults and seniors about common investment scams, and how to detect and prevent financial exploitation.

In 2023, consumers reported losing more than $4.6 billion to investment scams nationwide, according to the Federal Trade Commission. Last year, investment scams were the most reported scams in the United States.

The following presentation is free and community members are welcome to attend: In Dillon at Dillon Elks Lodge (1:30 - 2:30 pm).

Bulldog Football Releases 2024 Schedule

"Starting out with two home games this season then back to back road trips into Oregon makes the first part of the season balanced and challenging at the same time," Head Coach Ryan Nourse stated. The Bulldogs will play ten games this season, with a balanced slate of five home and five away games. The defending Frontier Conference champions will kick off the historic season on the new Bulldog Sports and Activities Complex, the first year Montana Western will not be playing on Vigilante Field.

They will begin the season with a pair of home games, opening with a non-conference matchup against Eastern Oregon. They will follow up with their home conference opener against the College of Idaho. COI enters the season coming off of a deep playoff run that saw the Yotes top the Bulldogs in the second round of the playoffs, but then ultimately fall in the semifinal to Keiser University who was the national title runner-up.

UMW will follow up the first two home games with a pair of road games in Oregon, but will return on October 12 for a rivalry matchup with the Montana Tech Orediggers at home. Down the line on Nov. 9, the Bulldogs will host the Carroll College Saints for the first time since the 2021 season. The Bulldogs have won four straight over the Saints at home, dating back to 2016.

"To have two historic rivalry games at home this year versus Montana Tech and Carroll College, two well-coached and talented teams, gives our supporters and fans an awesome opportunity to see some of the best small college football played right here in Dillon Montana," continued Nourse.

50 NEW CANDIDATE FILINGS

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen said nearly 50 new candidate filings were processed in the Secretary of State's Office this week – the last full week of the 2024 candidate filing period.

Candidate filing closed at 5 p.m. on Monday, March 11.

More than 30 of this week's candidates filed for the Montana House and Montana Senate, bringing the total number of legislative filings processed to 284.

Other filings this week included candidates for U.S. Senate, both U.S. Representative seats, Governor, Superintendent of Schools, and State Auditor. New candidates also surfaced in races for the Public Service Commission and Supreme Court Chief Justice.

For more information about candidate filing, visit the Candidate Filing page on the Secretary of State's website.

Made in Montana Tradeshow

Montana Secretary of State Christi Jacobsen thanked the businesses attending the 2024 Made in Montana Tradeshow on Friday. The Secretary also congratulated the award winners for being recognized during a weekend celebrating Montana-made goods and products.

The Maker's Market of Billings was crowned the retailer of the year, while Three Forks-area business Living Sky Grains earned the Best in Show honor.

Manhattan's Natural Essentials was awarded Best in Show Honorable Mention, and Badlands Sustainable Resources of Glendive won the Best in Show New Exhibitor honor.

Lt. Governor Kristen Juras presented the awards on Friday afternoon at the Lewis and Clark County Fairgrounds. All four businesses began their journey by registering with the Secretary of State's Office

The 2024 Made in Montana Tradeshow was held on Friday and Saturday. For more information on the Made in Montana Program, visit the official website online.

2024 Rural Science Fair Results

The 2024 Rural Schools Science Fair was held Friday, March 8, at the Keltz Arena on the campus of the University of Montana Western. Elementary school students from nine area rural schools presented some 65 science projects in categories ranging from Chemical to Young Inventor. The students were also divided along age/grade groups.

On behalf of all the students, teachers, and families involved, this year's Director Teresa Murdoch of Alder offered her great thanks to the volunteer judges who visited with the students during the morning's presentations. Many were veterans of past fairs, while others took part for the first time.

Awards were presented to the top three 'scientists' in each category and age group.

In the Chemical Division, the following awards were presented:
Kindergarten: 1) Fox Cottingham (Wisdom); 2) Zoey Larson (Wise River); 3) Daniel Gooch (Alder).
Grades 1-2: 1) Oliva Rix (Reichle); 2) Evan Smail (Alder); 3) Billie Sue Ingram (Alder).
Grades 3-4: 1) Madison Speer (Divide); 2) Ally Tarter (Reichle); 3) Oliver Stevenson (Wisdom).
Grades 5-6: 1) Baylee White (Reichle); 2) Kooper Stevenson (Wisdom); 3) Aliyah Apland (Divide).
Grades 7-8: 1) Lilly Cote (Divide); 2) Sidney Hansen (Polaris).

In the Biology Division,
Kindergarten: 1) Addi Anderson (Wise River)
Grades 1-2: 1) Lyla Linch & Jon Barber (Melrose).
Grades 5-6: 1) Fowler Cottingham (Wisdom); 2) Wylie Heiland (Wisdom).

In the Earth/Space Division,

Attorney General Knudsen demands answers from Wells Fargo

Montana Attorney General Austin Knudsen led a coalition of 16 attorneys general in demanding answers from Wells Fargo regarding the company's debanking policies, which appear to extend the Biden administration's woke agenda.

In a letter to Wells Fargo's Chief Executive Officer Charles Scharf, Attorney General Knudsen raised concerns with the bank's decision to debank – close the accounts of individuals or organizations it views as a risk – Republican candidates and gun industry participants. Wells Fargo has also committed to the Net-Zero Banking Alliance (NZBA), promising to align their customers' greenhouse gas emissions with 2030 targets to align with the Biden administration's net-zero goals.

"Wells Fargo is pushing the Biden administration's anti-gun and anti-traditional energy policies and discriminating against customers who don't fall in line with their political beliefs," Attorney General Knudsen said. "As attorney general, it's my job to protect Montanans from discriminatory business practices."

Wells Fargo, along with the five other largest banks in the country, are acting as economic regulators, carrying out mandates that the Biden administration has been unable to pass through the democratic process.

The NZBA requires that member banks set 2030 emissions reduction targets and submit those targets to part of the United Nations Environment Programme for review. The bank has announced targets in the oil and gas, power, automotive, steel, and aviation sectors.

If Wells Fargo's oil and gas clients do not reduce their absolute emissions enough for the bank to meet its goal, the bank must decide whether to condition financing on emissions reductions, and/or cut off financing to enough oil and gas companies to achieve the specified reductions.

Last year, Wells Fargo abruptly cancelled a Florida gun dealer's line of credit and sent a letter stating that "the reason(s) for this action is: Banking guidelines excludes lending to certain types of businesses."

"Wells Fargo's conduct and commitments may implicate state unfair and deceptive acts and practices (UDAP) laws or civil rights laws. Additionally, if banks like Wells Fargo are restricting access to financial services to act as pseudo-governmental gatekeepers, then states need to revisit the current division of supervision power between state and federal regulators for the largest banks," the attorneys general wrote.
