BLM drills new water well at Devil's Elbow Campground on Hauser Lake

The Bureau of Land Management's Butte Field Office has started construction of a new well at Devil's Elbow Campground on Hauser Lake northeast of Helena.

Construction activities include drilling a well and trenching between the well and the garage/pumphouse to install the lines for the water to connect to the existing distribution system. Construction will also include replacing several hydrants throughout the campground and repairing several broken pipes and repairing irrigation lines as needed.

The existing water system at Devil's Elbow needs to be renovated, which includes replacing the existing well. The static water level of the existing well is below the 25-foot required limit set by the Montana Department of Environmental Quality, which means the BLM would need to continue chlorine treatment prior to serving the water to the public or staff. The current water chlorination treatments are corroding infrastructure, making the water system costly, labor intensive and not designed for year-round use.

Dillon Friends of Music Scholarship

The Dillon Friends of Music is pleased to announce the recipients of four $500 scholarships presented to graduating seniors who have participated in the Beaverhead County High School music program.

The Hagenbarth Scholarship is awarded to a student continuing either vocal or instrumental music instruction in college. This year's winner, Liam Cunningham, will be pursuing a degree in music education at the University of Montana with euphonium being his principal instrument.

Olivia Kailey received the Wheeler Vocal Scholarship award for students with an emphasis on vocal music. Kailey will be enrolled in music education at the University of Montana.

The Dillon Friends of Music organization recognizes the contributions of students who will not be studying music beyond high school but have made significant contributions to the high school programs. Ryanne Hutchinson and Lacey Pape were each awarded a $500 scholarship to the school of their choice. Ryanne has chosen Montana Tech in part because of its Residency program, and Lacy will study accounting at Northern Idaho College.

One applicant stated "Music is a universal language that feeds both your heart and mind. Without music, I know my life would be much different than it is now. It brought me back to life when I couldn't see the light. Music is an irreplaceable part of my life and something that I will carry with me every step I take."

The Dillon Friends of Music is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization founded to enhance and support music education in the public schools of Beaverhead County.

IN GALLATIN COUNTY, FOUR MEN CHARGED WITH ENGAGING IN CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD INVESTORS

The Commissioner of Securities Insurance (CSI) and Gallatin County Attorney charged four men with engaging in a conspiracy to defraud investors, farmers, and the State of Montana through various means, including a Ponzi scheme. "As the Gallatin County Attorney, I want to thank Commissioner Downing for his diligent efforts investigating fraud within our County and across Montana," said Audrey Cromwell.

The charging documents allege that Michael Rabb and Byron Gruber (both Gallatin County residents), Jason Bradley Cross (a resident of Texas), and Eugene Elfrank (a resident of Washington) defrauded investors through their Texas-based company Isotex Health, LLC. The company purported to be engaged in hemp harvesting and isolation of CBD oil in Montana. The fraud involved more than $6 million over several years. Each of the defendants is charged with operating a pyramid promotional scheme, securities fraud, operating as a commodities dealer without a license, forgery, false claims to a public agency, theft, and conspiracy to commit these crimes. "The CSI will vigorously pursue fraudsters who operate in Montana," said Commissioner Troy Downing.

REWARDS

By "Swede" Troedsson

Some years ago, my girlfriend at the time and I drove in from Red Lodge to shop in Billings, Montana. One of our stops was at a Cabela's store. In front of the store, large numbers of side-by-side four wheelers and boats were lined up.

I decided to visit the GPS receiver counter. While there I noticed four large, rough looking men at the gun counter. I asked the GPS salesman who were those men at the gun counter. He replied they were oil workers from the Patch (North Dakota oil fields).

He went on to tell me that there were two brothers in Williston, ND, that owned a large trucking company. They would haul water to the oil drill sites. He said that they would charge EVERYTHING on their Cabela's credit card. In just a year's time they would earn over $10,000 in credit card rewards!

One of the brothers had just left the store with a $2,000 Swarovski spotting scope

Consumption advisory for sucker fish species on Yellowstone River below Billings

Women of reproductive age and young children advised to not consume the nongame fish species

The Fish Consumption Advisory Board, consisting of representatives from the Montana Department of Public Health & Human Services (DPHHS), Montana Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks (FWP), has issued an updated consumption advisory for fish on the Yellowstone River.

Women of reproductive age and young children (age 0 to 6) are advised to not consume any species of sucker caught in the Yellowstone River from the Highway 212 bridge in Laurel to the confluence with the Bighorn River due to elevated levels of petroleum hydrocarbons. Sucker species common in the advisory area include shorthead redhorse, longnose sucker and white sucker. There are no advisories on using sucker meat from this section of river as bait while angling for other fish species.

The previous consumption advisory for all species of fish on the Yellowstone River from Indian Fort Fishing Access Site (FAS) to the Highway 212 bridge in Laurel has been lifted.

Next Steps

Additional sampling will take place in late June at Otter Creek, Holmgren Ranch and Voyager's Rest FASEs on the Yellowstone River to monitor for human consumption concerns.

Because of their frequent movement throughout river systems, fish cannot be used to determine the source of a specific contaminant. The Fish Consumption Advisory Board is currently prioritizing sampling to monitor for human health concerns, not contaminant source assessment.

Petroleum hydrocarbons, such as those detected in September, contain a complex mixture of chemicals. Some of the chemicals can have effects on the blood, immune system, lungs, skin, and eyes. Other chemicals may affect the liver and kidneys. These effects from eating fish have not been recorded in humans.

For more information on petroleum hydrocarbons, visit: wwwn.cdc.gov/TSP/substances/ToxSubstance.aspx?toxid=75.
